...ODY OF CHILD FOUND IN RIVER

...ystery Surrounds Drowning of Long Beach Boy

...ude Corpse Taken from Water by Officers

...halator Used in Attempt to Bring Back Life

Mystery in finding the nude body of a 4-year-old boy floating in the shallow waters of the Los Angeles river at the head of the flood-control district at Atesia street, near the city limits of Long Beach, occupied the attention of the homicide squad of the Sheriff's office last night. The body of the boy bore marks and bruises, but the deputy sheriffs were unable to ascertain whether they intentionally had been inflicted, or had been caused by the contact of the body with rocks and bushes along the banks of the river.

The body was found by P. F. Mazzei, 343 Colorado Place, Long Beach. He notified the Sheriff's office and deputies from the Compton substation were sent to the scene. In the meantime the body had floated almost a mile while spectators sought some means of rescuing it.

Identification of the lad as Jimmie Ellis, son of Mrs. Robert M. Ellis, 5621 Olive avenue, Long Beach, was made by the boy's mother several hours after the body had been found, but her story to the police lent greater mystery to the case than the finding of the nude body.

She told the authorities the boy had been playing with a 7-year-old neighbor boy in the middle of the afternoon and that both had disappeared about 4 p.m. At supper time the mother became anxious and visited the home of the neighbor boy and question him, but the boy, according to Mrs. Ellis, denied knowledge of Jimmie's whereabouts and she notified the police.

SAW BOYS SCUFFLING

Connection of the neighbor boy with some direct knowledge of the death of the Ellis lad was established somewhat, according to the police, by the story of Ora Dale, 6569 Olive street, Long Beach, who lives in the neighborhood of the homes of both lads. Mr. Dale asserted he saw Jimmie Ellis and the unnamed neighbor boy playing near the bridge at Artesia street as he was driving home.

"I noticed the larger lad pushing and tugging at the little fellow, but I thought it was just the ordinary act of boys," Mr. Dale told the police. "I saw no apparent violence being committed and continued to drive home. Both boys are children of close-by neighbors and I know them. I did not place any significance to the unusual tussle on the river bank between the two lads until I heard it broadcast over the radio that the body of an unidentified child had been found in the big basin. Then I went to the police station."

INHALATOR USED

Where the river narrows a few hundred feet below Artesia street the deputy sheriffs caught the body with the aid of ropes and poles. The body immediately was rushed to the office of Dr. Ernest Mahler in Long Beach. An inhalator was used but the lad was dead, Dr. Mahler asserted he had not been dead more than two hours. He was reticent about commenting on bruises on the child's body but asserted there is no skull fracture.

Mrs. Arnold then filed suit for separate maintenance in the Long Beach Superior Court, asking division of $50,000 community property. She also was awarded $75 monthly alimony and several times invoked aid of the Long Beach court to enforce payment of the alimony, but Lieut. Arnold has always been out of the jurisdiction of the local courts.

STREET DEPARTMENT DROPS ELEVEN MEN

PASADENA, July 9.—Reduction in the city street department's budget resulted today in the loss of their positions by eleven city employees. Six draughtsmen and two field employees of the engineering department received notice of their release. Despite the curtailment, it is estimated that this city's income for the coming year will be $150,000 in excess of the 1929-1930 funds. This amount will be used to build up a surplus in the general fund to defray expenses between the end of one year and the time that the next taxes are paid. Heretofore, the light department, which is now facing expenditures of almost $2,000,000, has carried the city over this critical period.

The United States Department of Agriculture in a recent airplane expedition into New Guinea, "land of the head hunters," found 171 distinct varieties of sugar cane, including twenty wild kinds and one species entirely new to science.

...DIPLOMAT ...N AMITY TOUR

"I had no idea Los Angeles is such a modern, beautiful city," he exclaimed, soon after being greeted by Henry C. Niese, Argentine Consul here. "I must see everything, the studios, the beautiful cities of the southern California, because I want to take back to Argentina a true picture of the wonderful development that has taken place here."

Col. Urquiza, the members of his party and servants were guests of the Biltmore, where a dinner was given in his honor last night by Mr. Niese. Many well-known Argentinians of the city attended, not only as a tribute to the visitor but in observance of the fact that yesterday was the Argentine's Independence Day.

PACT NOTES ASKED FOR

Senate Modifies Plea to Hoover

Omission of London Treaty Letters of Confidential Nature Provided

France Halts Shipbuilding to Open Way for Parleys With Italians

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—After three days of spirited debate, the Senate today adopted a modified McKellar resolution requesting President Hoover to transmit to the Senate all correspondence bearing on the London naval treaty exchanged between the powers prior to its negotiation. The vote was 53 to 4.

As finally passed, the resolution would make the action of the President subject to whether he feels it will be harmful to the public interest. This was the attitude assumed by Mr. Hoover when he refused to transmit to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee all papers requested by it.

Opinion is divided tonight on whether the Executive will accede to the Senate's request. Some Senators believe he will stand by his original position. Others think he will produce the documents with a request that they be held in confidence.

REED SATISFIED

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, a delegate to London and a Hoover supporter, said the resolution as amended is satisfactory to him.

Disposition of the resolution cleared the way for resumption of debate on the treaty itself. Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, fired the first gun for the treaty opposition during the resolution debate today. He asserted the pact fails to relieve the tax burden or give parity to American and British fleets.

Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, who has been awaiting an opportunity to attack the pact, served notice he will speak the first thing tomorrow. Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee wanted Hale to speak today after the vote on the document resolution, but the Naval Committee chairman called attention to the lateness of the hour and said he would prefer not to make the address in two sections.

NO NEED FOR HASTE

This led Senator Robinson, Republican, Indiana, another treaty opponent, to say there is no need to hurry the debate.

The amendment to the McKellar resolution giving the President the right to withhold documents he considered too confidential was offered by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader and the other Senatorial delegate to London. It was adopted, 38 to 17. Most of the treaty opponents were recorded in the opposition on this vote.

Those who voted against the proposal on final adoption are Senators Black, Alabama; Copeland, New York, and George and Harris, of

SCHOOL TO MAKE STUDY OF BUSINESS

Two Hundred Leaders of American Commerce Will Back Foundation

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) July 10. (Exclusive)—Two hundred leaders of American business, including Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and J. Pierpont Morgan, have united to organize a foundation to further the scientific study of business under the auspices of the Harvard Business School, it was announced here today.

The foundation is to be known as the Two Hundred and Fifty Associates of the Harvard Business School, although the school has requested the organization committee to leave fifty memberships open for election later. The members pledge themselves to contribute annual dues of $1000.

The object of the organization is "to stabilize and promote research and the collection of material for the teaching of business," according to the brochure published by the committee. It is explained that during the last seven years the research projects of the business school have been carried on by "hand-to-mouth" financing.

It is for research exclusively that the funds obtained from the associates will be employed, the committee explains. The tuition fees of the school are based on a self-sustaining scale so far as the expense of current administration and teaching is concerned.

NEW COAST OIL MERGER ANNOUNCED

Sunset-Pacific Taking Over Properties of Seaboard, Official Says

PORTLAND (Or.) July 10. (AP)—H. F. Warner, Seattle, vice-president of the Sunset-Pacific Oil Company, announced here tonight his company and the Seaboard Oil and Refining Company, Ltd., would be merged at midnight.

The transaction, Warner said, involves all of the equipment, refineries and distributing outlets of the Seaboard oil company at a figure in excess of $1,000,000.

Warner expressed the belief this announcement will be followed within a few days by a return to former gasoline prices. He said he chose Portland as the place to make the announcement because he considered this territory the "hotbed" of the gas war.

Temblor Felt in Marion, O.

MARION (O.) July 10. (AP)—A number of small buildings were shaken perceptibly by an earthquake here tonight.

The tremor, apparently a localized disturbance, was of slight intensity and lasted only a few seconds, starting about 6:15 o'clock. No damage was reported.

REALTY MEN IN TAX REVOLT

Reduction of Revenue Burden Placed on Property Set as Goal at Board Convention

TORONTO, July 10. (Exclusive)—Reduction of the staggering burden of taxation on real estate is the goal set for the real estate men in America to seek.

At today's session of the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards that was the major keynote.

Leonard P. Reume of Detroit, this year's national president, vigorously advocated linking up property owners in a nation-wide fight for legislation to correct taxation policies which fall unduly heavy on real estate.

INFLUENCE NEEDED

"If we are to obtain a modernization of our tax systems which will bring back an equitable condition to real estate taxpayers we must tie in with our real estate boards the influence, power and support of the great body of real estate owners," he asserted.

Harry S. Kissell of Springfield, O., nominated today for the presidency of the association, said the largest problem confronting the real estate men of the country is taxation. He said the association will strive to have taxes on real estate modified. He also said that it is taxation which has had such a definite effect in tightening up land sales.

CALIFORNIANS ON SLATE

California was well represented on the slate of officers nominated today. George D. Robertson of Los Angeles is the fourth vice-president of the association; Peter Hanson of Glendale becomes chairman of the appraisal division and Harold G. Hotchkiss of San Diego is a director.

Stephen Barnson, California real estate license commissioner was elected first vice-president of a new permanent organization formed today of officials of various States administering real estate laws. Mr. Barnson, who was active in forming the new branch, stated that its purpose is to unify administration as far as possible throughout the country. The organization will keep track of offenders and will advise its members of new attempts to break blue sky laws.

PAYMENTS BY STATE RUN HIGH

Warrant Total for Year Shows $12,707,943 Rise, Controller Reports

SACRAMENTO, July 10. (Exclusive)—Warrants drawn against State funds during the fiscal year ending June 30, last, showed an increase of $12,707,943.18 over the preceding year, according to a report made public today by State Controller Riley.

Total warrant payments reached the sum of $157,696,711.66, as compared with a total of $144,988,768.48 during the fiscal year of 1928-29.

Riley says these figures are not comprehensively a reflection of the cost of government, which is computed on a different basis and which will be announced next month.

The Controller's office approved a total of 28,302 warrants. Of these the sum of $33,652,719.36 was drawn from the general fund and the remainder, $124,043,993.30, from other funds.

In the preceding year the general fund was drawn upon for $31,884,426.95 and other funds in the sum of $113,104,341.53.

These figures, Riley says, are a statement of all transactions passing through his office, including transfers.

GUNBOATS TO FACE BANDITS

Depredations in China Along Yangtse Call Out American and Other War Craft

SHANGHAI July 10. (AP)—Widespread banditry today caused gunboats of America, Great Britain and Japan to protect foreign shipping against machine gun and rifle fire and Consuls to warn their nationals to flee from the Middle Yangtse Valley.

Co-operating in the common interest of humanity, the warships of the several nations patrolled the Yangtse between Kiukiang and Ichang to drive off outlaw bands who had pirated numerous Chinese vessels and plundered many river towns.

Missionaries and other foreigners were reported in serious danger of being captured by bandits and held for ransom. They were urged to leave isolated places for Yangtse centers where foreign warships can protect them.

All foreigners and many Chinese have left Shasi, river port above Hankow, which is threatened with attack.

Flying banners reading "Down with Imperialism, Capitalism, Foreigners and Religion," the Reds have virtually stopped shipping by peppering it with bullets from both banks of the Yangtse above Hankow.

Lawless bands are ravaging wide areas between Yochow and Changsha, Hunan Province, following in the tracks of government troops who scattered rebel armies, and then departed to other areas of China's civil war, permitting bandits to prey upon the populace.

Freed of government restraint as the government drained its military from Chekiang, Hunan, Hupeh, Fukien and Kiangsi provinces to hold back the northern rebel armies in Honan and Shantung, outlaw armies have despoiled South China.

HEAT KILLS SIX MORE

Wilted Midwest Still Suffers

Fatalities Reported from Minnesota, Missouri and Iowa

Temperatures of More Than 100 Common, With 108 as Maximum

CHICAGO, July 10. (Exclusive)—Another day of torrid heat wilted the Middle West today and took a death toll of six persons. Temperatures were commonly above 100 deg.

Temperatures in central and lower Illinois were typical of the entire area embraced by the heat wave. Three prostrations occurred at Quincy as the official thermometer soared to 104 deg. The reading was 106 at Harrisburg; 103 at Carbondale, and 99 at Peoria.

Meanwhile reports from St. Paul showed three heat deaths, and St. Louis reported two deaths in Missouri, with the temperature around 100 deg. in both States.

Two farmers were stricken in the harvest fields in Minnesota, one near Fergus Falls and another near St. Paul, the third victim being an automobile mechanic, stricken at work. The St. Louis victims were a car man, stricken in the terminal yards, and a laborer, overcome in the St. Louis stock yards. The sixth heat victim was a street worker in Council Bluffs, Iowa, who collapsed at work.

The wave stretched as far northwest as Montana, Miles City reporting a maximum of 108 deg. The maximum was at or above 95 deg. in most of Ohio and Indiana, while sections of Tennessee and Kentucky reported 100 deg. or higher.

In Kansas the farmers were harvesting wheat by moonlight to escape the almost insufferable sun.

FIRE PERILS CALIFORNIA COMMUNITY

Northern Town in Path of Flames Sweeping Through Trinity Forest Timber

REDDING, July 10. (AP)—The town of Hayfork, seventy-five miles west of here, was reported to be in the path of a fire raging in the Trinity National Forest and sweeping before it valuable timber lands.

Shortly after 9 p.m. tonight a United States ranger drafted fifty-five men from this place and rushed them to the scene of the blaze.

Calling on T. W. J. Hufford, fire warden at Redding, the ranger stated that little hope was held for the fertile valley surrounding Hayfork unless there was a let-up in the present high wind.

Telephone communication to the town is impaired and, although definite details are lacking here, local officials feel certain that the blaze has reached serious proportions.

Hayfork, located in the center of a valley of 12,000 acres, has a population slightly in excess of 600. The valley land is devoted entirely to grain production and about it is an endless chain of excellent fir forests.

The blaze is believed to be at present in the tall timber.

Dry Raiders Use Liquor Detector

NEWARK (N. J.) July 10. (Exclusive)—Dry raiders introduced the ebulliioscope in New Jersey as an instrument to detect speakeasies. A thermometer-like little apparatus, it immediately registers the alcoholic content of any liquid into which it is thrust, and is thus intended to make a raiding warrant unnecessary.

On its showing in steins of brew, Federal raiders arrested Joseph Lernil and Leonard C. Gahr, proprietors of a crowded barroom, and seized six barrels of beer from Dietsch's restaurant, both places being in Newark.

Calexico Youth Wins Title

Southern California Athlete Captures Junior Olympic Honors in Nationals

Sam Waxman, Louis Haley Second and Third Place Winners Among Seniors

BY JOHN F. NESS
"Times" Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) July 10. (Exclusive)—Southern California won the junior championship in the Junior Olympic Games national finals here today when Joe Andrade, 12 years of age, Mexican boy of Calexico, nosed out Haruo Ouchi, Hawaii's title-holder, by 34 points with a total score of 671. Added to this American laurel won against the pick of millions of youngsters Joe smashed the world's record in the standing broad jump with a leap of 8ft. 4 3-4in. He won the junior 1930 title in chinning the bar twenty-seven times, walked off with a gold medal in the baseball throw and the basket ball throw and then was awarded the 1930 championship in the seventy-five-yard dash. In all Andrade collected a lot of jewelry.

WAXMAN SECOND

Curie Yamamoto of Hawaii won the senior championship with a remarkably consistent performance and a total score of 683. Sam Waxman of Los Angeles was second with 659 points and Louis Haley of San Bernardino was third in this division with 636 points.

The national meet climaxed in a great duel between Hawaii and Southern California, with these eight youngsters getting eight out of the ten first positions, a fourth in the junior going to Lewis of San Diego and a fifth in the senior group to Salazar of Oklahoma. Diminutive Johnny Lee of Highland Park finished fifth in the junior group and won the junior medal for tossing baskets, goaling sixteen out of twenty.

When distribution of the place medals was announced tonight it was found that Southern California, Hawaii, Arizona and Oklahoma had garnered nineteen out of the twenty honors—in fact, the East has only to hold one boy here for the formal presentation Saturday noon and the

BLAST IN AIR KILLS FIVE

Plane Explodes in Clouds

Kansas City Fishing Party Meets Disaster Over Texas Coast

Bolt of Lightning Blamed; Victims Prominent Business Men

ARANSAS PASS (Tex.) July 10. (AP)—Five Kansas City men who flew to the Gulf of Mexico on a fishing trip, four of them prominent business and professional men and the fifth a transport pilot, met death near here today when their airplane exploded in the air and crashed to the ground. The dead:

Murat Boyle, 48 years of age, president of the Missouri Bar Association and prominent civic leader in Kansas City.

Raymond Watson, 39, attorney and son of I. N. Watson, veteran member of the Kansas City bar.

R. J. Delano, 37, for the last twenty years a builder of apartments and residences in Kansas City and formerly chairman of the Republican City Committee.

Eugene Lynn, expert accountant and president of the Kansas City Golf Association.

Gene Gabbert, a transport pilot of several years' experience and for the last year pilot for Dr. W. M. Cross, former city chemist of Kansas City, who loaned his plane for the fishing trip.

EXPLOSION HEARD

Witnesses of the crash said their attention was attracted by an explosion and looking skyward they saw both wings break from the six-passenger monoplane. The fuselage hurtled down with the trapped victims and buried itself in the salt flats above five miles from here. It did not catch fire. The wings were found 500 feet from the fuselage.

Persons who saw the plane fall and inspected the wreckage expressed the opinion the ship had been struck by a bolt of lightning. The theory was given credence by experienced pilots. They pointed out there had been scattered showers all day and local squalls were noticeable over Corpus Christi Bay.

BOLT DISCOUNTED

W. C. Maus, manager of the municipal airport at Corpus Christi, however, said the accident was caused by "blind flying." He gave it as his theory the plane was flying blind in a cloud at a high rate of speed, and when it emerged the pilot jerked the "stick" back so fast the wings crumpled and fell off. He discounted the lightning theory, since there was no sign of an explosion or fire about the wreckage.

Frederick H. Dierkx, Kansas City lumberman, the sixth member of the party that arrived at Corpus Christi Sunday in quest of tarpon fishing, was the only survivor of the group. He decided at the last minute to let the plane leave without him while he remained at Port Aransas, across the bay from here, for more fishing.

The plane had been left at Corpus Christi until today, when Gabbert went for it, landing at the Port Aransas field to take on his passengers. After leaving the field the ship traveled about ten miles before it crashed.

HIDDEN BY CLOUD

Dierkx bade good-by to his companions at the airfield.

"They had had a successful fishing trip and were talking about reaching Kansas City tonight," he said.

"The plane made a perfect takeoff. I stood watching it until it was fully 4000 feet up. The sky was clear. Ahead several miles I could see an exceedingly dark cloud. I watched the plane until it disappeared in this black cloud. A few minutes later I heard there had been an accident.

"Farmers who had gathered told me the story of the accident. Some of them had noticed the plane disappear into the black cloud. All of a sudden the plane came crashing out of the cloud. One wing was off, or partly so. Before the ship was halfway to the ground the gasoline tanks separated from the remainder of the plane.

"I don't suppose anyone will know positively just what happened there in that black cloud, but it seemed to be the impression of nearly all who saw the accident that the plane had been struck by lightning. What an awful ending to what had been the most perfect fishing trip imaginable."

BABY-WAR MOTHERS MEET

Mrs. Higdon and Mrs. Smith Clash Over Leta Joyce; Club Women Called Into Court Hearing Today

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Bertha Higdon, wife of a school-teacher in Bloomington, won a technical albeit nonlegal round today in her fight for possession of the baby girl known as Leta Joyce, when she reached this city to face Mrs. Ruth Smith, 19-year-old young woman who asserts she is the real mother of the child. Mrs. Higdon keeps the girl for the time being.

The two women met at the Hall of Justice. Mrs. Higdon had just been brought in from San Bernardino, where she was held in custody on a kidnaping warrant. The baby that has caused all the trouble slept quietly in the arms of Policewoman Sullivan, utterly oblivious to furor, charges, recriminations and the drama of the meeting between the two self-asserted mothers.

Mrs. Higdon and Mrs. Smith confronted each other briefly. The encounter was wordless.

DEMANDS BABY

When Mrs. Higdon turned angrily away, however, with a request to be taken to her cell, conversation flowed.

Mrs. Smith demanded the baby. Mrs. Higdon demurred. Mrs. Smith insisted the juvenile authorities take possession of the child pending disposition of the case. But the police ruled Mrs. Higdon is entitled to possession of the girl for the time being, so she and the baby were made as comfortable as possible in the quarters of the jail matron.

Mrs. Higdon insisted the baby is hers and that it was born to her May 8, last, in an apartment-house here without an attending physician. Mrs. Smith insists the child is hers and that it was "sold" to

LIQUOR ARRESTS SHOW INCREASE

Still Seizures Also Higher in Last Fiscal Year

Final Report Made by Old Prohibition Bureau

Most of Moonshining Raids Reported From South

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Prohibition enforcement during the last fiscal year of its operation under the Treasury resulted in the arrest of 68,186 persons and seizure of 24,373 stills.

The arrests showed an increase of approximately 2000 over the 1929 fiscal year and approximately 7000 more stills were seized. The figures included the number of arrests and seizures for eleven months of the year and estimated arrests and seizures for June.

MUCH LIQUOR TAKEN

These statistics were prepared by the old Prohibition Bureau, which operated under Prohibition Commissioner Doran until the Department of Justice took over prohibition enforcement on the 1st inst. and showed that about 1,320,000 gallons of spirits and 5,000,000 gallons of malt liquor had been seized. In addition agents of the bureau seized 8716 automobiles.

During the year the majority of stills were captured in the southern States. About 50 per cent had a capacity of less than 100 gallons daily, while 5 per cent had a capacity of 500 gallons a day. Of the total the figures showed only about 3 per cent were found to be operating on denatured alcohol, while the others used corn, cornmeal, corn sugar, molasses and cane sugar to produce liquor.

OLD STILLS SEIZED

Many stills captured in the South were of the old moonshine variety which were operating before there was a prohibition law.

Corn-sugar stills during the last few years have shown an increase. Doran recently said this variety of illicit distillers had turned to corn sugar and were producing as good a grade of alcohol as that turned out in the industrial plants operating under permits. At that time he pointed to the huge increase in manufacture of corn sugar as one of the outstanding menaces which the bureau had to face.

Youth Victim of Plane Crash

ALAMEDA, July 10. (Exclusive)—L. H. Johnson, 20 years of age, Oakland, was killed and David Sutch of Oakland, also 20, and a private airplane pilot, was probably mortally hurt late today in the third fatal airplane accident in the bay region in a week. The ship Sutch was piloting got beyond his control on a steep bank, nosed over for lack of momentum and crashed about 300 feet on to the municipal golf links, scattering players at and near the thirteenth hole.

Irene Harder

DETROIT, July 10. (Exclusive)—The State today started preparing for the prosecution of Andrew Steffen, 48 years of age, scion of a wealthy Michigan family, facing a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Irene Harder, 33-year-old divorcee, whom he is asserted to have slain in a Detroit speakeasy. After shooting the woman Steffen, police say, placed the muzzle of the gun against his own head and pulled the trigger. But all the chambers were empty. Steffen declared the woman had impoverished him and broken up his home through blackmail. He is one of twelve children of the late Charles Steffen, banker and founder of the Steffen Lumber Company of Fraser, Mich.

WAR FOR BABY RESUMES TODAY

Mrs. Higdon's sister, Miss Gladys Hatfield, for adoption, by Mrs. Higdon, in return for the payment of medical and hospital bills.

STORY AMPLIFIED

Mrs. Higdon amplified her previous statements today to the extent of saying Miss Hatfield was given Mrs. Smith's baby in accordance with an agreement they entered, but she declares Leta Joyce is not the child. It will be up to her sister to explain what was done with the other girl, Mrs. Higdon asserted.

Mrs. Eleanor Isdahl, another sister of Mrs. Higdon, rallied to the latter's defense, saying:

"Of course it is her baby. I saw her before the baby was born and I saw her and the baby the day afterward. Why should I doubt this is her child?"

The two women are scheduled to fight it out in the court of Municipal Judge Steiger tomorrow and the jurist has asked a committee of clubwomen to attend as unofficial arbiters.

GRAPE GROWERS RE-ENTER FIGHT

Mass Meeting Maps Plans to Get Signers

Four Days of Grace Will End Monday Night

Earl Fruit Company Brings in 25,000 Acres

FRESNO, July 10. (Exclusive)—Twenty-five hundred grape growers and business men voted unanimously at a mass meeting held here tonight to accept a four-day extension starting tomorrow of the drive to win support of 85 per cent of the vineyardists to the Federal Farm Board plan for the stabilization of the industry.

The new deadline, by which time the Committee of Fifty in charge of the drive hopes to have the signatures of additional growers owning 50,000 acres, will end midnight, Monday.

The most dramatic moment of tonight's mass meeting came a few moments after one of the growers in the audience had asked Wylie M. Giffen, chairman of the Committee of Fifty, and presiding officer of the mass meeting, whether Joseph Di Giorgio, head of the Earl Fruit Company, which controls 15,000 acres in its own right and 10,000 additional acres indirectly, had pledged his support to the Federal Farm Board plan.

RESTRICTIONS WAIVED

Chairman Giffen replied that Mr. Di Giorgio had signed a contract but had attached certain restrictions which the Committee of Fifty could not accept.

Thereupon Mr. Di Giorgio, one of those in the audience, rose and announced he would waive the restrictions that had been imposed by him. Tumultuous cheering greeted the announcement which, it was declared, assures additional support of 25,000 acres to the Farm Board drive, although 50,000 additional acres are still needed.

NEW HOPE EXPRESSED

Chairman Giffen made a speech in which he declared that the Committee of Fifty had been greatly discouraged when at the end of three months of hard campaigning the deadline had been reached yesterday without the necessary 85 per cent support demanded by the Farm Board, and that the members of the committee felt for a time that the goal could not be achieved, but that the ratifying responses today and tonight had given all concerned new hope.

A. W. Quinn, vice-president of the Fresno branch of the Bank of America, was appointed chairman of a new Committee of Thirteen to contact with the growers still holding out.

Sanction to the continuance of the drive with the hope of obtaining the percentage of control considered necessary for successful operation of the grape plan was received late this afternoon by M. J. Newhouse, local Farm Board representative, in a telephone conversation with C. C. Teague, California member of the board, who is now in Washington.

HUSTON FOILS FOES IN PARTY

dent Hoover to ask Huston to resign. The President has hesitated to hurt Mr. Huston with a personal command for his resignation, and has been represented as hoping that the national chairman would voluntarily take himself out of the party organization picture. But if matters reach a point where it is evident Mr. Huston will not step aside otherwise, there is little doubt but that Mr. Hoover will act without letting the committee situation drift much farther toward the forthcoming campaign.

Mr. Huston stood up coolly today before the assembled correspondents and faced such a barrage of questions that James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican party, standing in another corner of the room, was moved to comment:

"It is the third degree."

Others in attendance at the meeting apparently had agreed to "let the chairman do the talking," for they would not discuss developments.

Representative Wood, who announced last night he would be present today with a straight demand for Huston's resignation, attended only the morning session. Senator Watson, who had planned to be on hand to support Wood, did not attend the meeting at all.

Those present at the session were Chairman Huston, Vice-Chairman Daniel E. Pomeroy of New Jersey, J. Matt Chilton of Kentucky, J. R. Nutt of Ohio, treasurer of the national committee; James Francis Burke of Pennsylvania, general counsel of the committee; Senator Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican Senatorial committee; Representative Wood, Earl Kinsley of Vermont and William G. Skelly of Oklahoma.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

In his statement Chairman Huston announced that funds for the approaching Congressional campaign are to be raised entirely through the treasurer of the national committee and allocated by this official to the Senatorial and Congressional committees. The statement said that Treasurer Nutt has reported "satisfactory progress" and will continue the work until sufficient money for the normal expenses of the party during the ensuing year has been collected. This question of money has been at the forefront in the demand for Huston's resignation, other party leaders and candidates fearing donations would be withheld so long as the national chairmanship remains in its present hands.

The meeting was preceded this morning by a White House breakfast, with President Hoover acting as host to the assembled party chiefs.

KELLOGG NAMED FOR COURT POST

Pact Author Danes' Choice on World Bench

Hyde of Columbia Selected by Hollanders

American Group Unable to Find Candidates

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

GENEVA, July 10. (Exclusive)—Frank B. Kellogg has been nominated for the World Court bench by the national group of Denmark, and Charles Cheney Hyde, professor of international law and diplomacy at Columbia University, has been nominated for the bench by the national group of Holland. These are the only two countries whose groups have so far sent to the League of Nations their nominations for the election of the entire bench in September.

The American group, according to some advices received here, is having such a hard time in choosing its American nominees that it may end by nominating only foreigners. It is understood here that John W. Davis, George W. Wickersham, Learned Hand and Newton D. Baker have told the group that they are not able to accept nomination, and that some others mentioned, such as Dean Wigmore, Roscoe Pound and Roland W. Boyden, are finding difficulties in accepting.

FULL-TIME JOB

One trouble this year is the fact that the revised statute of the courts, which will probably go into force in time to apply to the election, requires the judges in the future to devote all their time to the court. Moreover, the impression caused abroad by the fact that the only two World Court judges who have resigned have both been Americans—John Bassett Moore and Charles Evans Hughes—is understood to be making the American group especially anxious for assurances that its American candidates this time will serve the entire term if elected.

Since the term lasts nine years, the choice tends further to be restricted to men who are not too old when they enter the court. This latter fact is considered to be the chief objection for Mr. Kellogg, since he will be 83 years of age when the term ends. But, at the same time, the action of Denmark is held to indicate how his prestige as co-author of the Briand-Kellogg pact may overcome the age handicap.

HUDSON MENTIONED

Whoever the American group names has the best chance of being elected to the place on the bench hitherto reserved, in practice, for an American. If the group nominates only foreigners the American place will have to be filled from the Americans nominated by the other national groups. Apart from Mr. Kellogg and Dr. Hyde, Prof. Hanley Hudson of Harvard University is being mentioned for a judgeship in European circles, where his work for the League of Nations and the World Court has made him widely known.

Each national group is entitled to nominate four candidates, not more than two of whom can be nationals. In addition to two Danes and Mr. Kellogg, the Dutch group has nominated Walter Simons, former president of the German Supreme Court, for the full term. It also nominated Mr. Kellogg and Dr. Simons for the short term ending in December, 1930, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Hughes.

BRIAND ANNOUNCES PROGRAM SUSPENSION

PARIS, July 10. (AP)—Foreign Minister Briand today announced suspension of France's shipbuilding program until December, to open the way for naval negotiations with Italy. He told the Foreign Relations Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, at the same time, that "another war in Europe is impossible and inadmissible."

M. Briand assured the committee there is no reason for "emotion concerning the relations between France and Italy." He said every move possible on the part of France has been made toward a satisfactory understanding with her neighbor country.

Disclosing that no more ships will be put on the stocks in the French building program before next December, Minister Briand said Premier Mussolini has been informed of that fact officially. M. Briand said Italy thus has been provided with plenty of time for renewal of the discussion of a treaty of disarmament under conditions that existed in French naval armament during the London naval conference.

SILVER SLUMP CAUSES CHINESE BANK TO FAIL

SHANGHAI, July 10. (AP)—The Chinese Industrial and Commercial Bank, with headquarters in Hong Kong and branches here and in Canton, failed today as the result of exchange operations growing out of the present silver price slump. Losses are estimated at $600,000 gold. Many foreign depositors are involved. The failure gave rise to rumors many other Chinese banks are shaky because of asserted losses from exchange speculations.

Pauline Parker Assolant

PARIS, July 10. (AP)—Jean Assolant, Atlantic Yellow Bird flyer, today asked the court that his $60 a month temporary alimony to his American wife, the former Pauline Parker, be discontinued when her suit and his counter-suit for divorce were heard in chambers.

The lawyers on both sides submitted a joint set of facts so there would be no trial of the case and the judge will give his decision next week.

The couple were married in June, 1929, at Old Orchard, Me., just prior to Assolant's flight with Rene Lefevre to Europe.

CHICAGO COUNTS ONE MORE DEAD

Obscure Racketeer Killed in Own Home

Wife Hears Argument and Then Fatal Shot

Victim Known to Police as Theft Suspect

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—Racketeers took out their forty-seventh victim of the year today.

He was Thomas Bonner, obscure racketeer, one-time suspect in the $133,000 Evergreen Park mail robbery. His killer, police said, is known and will be captured.

The living-room of his own home was Bonner's execution hall, a rare but not a new departure for gangland's killings. Callers knocked at the Bonner door early today, entered at his greeting and strolled into the parlor. From an adjoining room Mrs. Bonner heard her husband argue with one of the visitors.

"You've got me wrong on that," Bonner was protesting.

There was the crack of a revolver and Bonner fell, a bullet through his head. The slayer and his silent companion vanished.

The police had known Bonner eleven years as a suspect in automobile thefts and confidence games.

The recent hi-jacking of $200,000 worth of whisky from a government warehouse and subsequent recovery of part of the liquor in a raid at the Evergreen Park Roma Inn held a clew to the executioners, detectives said. They believe he was shot by an assassin who thought he had been double-crossed, perhaps in the belief he had "squawked" about the whisky at the Roma Inn.

WATSON IN PLEA FOR PRESIDENT

Opening G.O.P. Campaign Gun Fired Over Radio

Hoosier Asks Co-operation by Selecting Congressmen

Accomplishments in Face of Handicaps Stressed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 10. (Exclusive)—The opening gun in the 1930 Republican Congressional campaign was sounded tonight when Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader in the Senate, appealed to the country over the radio to give President Hoover majorities in Congress which will co-operate with him in future legislation.

Praising Mr. Hoover's record to date as one of constructive accomplishment despite the efforts of Senate Democrats and Republican insurgents to hamstring him and block his measures, Senator Watson declared the administration "is disappointing only to those who want to be disappointed."

He said economic depression has prevented fair appraisal of Hoover achievements up to the present time, but that "as time goes on these achievements will manifest themselves in our business and social life" and in the final analysis "the people will rightly estimate this successful record and give to this administration a high place for successfully conducting the affairs of the nation in time of perplexity and doubt."

NEAR MIDSTREAM

"Mr. Hoover is near midstream in his administration," Senator Watson continued. "He has faced grave problems he did not create. He has met innumerable difficulties for which he was in no wise responsible. To solve them he has carried through a great program of legislation and administration. The effects of these policies upon public welfare have not yet had time to manifest themselves, but they are as certain to do so in the immediate future as day is to follow night.

"Up to the present time he has been in the midst of the work of putting them into effect and now all that is required is for the people to be patient until they have an opportunity to demonstrate their effectiveness. To this end the President deserves the confidence and support of the people and undoubtedly will have it.

"He has been laboring under a handicap of constant opposition in a Congress in which one branch has been out of sympathy with him politically. With a coalition to deal with numbering in its ranks a majority of at least eight in the Senate on any joint vote, yet he has been able to put through that body fifteen of his major policies and suffered defeat in but two, and one of them was but short-lived.

STEMS TIDE OF PANIC

"The American people should back President Hoover to the limit. They should give him a Congressional majority in both branches that will try, to help and not hinder in the development of his plans for the welfare of the American people."

Watson praised President Hoover's handling of the economic situation and declared the present depression would have been much worse, but for the quick action taken by Hoover to marshal the resources of industry to meet the stock market crash and his program of expanding public and private construction to ease unemployment.

"No heavier blow ever was struck at a nation's economic and financial structure than the stock market collapse of last autumn," the Senate leader said. "The causes of the panic were international as well as national in character and cannot by any stretch of the imagination be attributed to any fault of the Hoover administration. But for the prompt course of President Hoover, however, this panic would have produced consequences far more disastrous than have been experienced. He quickly assembled the leaders of industry and mapped out a program of activity public and private which has served to alleviate the situation to a marked degree."

Watson expressed confidence that the Tariff Act will vindicate itself in due time "as all other protective tariff measures have in the past," and will become a factor in the restoration of normal prosperous conditions. He declared it will be found that foreign trade will increase rather than diminish under the act.

Science Still Baffled by Cow

SACRAMENTO, July 10. (Exclusive)—The cow has a steady job—at least, for a long time to come—in spite of Henry Ford's idea that a mechanical bossy may be devised to produce synthetic beverages.

This was the view expressed here today by O. E. Reed, chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture. Reed said that even after years of laboratory experiments, the scientists have been unable to tell how milk is made by nature, and until that is found out, man is quite helpless to produce a suitable substitute.

Doctor Found Guilty of Fraud

PORTLAND (Or.) July 10. (AP)—Dr. C. J. Dean, operator of clinics in Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, was convicted today of violating the National Bankruptcy Act. Defense counsel was given thirty days to file motion for a new trial.

He was charged with assigning a mortgage to his father's investment company to escape including it in a bankruptcy petition Dean filed.

OKLAHOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

TOO ARDENT ACTOR GETS SLAPPING

Leading Lady Thereupon Withdraws from Cast of "Strictly Dishonorable"

NEW YORK, July 10. (Exclusive) An off-stage face slapping administered as punishment to an actor whose passion behind the footlights was a bit too real for her, was given today as the reason for Miss Muriel Kirkland's sudden withdrawal from the feminine lead in "Strictly Dishonorable" at a Broadway theater.

Tullio Carminati, her leading man, adroitly reversed his interpretation of the role of the sophisticated Count di Ruvo, who gently but firmly repulses the naive love making of the little southern girl when she follows him into his bachelor chambers, the actress charged.

Though the audience may not have noticed, she declared that the Italian actor had unleashed a fervor directly opposite to that which the manuscript called for—particularly in the scene wherein he puts her to bed.

For the past six months of the play's run, she said she had protested against this uncalled-for familiarity, first to Carminati himself and then to Brock Pemberton, producer of the play. And finally, all other resources failing, she waited for the actor at his dressing-room door Tuesday evening when they exited for three minutes during the first act, and dealt him two resounding blows.

PORTO RICO CUSTOMS OFFICIAL BUYS PLANES

DETROIT, July 10. (AP)—Hayden L. Moore, collector of customs for Porto Rico, is here arranging for the purchase of airplanes to be used by the border patrol in preventing smuggling into the island. Mr. Moore said that not only liquor but also many articles on which there is high tariff are handled by smugglers and that he expects to do effective work with planes equipped with pontoons. While here the collector also conferred with William A. Albertson, chief of the border patrol, who has been ordered to Porto Rico to take a similar position.

NEURODE (Germany) July 10. (AP)—A death list of 162 miners seems a certainty as the rescue work progresses in Wenceslaus coal mine, where the worst gas disaster in the history of German mining occurred yesterday.

With ninety-two dead recovered, those in charge of the rescue crews hold but scant hope the seventy men still imprisoned in the gas-filled shafts may be found alive.

Swiftly spreading lethal gas, the ever-lurking enemy of this Silesian mining district, tonight still hampered the work of recovering the bodies.

A

FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS

Reo's economic history can be summarized in a sentence—26 years of earnings and 25 years of dividends!

Not once during all these years has Reo found it necessary to solicit outside financial aid.

The great Reo plant, one of the finest in the world, has been built, equipped, and constantly expanded entirely out of income.

Reo's seventy-fold increase in assets and its extensive interest-bearing cash reserves have all been regularly earned.

Every bill in Reo history has been promptly discounted. Not a dollar of funded or mortgage indebtedness is owed by Reo to anyone in the world.

There are no Reo bonds or preferred stocks calling for interest.

Reo's 12,255 stockholders, holding 2,000,000 shares of Reo common stock, represent Reo's sole obligation to the world of finance.

As a consequence, Reo has never been embarrassed by lack of funds or equipment in its constant endeavor to build a better and better product. Nor has Reo ever had to be "reorganized."

Not one cent has ever been added to the Reo purchase price to cover interest on borrowed money or over-capitalization.

Not a penny has been charged for Good Will—a Reo asset actually worth millions.

Not a detail of the product has ever been dictated by interests more concerned with profits than with quality.

All this, of course, is of immeasurable benefit to Reo owners and stockholders.

When they buy a Reo motor car or Speed Wagon, that is precisely and exclusively what they pay for.

And they have learned, during the past 26 years, that a product of greater worth is not available in the field of transportation.

ARMY AIR CORPS EXODUS GROWS

Resignations in Fiscal Year Reach Highest Total

Commercial Aviation's Call Held Responsible

Medical Branch of Service Offers Contrast

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Official figures today disclosed a record number of resignations from the Army Air Corps during the last fiscal year.

Mounting with almost unvarying rapidity since 1921, when nine aviators left the service, statistics prepared by the War Department show twenty-seven officers of the aerial branch of the Army left the service during the past year.

Rapid expansion of commercial aviation i nthe United States during the last decade is attributed by high army officers as the cause of resignations from the Air Corps. The increasing number of resignations has continued despite the 50 per cent additional pay given officers of the corps.

CASE OF MEDICAL CORPS

Contrasted with the Air Corps, the Medical Corps of the Army with a total of 1291 officers has shown a steady decrease in resignations from sixty-six in 1921 to fifteen during the last fiscal year. This decrease, however, is attributed by army officials to be due to the regulation calling on those joining the medical service to agree to serve at least two years.

Of 1449 officers in all branches of the service who have resigned during the past ten years a large majority have given as reasons for their desire for separation from the service the fact that more lucrative offers than those provided by the Army have been received. This is particularly true in the Corps of Engineers, which annually loses about 1 per cent of its officer personnel.

RECENT RESIGNATIONS

Recently two officers with the rank of major resigned from the Corps of Engineers, each for positions paying $25,000 annually, one with a large power company and the other as manager of a large city.

Considerable agitation for increased pay for army officers has taken place in army circles in recent years and the general feeling among officers is that such an increase would prevent some part of the annual resignations.

LABOR HOLD IN NORFOLK WEAKENING

Lady Buxton Returned to Parliament by Majority of only 179 Votes

AYLSHAM, NORFOLK (Eng.) July 10. (AP)—By the greatly reduced majority of 179 votes, Labor maintained its hold on North Norfalk, electing Lady Noel Buxton over T. A. Cook, Conservative. Lady Buxton succeeds her husband, recently elevated to the peerage.

The vote announced today was 14,821 for Lady Buxton, Labor, and 14,642 for the Conservative candidate. This shows a severe shrinkage since the general election, when Buxton was elected by 1883 in a poll split three ways.

Observers credited the campaign of Lord Beaverbrook for his policy of free trade in the empire and the tariff against foreign produce, with being the greatest single factor in the result.

There are now fourteen women in Parliament, the greatest number in history. Nine are Labor members, three Conservatives, one Liberal, and one Independent. One of them, Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, is the first woman Cabinet member. Susan Lawrence is parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Health.

Pinchot Will Wage Contest as Independent

MILFORD (Pa.) July 10. (AP)—Gifford Pinchot announced today he is preparing to run for Governor as an independent because of the present uncertainty regarding the Republican nomination, which he won on the face of the returns in the May primary.

The former Governor announced the situation makes it necessary for his friends and himself to pre-empt a ticket, State-wide and in every Congressional, Senatorial and legislative district, at the proper moment, on which all Republicans nominated at the primary will be offered a place.

Pinchot won the Republican nomination on the face of the official returns by about 20,000 over Francis Shunk Brown of Philadelphia.

Last Rites for Cardinal Will be Tomorrow

VATICAN CITY, July 10. (AP)—Funeral services for Cardinal Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College, who died yesterday evening of uremic poisoning, have been fixed for Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Church of St. Ignatius. Repairs which his own titular church, St. Mary Major, is undergoing, made fitting obsequies there at this time impossible.

The new dean of the Sacred College, Cardinal Granto Pignatelli Di Belmonte, will preside, and impart benediction.

Cardinal Vennutelli's body has lain in state in the throne room of his apartment in the D'Ataria Palace since his death yesterday evening.

A 50-cent increase in wages, making them $10.50 a day, is effective. On January 1 the pay will be $11.

EDUCATORS SHY AT FEDERAL AID

Increase in Governmental Control Stirs Fears

Hoover's Committee Tells Dangers of Problem

General Grants Instead of Special Ones Favored

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Dangers from increasing Federal control of education constitute the main problem found by President Hoover's committee studying the government's educational activities.

This was shown today in a memorandum of progress prepared to stimulate public consideration of the situation.

The director of the inquiry, Dr. Henry Suzallo, reported that special money grants have been steadily enhancing "the legal and psychological power of Federal agencies to control education in the States, and gradually decreasing the capacity of local communities to manage their own educational affairs."

SPECIAL GRANTS OPPOSED

Principles agreed upon tentatively by the committee call for opposition to Federal appropriations for education which must be matched by the States, and favoring grants in aid of education as a whole to "supplant special grants for the stimulation of particular types of training."

Emphasizing that no conclusions have been reached, the memorandum said the tentative principles and proposals embraced will be used as bases for its report to President Hoover. C. R. Mann, chairman, wrote the committee desires suggestions "from every interested source" before crystallizing recommendations from the past year's study.

PROPOSALS MADE

Proposals made by the steering committee include increased Federal appropriations for education, creation of a Federal educational headquarters and repeal of all laws for annual special grants.

The funds to States would be at the rate of $2.50 per child under 21 years of age. Each State would be made responsible "for budgeting the grant in such manner as, in the judgment of the State itself, will best develop the talents of all the people."

RIVALS GET BLAME FOR SHOW RAID

Earl Carroll and Girls of "Vanities" in Peril of Prison Term

NEW YORK, July 10. (Exclusive) Rivals instigated the police raid on "Vanities" at the New Amsterdam Theater yesterday, Earl Carroll hinted today when he marshaled his arrested beauties and star comedian in Jefferson Market Police Court to answer charges of offering an "obscene, immoral, lewd, lascivious and indecent preformance."

A jammed and excited courtroom heard the hearing on the Wales-law charges postponed until 10 a.m. tomorrow.

After the court session, Carroll went into conference with representatives of real-estate interests controlling the New Amsterdam Theater. If Carroll, his girls and his funny man are convicted under the Wales law, they can be imprisoned and the authorities can take legal action to force padlocking of the theater for a year.

As a result of the publicity resulting from the raid, Broadway ticket agencies tonight were charging—and getting—$25 a single ticket for the show, despite the fact the cast has been dressed up considerably since the police swooped down, and the red hot lines have been cooled off.

Land Owned by Americans in Mexico Seized

NOGALES (Ariz.) July 10. (AP)—Confiscation of 3,000,000 acres of American-owned land in Sonora by nullification of the titles by Presidential decree has been announced in the Diario Oficial published June 30, it was learned here today. The land is near Magdalena, Son. The nullification order was signed by President Ortiz Rubio on May 29, last, but was not made public until publication of the notice.

According to available information, the land was purchased by American interests in San Antonio, Tex., about twenty-five years ago, from Francisco Olivares, who is said to have acquired the land by heritage through a grant from Spain.

The Presidential decree makes no mention of compensation to the owners and the action is said to have been taken under the provisions of the agrarian laws.

Change in Usury Law Petitioned by Los Angeles

SACRAMENTO, July 10. (AP)—An initiative petition proposing changes in the State usury law of 1918, bearing 55,525 signatures, was received from Los Angeles today by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. In order to be placed on the ballot at the August 26 primary election the petition requires 91,529 signatures.

The proposal would amend one section of the usury law and add four others. It provides corporations could not recover treble the amount of interest paid in usury cases; defines "construction loans" and provides for computing interest thereon. It excepts agreements giving a borrower the option of paying a loan before maturity and provides if maturity is accelerated by default, interest paid in advance is not usurious. It also provides the Legislature regulate pawnbrokers and industrial loan companies.

CHARGED METAL FENCE SHOCKING TO NEIGHBORS

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—John Kulczak built a fence around his yard. That was all right.

But Mr. Kulczak connected the metal fence with the electric current of his house circuit. That, it now seems, was not so right.

The neighbors told the police and Mr. Kulczak was arrested. They said it was illegal diversion of current, for one thing. Someone else stated that if a person stood on wet grass and touched the fence with its 110 volts he might be killed.

The Humane Society is squinting inquiringly into the matter on account of the possibility that dogs might have been injured against the fence.

The fire department officials have wagged an angry finger in Mr. Kulczak's direction because of the fire hazard. The fire insurance company is upset.

Bank Employee Says He's Now "Feeling Great"

JAMES C. JOHNSON

"I guess at least one hundred people have started taking Sargon because of what this wonderful medicine did for me," recently said James C. Johnson, 5222 Meridian St., Los Angeles, veteran of the Spanish-American War, and special agent at the Bank of America, 6th and Main Sts.

"After an operation I had eight years ago I failed to get back my former health and strength. I lost weight until I was 'almost a skeleton' and I felt weak and listless all the time. I had no appetite, my stomach went back on me, I was nervous and restless and could not get much sleep.

"Two bottles of Sargon made me feel great—better even than before I was sick. My appetite and digestion are fine. All signs of nervousness are gone and I sleep like a child all night. I have gained eight pounds and feel wonderfully refreshed and invigorated. I welcome the opportunity to put in a good word for this great medicine."

CUBA DISCOVERS BOLSHEVIK PLOT

Soviet Agents Conspire to Cause Labor Trouble

Propaganda Embraces Entire Western Hemisphere

Wholesale Deportation of Agitators Decreed

HAVANA, July 10. (Exclusive)—The discovery of a nation-wide plot by the Third Internationale of Soviet Russia through agents in Cuba to bring about a series of simultaneous Bolshevik clashes between the factions of various Cuban labor organizations was disclosed by Gen. Delgado, Secretary of the Interior, tonight. The first of these clashes was scheduled to take place the latter part of July and the others in August.

Featured with the deportation of four dangerous Communists, Secretary Delgado immediately ordered the protection of the Department of the Interior with a special force of police. Further investigations of the clash between the police and laborers at the docks several days ago when several undesirable aliens were being put aboard a vessel bound for Spain have disclosed that the real plans of these workers gathered at the docks was to seduce fellow-workers as they alighted from the patrol wagon.

Reserves were called from two stations, the laborers being subdued.

The general plan of the Third Internationale propaganda was to take effect this summer throughout the Western Hemisphere, including the United States, Central and South America, Mexico and Cuba, it was revealed by Secretary Delgado, who stated tonight that he had full reports of Bolshevik activities of the delegates from Russia in Cuba and that constant deportations will follow the ones made yesterday until a clean-up of the country is accomplished.

The intentions of the Communists, according to Delgado, was to take advantage of public meetings and political campaigns now taking place in Cuba and to bring about a series of misunderstandings and clashes between organized labor.

OLD TOWN PUMP GIVES UP GHOST

It Caves in and Riverdale Residents Face Water Shortage for Time

RIVERDALE, July 10.—The old town pump has caved in and as a result Riverdale is suffering a water shortage and the Saturday night bath is becoming something of a luxury.

It happened when the well of Mrs. S. E. Barritt went out of commission and left 100 homes without water service. This continued for three days until the 100 homes could be hooked up with the Hensen water system. Now there is water, but not too much of it, and a new well is being drilled.

UTAH AREA DAMAGED BY RAINSTORM

Property Loss in Cities and Farm Communities Reported to be Heavy

SALT LAKE CITY, July 10. (AP)—One of the most damaging rainstorms in the history of Utah struck this region this afternoon, extending from Smithfield, Utah, near the Utah-Idaho line, south to Spanish Fork, a distance of 150 miles. While property loss in cities and farming communities was reported to be heavy, no loss of life or serious injury was reported.

Rivers of mud, silt and boulders swept out of the canyons of the Wasatch Mountains, covering farms and city streets.

The four largest towns in the State, Salt Lake City, Provo, Ogden and Logan, were struck by the storm. At Farmington and Centerville, about twenty miles north of Salt Lake City, five cloudbursts flooded the towns and the surrounding country. Railroad tracks were washed out, highways were covered with as much as twelve feet of mud and several homes were reported wrecked, in addition to other farm buildings.

Ronald Olsen and his wife narrowly escaped with their lives when a torrent swept out of Davis Canyon at Farmington, striking their home. The couple were standing on the front porch when the wall of water struck and after the flood had subsided, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen were neck deep in mud with the front porch of their dwelling resting upon their bodies. Neither suffered serious injuries.

LEGGE REPLIES TO REED CHARGE

Tells Kansas Group Efforts to Aid Wheat Prices

Million Spent Monthly to Hold Great Supply

Statement Made in Answer to Governor's Rap

DODGE CITY (Kan.) July 10. (NANA)—The Federal Farm Board, spending $1,000,000 a month to hold 60,000,000 bushels of wheat off the present market, intends no further operations to aid the price of wheat. The board intends now to let the market seek its natural level.

That was the answer of Chairman Alexander Legge of the Farm Board to Gov. Reed's demand that the Farm Board "do the job for which it was set up, and take action to help wheat prices before it comes before us and advises us to reduce our acreage."

ADDRESS LARGE CROWD

The Legge ultimatum came at the close of the second day's debate between Chairman Legge, Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, and Gov. Reed of Kansas over whether Kansas should accept the government's suggestion that farmers cut wheat acreage more closely to domestic demand in order to take advantage of the 42-cent tariff.

Mr. Legge told nearly 2000 farmers gathered at this capital of the southwestern hard winter wheat belt that he believes "if everybody sits tight, the price of wheat will improve, in my honest estimation, 25 cents a bushel."

The audience was made up of the big-business type of farmers—the men who grow from 1000 to 7000 acres of wheat and who operate three to a dozen combines.

REED'S CHARGES

Reaction to the Farm Board's suggestion for acreage curtailment varies widely. There are many farmers who agree the plan is the only logical business-like one in sight. There are others who say the idea is impossible of fulfillment because of inability to get the farmer to agree to co-operate.

He urged farmers to co-operate with the board in holding wheat off the market.

"We purchased 60,000,000 bushels of wheat because the United States carry-over from last fall was larger than ever before," Mr. Legge said. "It is costing $1,000,000 a month of the taxpayers' money to hold this wheat."

Gov. Reed had charged that if the Farm Board would act in the present emergency, which he described as the lowest price for wheat in the last sixteen years, that it could put up the price 20 cents a bushel in fifteen days.

MORE MAKE COURT BOWS

Last Group of Year's Debutantes Including Eight Americans Introduced to King George

LONDON, July 10. (AP)—Before the twin golden thrones of Buckingham Palace, flanked with masses of blue hydrangeas and pink roses, the last group of this year's debutantes, including eight Americans, made their bow tonight at the final royal court of the season before King George and Queen Mary.

His Majesty, wearing the scarlet and gold unigorm of colonel-in-chief of the Scots Guard, and Queen Mary in a gown of powder blue and silver brocade embroidered in pearls, with the Kohinoor diamond flashing on her breast, stood to receive the presentees who filed before them in some of the most brilliant raiment the court has ever seen.

Among the most interested spectators of the glittering spectacle was the petite Japanese Princess Takamatsu, wearing a simple gown of silver cloth and standing beside her husband in the Royal Circle. She watched closely every part of the ceremony that she had made a special request to see.

Prince George, Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood and her husband the Earl of Harewood, Princess Victoria Marie Louise and other members of the royal household were grouped behind Their Majesties.

The eight Americans presented before Their Majesties by Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of the American Ambassador, were Mrs. Helen Lee Washington, Washington, D. C.; Miss Justine Townsend, New York; Miss Elizabeth Wurts, Philadelphia; Mrs. Roy Baker, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Nathaniel Davis, Princeton, N. J.; Mrs. Samuel Meek, New York; Mrs. B. B. Moon, Indianapolis, and Mrs. W. K. Botsford, New York.

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—Samuel Richman, one of the cross-continent canterers in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby of 1929, complained to the District Attorney today that the promoter owes him $3500.

The money, he said, represents what Pyle said would be fourth prize in the New York-Los Angeles run.

Richman started walking back to New York November 7, 1929, from Los Angeles.

Along the way he collected photographic copies of checks given to Pyle by Chambers of Commerce through whose cities the bunion derbyists ran. These he presented to authorities here today.

President Still Considers Idea of Trip West

WASHINGTON, July 10. (Exclusive)—In spite of many reports to the contrary, President Hoover has not abandoned the idea of a trip to the national parks in the West, this summer, it was stated at the White House, this afternoon. It also was said, however, that the western journey is not a certainty.

All of Mr. Hoover's plans are dependent on the course of the Senate regarding the London naval treaty. If the Senate continues in session until a much later date than now is expected, Mr. Hoover may give up the western vacation, and spend part of August at a New England seaside resort. But this is no more settled than is the alternative.

INQUIRY ON REDS WILL BROADEN

Congressional Quiz to Be Extended Next Week

Campaign and Flood Studies Also Will Go Deeper

Samoan Commission Makes Plans For Sailing

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Preparations were virtually completed today for broad Congressional investigations beginning next week into Communistic propaganda, the Senate campaign expenditures, and complaints against the Jadwin flood-control plan.

Other inquiries by Senate or House committees to proceed later in the summer include House campaign expenditures, postoffice leasing contracts, railroad holding companies and a study by the American Samoan Commission.

Subpoenas went forward today signed by Chairman Nye of the Senate campaign investigating committee to summon witnesses before hearings to begin in the Chicago Federal Building Monday morning in the committee's study of Illinois primary expenses.

WILL MEET MONDAY

Chairman Reid and members of the House Flood Control Committee will meet in New Orleans Monday with the Mississippi River Flood Control Association to discuss revision of the Jadwin plan for flood control.

An investigation into railroad holding companies begun during the winter by a subcommittee of the House Interstate Commerce Committee will proceed throughout the summer.

Senator Blaine's committee to study more than 1000 leases of postoffice buildings, has investigators at work now. Later in the summer it is expected the group will visit cities where the more controverted leases have been made.

Concluding with that phase of its investigation the committee will hold hearings of the Pennsylvania primary, in which Secretary Davis defeated Senator Grudy for the Republican Senatorial nomination. Whether hearings will be held in Pennsylvania or in Washington has not yet been determined.

RED QUIZ TO BE RENEWED

The inquiry into Communistic propaganda by a special House committee with Representative Fish, Republican, New York, as chairman, will be resumed in New York City Tuesday. The activities of the Communist party, the ramifications of the Communist International in the United States, the Amtorg Trading Corporation (soviet commercial organization) and the Daily Worker, Communist organ, are to be included in the scope of the inquiry.

The American Samoan Commission, which is to draft a charter for the Samoan Islands, will sail from Los Angeles September 6 on the cruiser Omaha. After holding hearings at Honolulu and in Samoa, it will return the latter part of October.

The commission, including Samoan representatives, is headed by the chairmen of the Senate and House Insular committees, Senator Bingham of Connecticut, and Representative Kess of Pennsylvania.

Colorado Hangs White-Haired Bandit Leader

CANON CITY (Colo.) July 10. (AP)—A few minutes after Ralph Fleagle, white-haired leader of the Lamar bank bandit gang, had made a last assertion that the State had broken its promise to spare him his life, he was hanged at the State penitentiary. The desperado maintained his nerve to the end.

Preparations for the execution of Fleagle were completed at the penitentiary shortly after noon. A formal message was received from Gov. Adams that he would do nothing to stay the hanging and the Supreme Court refused to intervene.

Phillips Parole Case Postponed

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, July 10. (Exclusive)—State Prison Board action on the parole request of Clara Phillips was postponed two weeks today, because a majority of the board was not present. Major cases are not considered in these circumstances.

Ninety-one other cases were discussed, paroles granted seven applicants, thirty-six designated for future paroles, nineteen cases were postponed, fifteen applications were denied, and fourteen prisoners were ordered deported.

Shell to Keep Old Wage Scale

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Secretary of Labor Davis announced today the Shell Oil Company of California had agreed in a conference with Labor Department representatives to continue in effect for one year the current wage scale.

This directly affected 5000 employees, the Secretary said, and will have an indirect effect on the purchasing power of 3000 dependents.

FLYER'S BODY FOUND

OAKLAND, July 10. (AP)—The body of Rene Medus, amateur flyer killed Friday in the plunge into San Francisco Bay of a plane he had borrowed without permission, was found today a quarter mile off Alameda Pier.

AILROAD RATE EFFECTS HARBOR

ociation of Pacific and Far-East Ports Told Why

rles A. Bland of Long Beach Gives Reasons

orts Address Gathering at San Diego Hotel

SAN DIEGO, July 10.—With delegates representing sixteen Pacific coast ports registering at El Cortez, the 1930 convention of the Association of Pacific and Far East Ports got under way today with the first business session opened at 10 o'clock by President M. A. Graham, Jr., port president. Mayor Harry Clark delivered the city's address of welcome, which was followed by the report of local Port Director Frank Brentan, secretary and manager of the association.

The morning's program was rounded out to reading and discussion of papers by Charles A. Bland, consultant of Long Beach, and Frank Waterhouse, general superintendent of the Vancouver (B. C.) harbor.

ADJUSTMENT NEEDED

"The matter of railroad rates to and from a given port," said Bland, "is a direct bearing on the success of the port. Without proper freight rate adjustment a port cannot compete successfully with another port. It follows, therefore, that export and import rail rates, as well as domestic rail rates, must be equitably adjusted."

He closed with an able argument stating that all Pacific Coast communities keep careful watch of activities affecting assessment of activities. His report was discussed by Fred Kohlhagen of the San Diego and Arizona Railway, C. F. Reynolds, traffic manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. G. Starr, Los Angeles harbor commissioner.

"Ports are courtesy, no ships; no ships, no port; no port, no city, its the lack of forcemul and concrete action presented by Burns, who praised his harbor policy in the development of shipping relations.

Those who returned recently from a world tour of ports inspection, said they were greatly surprised to find such valuable information the shipping men had in regard to our various ports of this coast, and practically no data or sources of information open to the masters and officers of the steamers."

SERVICE EMPHASIZED

Making this statement as a starting point, he outlined the fundamental policy of giving visiting ships every possible service, declaring that the basic move toward progress in this connection, he urged was co-operation between port authorities and suggested "round-table" discussions of problems with local representatives of the city, and the customs and immigration services.

"The development of "port consciousness" among the citizens, said Bland, "is an important problem however," citing the case of the man who had been a resident for many years without visiting the harbor.

Regarding school tours and excursions being employed there successfully, he said. William J. Murray, manager of the port of Grays Harbor; R. O. McClone, Long Beach harbor engineer, and G. W. Osgood, chief engineer at Tacoma, contributed discussions.

Dr. Michelson Hears 'Language' of Operation

PASADENA, July 10.—While Dr. Albert A. Michelson, dean of the world's physicists, was undergoing an operation without an anaesthetic, he "sang things" to the surgeon, for which he has never been forgiven, it was revealed today.

The University of Chicago scientist whose experiments prepared the way for Einstein's theories, is at the home in Maryland preparing to combat his determination of the velocity of light with the aid of a mile-long vacuum tube installed at the Mount Wilson ranch, near Santa Ana.

"I never used to say much when operations were talking," he explained, "but I was only relieved that I became qualified.

"I was angry because they tried to talk before the operation. There was considerable pain and, well, I lost interest at the doctor with the knife. Many I acquired in the United States, I might say uncomplimentary things, and my later apologies to the surgeon refused to forgive me, and to establish that fact, he mentioned the two most dictatorial men in the hospital."

The jovial "light wizard" long has been noted for his versatility. He not only plays the violin, has written verse and is adept at chess and tennis, to mention a few of his accomplishments, but today, however, that he has been revealed as a master of unorthodox marriage.

Barton-Browne Wedding Held

PASADENA, July 10.—Concluding the socially large number of interesting local June weddings, the marriage of Miss Amelia Page Barton, daughter of Mrs. George P. Barton, of 936 Palmetto Drive, to Mr. Benjamin Browne, El Paso banker man, was solemnized June 28 in the gardens of the bride's home.

Performing the ceremony, performed by Dr. Clarence A. Spaulding of Santa Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Browne motored north. They will return to their friends in El Paso after August 1.

Mrs. Browne is the daughter of Colonel George P. Barton, former U. S. consul for the Western Electric company. She received her education at Miss Wright's School, Bryn Mawr, and at the University of California, Berkeley.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

WHO HUNG OUT THREE MOONS?

Summerland Residents Aver They Spied Triple Version of Lunar Globe and Call on Sheriff to Inquire About Phenomenon; Dry Squad Finds No Clew

SANTA BARBARA, July 10.—"Quick, Watson, my spy-glass!"

Residents of Summerland, a small town just a few miles down the Coast, felt like calling on some super-sleuth astronomer last night, for a number of them saw three moons.

Now, Summerland is a relatively dry town, and its citizens in general respect the law, but last night a half-dozen of them called in to Sheriff James Ross 'office to find out who had hung out the other two moons.

This all occurred about 9:30 o'clock. The Sheriff looked into his geography, then called the office's astronomer, but failing to receive any answer, he sent his dry squad to Summerland to break up what he surmised must have been a "wild party." But the squad could find no "wild party," and could see no three moons, only one.

But the residents this morning still claim three moons shone down on the little town last night.

LIGHTS TOURNAMENT READY

Hundred Thousand Persons Expected to View Newport Beach Illuminated Water Carnival

NEWPORT BEACH, July 10.—One hundred thousand persons are expected to view the Southland's most spectacular water spectacle Saturday evening. Many miles of territory adjacent to the bay will provide ample place for the spectators to view the pageant to good advantage.

Still another feature is being added to the brilliant Tournament of Lights event, according to an announcement by the general chairman, H. L. Sherman. The Goodyear Company's nonrigid type dirigible, the Volunteer, commonly known as the Goodyear blimp, will sail over the aquatic parade between 8 and 10 p.m.

Army antiaircraft searchlights from Fort MacArthur will provide an added attraction.

Six prominent Laguna Beach artists have been selected to serve as judges of the "Lights," according to Sherman. They are: William A. Griffith, president of the Laguna Beach Art Association; W. A. Riddell, Ross Shattuck, Frank Cuprien, Miss Virginia Wooley and Miss Julie Raymond. The artists will be feted at a dinner preceding the parade by the Tournament of Lights committee.

Residents and visitors to the Southland are expected to view the parade of several hundred brilliantly illuminated and gaily decorated craft, ranging from canoes to seagoing vessels. Work of decorating the vessels and floats has been in progress for days and boats are arriving daily to compete in the gala event.

Many miles of beach shore, space on the State Highway and territory adjacent to the bay will provide room for the spectators to witness the novel Southland water pageant which has grown to be one of the greatest features in the West. A display of trophies is shown at the Chamber of Commerce.

Sierra Madre in Move to Obviate Hazard of Fire

SIERRA MADRE, July 10.—Plans for elimination of city fire hazards during the summer months has resulted in the building of a wide firebreak within the northerly boundary line of the city, which will extend across the foothills from east to west boundaries, to assure complete protection from possible fires in the mountains this year, City Engineer Lynde declared today.

Building of the firebreak is a part of the extensive program now under way by the city engineer's department, to eliminate all fire hazards within the city limits of Sierra Madre. Vacant lots have been cleared of all debris and acres of dry grass has been plowed beneath the soil.

Large crews of workmen have been cleaning city property and the clean-up project has been extended to the foothills, where dry grass and underbrush have been burned. The work has been centered mainly in the mouths of Little Santa Anita, Bailey and Florad canyons, where acres of dead and dry brush has been destroyed.

"We are rushing the work through to completion due to the hot spell, and we feel fortunate that we have experienced no fires up to the present time, as we have found grass and other debris to be in an unusually inflammable condition," Lynde stated.

Following the survey of existing fire hazards within the city limits several weeks ago, Fire Chief Richards and his staff of volunteer firemen have been on the alert night and day.

Although cited for their efficiency and bravery in the San Gabriel fire several years ago, Chief Richards and his men are not anxious that any more forest fires occur this year, and are putting forth every effort to eliminate any possibility of them.

Santa Barbara Gasoline Price Remains Firm

SANTA BARBARA, July 10.—Although gasoline is now at its lowest rate in Pacific Coast States since it become important as a motor vehicle fuel, a standard price of 17½ cents prevailed throughout this city, with only a few independent stations below that figure. The latter were reported selling gasoline at 12 cents a gallon.

While the bottom price was reported as 17½ cents, representatives of major oil companies here last night foresaw no reduction in the local price, as it was the opinion of local dealers that Santa Barbara has not been as seriously affected as other coastal cities, because the large majority of its stations handle major oil company products.

One company agent said that it was generally agreed in Los Angeles and other cities where foreign importations are available that the large companies had united in an effort to retaliate on independent competitors who for several years have been underselling the motor commodity.

WOMAN HIT BY TRAIN MISTAKEN IN SIGNAL

PASADENA, July 10.—Death almost claimed another grade-crossing victim today when a Santa Fe train demolished an automobile driven by Mrs. Helen E. Casler of 285 South Los Robles avenue, at the Green-street crossing. Mrs. Casler incurred only minor injuries. The motorist reported to the police that she saw a man whom she believed was a signal guard, apparently motioning her to proceed across the tracks. She drove ahead and the locomotive hurled her sedan against a traffic sign. The man she had seen proved to be a Mexican laborer.

DAIRY HANDS LOSE SAVINGS TO ROBBERS

SANTA ANA, July 10.—A $5000 robbery of two dairy hands was being investigated today by Sheriff Sam Jernigan's deputies on information that bunkhouses of the S. J. Dinni dairy at Cypress had been entered Monday night. Edison stock, clothing and watches, belonging to two milkers on the ranch, Charles Alfred and Burch Walters, were taken in the burglary, it was stated. Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter, working on the case, is looking for two suspects, one of whom is said to be wanted by Long Beach police.

VALENCIAS BRING TOP PRICE

Nearly $2,000,000 Has Been Realized by Mutual Orange Distributors from May and June Sales

REDLANDS, July 10.—Nearly $2,000,000 has been distributed by the Mutual Orange Distributors to its various packing-houses for Valencia oranges, sold in May and June, it is said today by J. A. Steward, sales manager for the concern.

"During the entire Valencia season this year, we have had a remarkable good market," he said. "This is partly due to the size of the crop, of course, but it is also due to the efforts of an aggressive sales force in all of the principal markets, both domestic and foreign."

Steward believes that final returns for the year on all citrus fruits will be above even the hitherto record price season of 1927-28.

"We have paid to our members houses for Valencias sold from May 1 to June 30," he continued, "$1,945,323.90. Of there returns during the peak of price period in May, we had three weeks when the averages for all fruit sold, including all grades and sizes shipped, were approximately $6.50 the box, net to the packing - house, or more than $3000 the carload.

"And from present indications I believe that the present season will bring to California the greatest returns the citrus crops have ever made.

"Before the season opened, I made a conservative estimate that the Valencia crop would bring at least $60,000,000 to the growers. I can see no revision, except upward, now, in this."

Casitas Pass May Not Get Maricopa Road

VENTURA, July 10.—The Maricopa road will run straight into this city and on up the coast to Santa Barbara if all the property owners in the Casitas Pass section do not sign over deeds to their holdings where the proposed road is to run, it was decided late yesterday by the joint highway board, in charge of Maricopa construction.

By their action the board practically outlawed the possibility of the road running over Murietta Pass from Ojai to Carpinteria, which had been talked of before, after a delegation of Carpinteria and Santa Barbara citizens had asked the board for its consideration.

One complete deed signed by all the property owners from Rincon Creek to the Santa Ana schoolhouse, a distance of twelve miles, will have to be turned over to the board before it will take action on routing the road over Casitas Pass, it was decided.

Stanley Abel, Kern county board member, asserted that unless this deed is obtained he was in favor of routing the big artery into Ventura and from there to Santa Barbara.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 10. J. A. Campbell, 48 years of age, Union Oil Company worker, injured here last Saturday in a minor traffic accident, has a broken back, it was learned today. Campbell went to work the next day, but complained of his back hurting.

He appeared at the Emergency Hospital yesterday, where an X-ray picture of his back revealed a badly fractured vertebra. Campbell walked to the hospital and then home to bed.

Plans Made to Refill Basin in Cucamonga Area

ONTARIO, July 10.—Plans for carrying out a flood-control and water-conservation project in this district, designed to fill the receding Cucamonga water basin, will be outlined in a preliminary report to be submitted soon to local water company officials by experts in the State Engineer's office.

The survey work has been directed by a committee named some time ago by C. E. Grier of Upland, chairman of the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors. The committee was chosen when water officials decided that immediate steps would be necessary to refill the basin.

For a few years the water level has been receding perceptibly. In order to effect a remedy E. D. Stafford, State hydraulic engineer, and Harold Conkling, assistant State engineer, were, on behalf of the State, requested to aid the local water men in their problem.

Check dam needs have been considered and it is presumed the preliminary report will recommend a series of check dams to hold back the flood waters to divert the supply into the basin.

Library to Be Dedicated Soon

MONTEBELLO, July 10.—The new Municipal Library Building in the city park will be dedicated the 25th inst., is the announcement made by the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Helen Vogelsong, head of the county library department, was at the chamber Monday and with Mayor W. H. Cook and Secretary Cotton completed the details of the arrangements.

The chamber, which has sponsored the library project from the start, is looking after the program of the day, which will be appropriate to the occasion. Open house will be held from 4 to 9 p.m., with a short program at 7:30 p.m.

FORMER PUGILIST IN FIGHT GOES TO JAIL

REDONDO BEACH, July 10.—Prize fight tactics practiced by L. P. Connolly, a former pugilist, upon patrons of a roadside cafe here led to a ten-day jail sentence imposed by Police Judge Sam G. Austin this morning. The charges were preferred by Kittie Scorgie, proprietress of the cafe, who sought police aid after a fracas in which considerable furniture was asserted to have been wrecked and dining-room patrons routed. Local police records show Connolly's arrest on two former occasions for similar offenses.

BELL SETS RECORD

BELL, July 10.—The city of Bell has approximately $52,000 on hand, which is a record for small cities, according to I. N. Vaughn, City Clerk. His figures show there is a total of $41,211.07 in the general fund, $2290.29 in the road fund, $174.25 cash bond and $60.08 in a revolving fund. Besides these amounts the city has advanced $8000 on municipal projects.

City Attorney in Election Ruling

UPLAND, July 10.—A majority vote will not suffice for this city's three-way election on civic questions at the municipal election on the 24th inst., City Attorney E. E. Gray has ruled.

According to Gray, a two-thirds majority is required for the measures to carry. Three questions will be answered at the election. They are: Shall the city continue to maintain its parks and Euclid-avenue parkway program?

Shall the city continue to maintain weekly concerts during the summer months?

Shall the city continue to publicize, promote and advertise the city of Upland?

Special appropriations will be necessary to carry on the civic programs and City Council is leaving it up to the public to answer the three questions.

PECTIN PLANT SWEPT BY FIRE OPEN AGAIN

ONTARIO, July 10.—Swept by fire April 29, the pectin plant of the Exchange Orange Products plant set its machinery in motion today to catch up with the orders that have piled up during the forced shutdown for repairs. The plant has been completely remodeled. Burned and water damaged equipment was replaced at a cost of between $40,000 and $50,000, although no definite estimate of the replacement cost was given out. The plant is now running at capacity to make up for time lost. The upper floor of the structure was swept by the blaze.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK POINTED

Wonderful Future for California and Pacific Coast Assured by Conditions, Speaker Declares

TUSTIN, July 10.—Hard times are merely a state of the mind, J. C. Herbsman, lecturer of San Clemente, last night told the Junior Chamber of Commerce here. Speaking on "The Present and Future of California," Herbsman said that it is disgraceful for the American people to talk hard times.

"Conditions," he continued, "are better than in any other country. We must change our mental viewpoint. Fundamental industries are all safe, and our banks are choking with money. We are more blessed in Southern California than any other section of the United States and we must have faith.

"California," he continued, "has had a consistent growth. In 1880 Los Angeles had 12,000 people and today is fifth in the United States in size and in a few years it will surpass Detroit.

"While the national increase in population from 1920 to 1930 was 15 per cent the increase in California was 60 per cent and California now ranks sixth State in the Union in population.

"Population means everything when it comes to national support," Herbsman said. "That's why the Boulder Dam bill was passed and work has been started on the project. California has tremendous prestige and power.

"In 1850 there was one man to every 1024 acres of land, in 1900 one man to every seventy acres, in 1920 one man to every thirty acres and in 1930 one man to every seventeen acres.

"In ten years we will have 1,000,000 more people here. Only two out of every 100 people now in Southern California were born in California. We have wonderful climate, harbor and labor supply, and are on the great trades routes of the world. Eight million dollars has been appropriated by the United States for the improvement of Los Angeles Harbor, for the future of California lies on the Pacific Coast.

"In 1932 the Olympic Games will be held here and there will be more people here than ever before assembled on a similar area," the speaker concluded.

Valley Annex Population by Towns is Given

VAN NUYS, July 10.—When census officials some time ago stated they were unable to give the separate population figures of the individual towns and hamlets in the San Fernando Valley annex to the City of Los Angeles because of the uncertain boundary lines between the various places, Frank M. Keffer, tax expert and publisher of the Van Nuys News, announced he would compile an estimate of the several populations. He has just made his report, which is of interest to all citizens. He bases his estimate on the total valley annex population and the votes that were cast in the recent water-bond election.

The official census gave the valley annex area a total population of 50,280 while the water-bond vote was 10,179. With this as a basis to work on Keffer estimates the population of Van Nuys at 18,920.

Chamber of Commerce heads and civic leaders had estimated the population at between 18,000 and 20,000. For North Hollywood, the estimate is 13,310, although civic leaders estimated it at about 20,000. The Reseda Boulevard district is given a population of 5800; Owensmouth, 5335; the San Fernando Mission district, 4825, and Rosece, 2655. The combined Owensmouth, Chatsworth, Calabasas and Girard area has an estimated population of 5385, the Keffer figures show.

According to Keffer's estimate, Van Nuys is the largest town in the annex with North Hollywood second. It also is reported that the Reseda Boulevard district is the most rapidly growing at present.

The population of the entire western district is put at 11,185, including all territory west of Balboa avenue, which is usually given as the dividing line between central and west valley sections. Keffer's figures were based upon the territory usually accredited to each townsite in the valley annex.

San Diego Will Put Up Three Huge Memorials

SAN DIEGO, July 10. — Three imposing monuments, one in memory of John D. Spreckels, outstanding citizen, one to Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, who discovered and took possession of all California at his landing on Ballast Point, and a third to the known and unknown dead buried in Old Town Cemetery on San Diego avenue, soon will rise here, if plans of the city and county lankmarks committee are carried to completion. In addition, bronze plaques will be placed at about twenty-five historic points.

Chairman Leroy A. Wright and former Congressman William A. Kettner, who have charge of arrangements for the Spreckels Memorial, exhibited a model executed by W. E. Thorpe, sculptor, and at a recent meeting of the committee, discussed plans for placing the monument in Balboa Park.

The Cabrillo monument on Point Loma was referred to George Burnham and Lebert Mayrhoffer.

One of the first bronze plaques to be erected will mark the site at La Playa where Charles Dana gave to the world the hidehouse. The site of the Brookline hidehouse, the first to be built and the last to disappear, and the scene of the raising in 1928 of the "shirt tail flag" of Capt. James Arthur and his mates, is expected to become a point of interest to visitors.

The landmarks committee consists of Chairman Wright Kettner, Burnham W. Templeton, Johnson Cave, J. Couts Mayrhoffe. and Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson.

NO VERDICT REACHED IN POSSESSION CASE

BRYN MAWR, July 10.—A jury in Judge A. B. McCrary's court in Mission failed to reach a verdict on the case of R. H. Moss, proprietor of an auto camp on Colton avenue, on a charge of possession of liquor. Eleven were for acquittal and one for conviction. Moss was arrested several weeks ago by county and city officers who made a raid on the camp early in the evening. According to the officers, they found a small amount of liquor in the store and considerable cached in holes dug back of the camp bungalow and covered with leaves. Moss was first arraigned in Justice C. G. Potter's court and pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Then the case was transferred to the court of Judge McCrary, when the Supreme Court ruling was made to the effect that misdemeanors must be tried in the township in which they were committed.

ERRANT CAR PIERCES GARAGE AND HOUSE

MANHATTAN BEACH, July 10.—A freak accident in which a heavy touring car parked on Seventeenth street skidded, driverless, down a steep hill, shattering its way through a small garage building and a summer cottage, occurred here today. The house, the property of Dr. L. Jewell at 1712 Ocean Drive, was completely penetrated by the car, which, after tearing through the rear and front walls, landed near the front of the house, which was unoccupied. Plumbing lines and gas pipes were torn out by the impact of the car, which was a total wreck. The automobile belonged to H. P. Dixon, 5810 South Normandie avenue, Los Angeles.

BEAN GROWERS SEE PROSPERITY

Recent Lima Crop Returns Told at Meeting

Receipts from 20 to 36 Per Cent Above Last Decade

C. C. Perkins Re-elected Head of State Body

OXNARD, July 10.—Election of officers, submission of the annual report, and a barbecue at which more than 100 were present, marked the annual meeting of the California Lima Bean Growers' Association today.

Meeting at the local headquarters of the association, the board of directors re-elected C. C. Perkins, Camarillo, president; R. G. Edwards, Santa Paula, and A. Camarillo, Camarillo, vice-presidents; W. S. Saviers, Oxnard, treasurer, and R. L. Churchill, Santa Paula, secretary.

Annual report to the directors and members made by Churchill contained the following paragraphs, which brought out that members of the association received much larger return despite the larger tonnage produced.

PRODUCTION INCREASED

"The total California field run production of 1929 crop regular limas amounted to about 561,000 bags and baby limas about 326,000 bags. These figures compare with total production of about 913,000 bags of regulars and 370,000 bags of baby limas the preceding, or 1928, crop year, or an increase production as compared with the previous season of about 7 per cent in baby limas and, 5 per cent on regular limas. When compared with the average production for the preceding ten years, the 1929 crop production showed nearly 10 per cent more of regular limas and about 30 per cent more of baby limas.

"In the face of the fact that the 1929 crop production of regulars was almost 10 per cent, and of baby limas approximately 30 per cent more than the average production over the period of the previous ten years, it is interesting and gratifying to note that our association grower members will receive as their net returns this season about 36 per cent more on regular limas and 20 per cent more on baby limas than the average returns which they received during the preceding ten years.

RECORD PRICES RULE

Limas have also commanded a higher price differential this season as compared with other principal varieties of dried beans than any other entire season during the past twenty or more years."

An additional payment of a fraction of a dollar was voted by the directors to bring the total to date on regulars up to $10.79 per 100 weight.

The barbecue was served at the Hueneme warehouse at 12 o'clock. Speakers were Orra Monnette, Southern California banker, and J. W. Jones, Federal Farm Board representative.

Anaheim Pioneer Scion Believed to be Suicide

ANAHEIM, July 10.—Charles Carroll, 40 years of age, a member of a prominent pioneer local family, was found dead at his ranch home west of this city this morning under conditions which Coroner C. D. Brown says indicate suicide. An autopsy held here this afternoon revealed poison in the dead man's stomach.

No explanation for the act was made public, although officers investigating the case reported finding a note addressed to Mrs. Carroll, who has been in Maryland for a month. The note asked forgiveness, and said, "I can't stand it any longer." What it was that he could not stand was not explained.

Carroll has occupied a sixty-acre citrus ranch which he has owned jointly with two brothers and a sister. He worked about the place yesterday.

The body was found in a den in the house, fully dressed except for shoes. Indications were that Carroll had gone about preparation for his demise in an orderly manner.

At one time the Carroll family owned 400 acres of what now is among the finest citrus-producing area in Orange county.

The body was removed to the Backs, Terry & Campbell funeral parlors here, where it is held awaiting instructions from Mrs. Carroll.

Health Board Lets Pool Open

REDLANDS, July 10.—The Board of Health this morning gave permission to the Y.M.C.A. to open the pool to adults and to boys over 12 years of age. The same permission would have been given to the city plunge to open but for the fact that the plunge does not at the present time have a permit from the State Board of Health, which is necessary before a public pool can be operated.

It has been announced that all swimming classes for the boys and men over the requisite age will be started at once by the Y.M.C.A. and Friday afternoon a swimming meeting will be held for the junior and the high-school boys. This is the first of a series of weekly meets to be held during the summer.

Sylvan Plunge, the city pool, has never had a permit from the State Board of Health, it has just recently been discovered. Application has been made for such a permit and it is expected that the pool will be opened just as soon as it is received. The city made an application for a permit in 1922 and it was inspected in 1923, but for some reason the permit was never issued.

CONTRACT FOR NEW BUILDING AWARDED

POMONA, July 10.—The Henry I. Beller construction Company of Los Angeles were the successful bidders on the general contract for construction of a new Fox West Coast theater here, it was announced today by Balch & Stanbery, Los Angeles architects. The price was $171,000, construction to start within the next two weeks and the building completed within six months. The site for the new theater is at the southwest corner of Third street and Garey avenue.

LECTURE SERIES CLOSES

ANAHEIM, July 10.—The last of a series of nightly lectures by Judge James H. Woertendyke, noted author and lecturer, will be given tomorrow night at the Christian Church. The lecture series which began Monday last has attracted large crowds, and a record audience is expected at the final address. All of the city churches have collaborated in the presentation of the speaker.

San Diego City Sets Charter Election Date

SAN DIEGO, July 10. — With presentation of a petition from the citizens' charter committee this morning, signed by eighteen members, asking for a special election August 26 to name a board of freeholders to frame a new city charter, the Council unanimously passed a resolution calling the election on that date in conjunction with the State primaries.

The election will cost the city only about $3000, according to City Clerk Allen Wright, as county election machinery will be utilized.

Candidates for the board of freeholders must own property here and have been qualified electors of the city for five years preceding the election. Applications may be secured from the City Clerk and must be filed with the County Clerk by the 30th inst.

The petition asking the election was filed with the Council last week by Paul J. Healy, president of the Citizens' Charter Committee. At that time the Council delayed action until an expression was secured from the entire membership of the committee.

Van Nuys Plans Again for Parks

VAN NUYS, July 10.—At the request of the City Planning Commission two prospective park and playground sites have been plotted on the map for the Van Nuys district. This was made possible through the work of the park co-ordination committees of the various city groups.

One of the sites is ten acres, at the corner of Cedros avenue and Valley Heart Drive; the other twelve acres are near the intersection of Hazeltine avenue and Vanowen street. These two sites have been recommended by the Park and Playground Commission. The local committee, of which S. O. Houghton is chairman, will meet here soon to make further suggestions.

FREIGHT DEPOT FOR RESEDA CONSIDERED

RESEDA, July 10.—Possibility of the construction of a freight depot on the Southern Pacific tracks in Reseda looms today following the completion of surveys here by two representatives of the railroad company.

Under the present system Reseda freight is dumped on an open platform, where local residents charge it is subject to weather damage or theft. The effort to have a suitable depot erected here has been under way for several months.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the silence of mingled joy and sorrow, they passed along through the familiar jungle. As the afternoon was waning there came faintly to the ears of the ape-man the murmuring cadence of distant voices. Half an hour later the two came upon a horde of ebon warriors which Basuli had collected for his war of vengeance upon the raiders. With them were the captured women of their tribe, rescued from the Arab's village, and tall, even among the giant Wasiri, loomed a familiar black form.

It was Mugambi, whom Jane had thought dead amidst the charred ruins of the bungalow. Ah, such a reunion! Long into the night the dancing, singing and laughter awoke the somber echoes of the woods. Again and again were the stories of their various adventures retold. Dawn was already breaking when Basuli for the fortieth time gleefully related how he and a handful of his warriors had watched the battle for the golden ingots which the Abyssinians of Abdul Mourak had waged against the Arab raiders of Achmet Zek.

Now, when the victors had ridden away, they had sneaked out of the river weeds and stolen away with the precious ingots to hide them where no robber eye could discover them. Pieced out from the fragments of their various experiences with the Belgian, Lieutenant Werper, the truth concerning his malign activities became clear. "Lost are the jewels of Opar forever," smiled Tarzan. "Much good may they do the villain!" The golden ingots of Opar were restored as were the lives of those dear to him and Tarzan was happy.

Busy weeks were to follow. The willing hands of laughing laborers, made happy again by the return of the master and mistress they had mourned dead, restored the ruined bungalow and farm house for the "Big Bwana." Life took on again the former peaceful, happy existence Lord and Lady Greystoke had known before the renegade Werper betrayed their hospitality and the jewels of Opar had been discovered in the temple vaults of the Sun Worshipers. But one more page was to unfold before the jewels of Opar's tale was told.

MOTHER SEEKS MERCY FOR SON

Oklahoma Governor Urged to Stay Execution

Boy Sentenced to Die for Robbery With Gun

Executive Indicates Plea Will be Granted

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) July 10. (AP)—A widowed mother, Mrs. Esther Cole, came halfway across the nation and today waited throughout the morning and virtually all afternoon to plead with Gov. Holloway for mercy for her 19-year-old son, Ted Cole, sentenced to death after he admitted participation in a robbery at Tulsa.

The mother, whose home is in Huntington Park, Cal., asked Gov. Holloway not to permit the execution of her only boy.

"He is my only son and never had been in trouble any more than other boys of his age," she said. Cole's father, a juvenile judge at Kansas City, died when Cole was an infant.

The mother laid a picture of Cole's baby on the desk of the Governor.

"The baby was born just three months ago," she explained. "And Ted has never seen him. He was married before the trouble came up and his wife is with her parents in Arkansas."

Cole was arrested last year in Tulsa for the robbery of a bottling works. Not a shot was fired during the robbery in which $400 was taken. When Cole pleaded guilty before Judge Yager of Tulsa he was sentenced to death on charge of robbery with firearms.

Gov. Holloway said recently he will not permit the execution of the youth.

MIXED ODORS WILL GIVE FACTORY BETTER SCENTS

HAMILTON (N. Y.) July 10. (AP) Early arrival of a new era of sweet smells was forecast today by Dr. Donald A. Laird, head of the department of psychology of Colgate University.

He foresees many of the widespread, disagreeable odors of industry turned into pleasant aromas through a recently discovered advance in the perfumer's art. By this new method instead of using perfume to cover up bad smells, the evil odor itself is "put to work."

It is given as a companion a minute percentage of some powerful chemical. The new partner, called an industrial aromatic, may be equally evil smelling. But the combination of the two bad odors produces a sweet or a pleasant one.

Industry, says Dr. Laird in a survey issued today, is rapidly taking up the new principle to increase sales of articles which once lacked smell appeal.

CHINESE TRADE QUIZ ARRANGED

Senate Committee Will Seek Credit System

Move Aimed at Increasing Exports to Orient

Peiping Silver Drop Cuts Buying Power

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 10. (Exclusive)—A comprehensive investigation of American export trade with China, contemplating ultimately the establishment of an international credit system which will enable this and other oriental countries to increase their purchases in the United States, is to be undertaken by a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as soon as the London naval treaty has been ratified and the special session of the Senate brought to a close.

Hearings will be held in Washington immediately following action upon the treaty and later in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle, where shipping men, economists and other students of the question will be asked to appear and give their views as to how the financial ills of China may be cured and the buying power of that nation restored.

CHINESE SILVER DOWN

American exports to China fell off approximately 60 per cent last year, due largely, according to Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the Senate group, to the decline in the value of Chinese silver resulting from the efforts of Great Britain to supplant silver in China with British sterling notes. But whatever the cause, Chinese silver is now worth 40 cents an ounce, whereas formerly it was worth 75 cents, and the consequence is that China's ability to purchase American goods has been practically cut in half.

Several surveys of the situation have been conducted, one of them by Leland Stanford University, another by the University of California, and still others by Pacific steamship concerns, and the information gathered in these studies has been made available to the Senate committee.

STABILITY SOUGHT

Besides Pittman, the Senate subcommittee is composed of Senators Johnson of California, Vandemburg of Michigan, Swanson of Virginia and Shipstead of Minnesota.

"The aim of the inquiry," Senator Pittman said today, "is to pave the way for a commercial treaty with Great Britain, Japan, France and possibly other leading commercial nations whereby China's credit may be mobilized and stabilized and her purchasing power bolstered. We stabilized our own credit in the United States with the Federal Reserve system, and we believe there is some way we can come to an international agreement which will do the same thing for China."

M.-G.-M. BUYS PARROTT STORY

John Boles to Play Lead With Evalyn Laye in "Lilli;" Louise Dresser Will Return to Stage in New Play; Burton Holmes Plans Talking Films

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The success of "The Divorcee," a Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer vehicle for Norma Shearer, has prompted M.-G.-M. officials to purchase Ursula Parrott's latest novel, bearing the lively title, "Strangers May Kiss." This story is to be issued by Cape & Smith in August.

While no luminary has been definitely assigned to the vehicle, it is likely, we hear on good authority, that Jean Crawford will play the star role.

Whether "Strangers May Kiss" is what you might call as vivid a yarn as "The Divorcee," we don't know, not having had a chance to read it, but if it is, no doubt some clever writer at M.-G.-M. will be able to make it acceptable to the censor powers-that-be.

JOHN BOLES SINGS WITH SAM GOLDWYN

No less popular a star than John Boles has been acquired by Samuel Goldwyn to play the leading masculine role opposite his newest star, Evalyn Laye, English actress, when that beautiful young woman starts work on "Lilli," her first starring vehicle for Goldwyn and United Artists. Boles was borrowed from Universal, at what is said to be one of the largest salaries ever paid for a picture star.

It is reported from the studio that Goldwyn gave screen and voice tests to every available singing actor both in Hollywood and New York, with the final decision that no one could approach Boles in the necessary qualifications. Especially is he suited to the type of the hero in "Lilli," it is said.

Leon Errol, as heretofore reported, will have the leading comedy role and Lilyan Tashman has been signed for an important part. George Fitzmaurice will direct the production, for which Messrs. Bruno Branichstaedtem and Nacio Herb Brown wrote the music.

LOUISE DRESSER RETURNING TO STAGE

Louise Dresser is going to fulfill her promise to the stage to return to that medium of artistic expression.

She will go back to New York early in the fall, and will make her reappearance on Broadway in a new play by Blanche Upright. This new drama is tentatively titled "The Pedestal." It is expected that the play will go on about the middle of September. The author of "The Pedestal" also wrote "The Valley of Content," which served as a starring vehicle for Marjorie Rambeau.

Miss Dresser still has one picture in which to appear for Fox under her contract with that organization. When a suitable vehicle is found for her, she will play the star role. She achieved instant success on the screen in "The Goose Woman," produced by Universal, after which she starred in a picture for Fox and one for United Artists.

Burton Holmes With M.-G.-M.

Gradually travelogues are coming into their own with the general public. And that is where the most famous of world travelers, Burton Holmes, comes in.

Holmes will arrive in Southern California next week to make final arrangements with executives of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for twelve elaborate talking-picture travelogues which that studio will release during the coming year. It will be the traveler's first contact with studio affairs in several years.

In addition to laying out technical details of his forthcoming pictures Holmes will give advice on several coming M.-G.-M. pictures which have extended foreign backgrounds.

Gregory Gage in It

Gregory Gage has been signed by Fox for one of the four featured roles in "The Renegades," starring Warner Baxter, according to Charles Beyer, his manager.

The story, written by Jules Furthman, concerns four characters in the Foreign Legion—A Spaniard, a German, a Russian and an American. Baxter plays the Spaniard, Noah Beery the German and Gage the Russian.

Al Boasberg Signs

That popular gag man, who has put the giggles into so many Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, is not to be turned loose on a cold world, now that his contract with that organization is completed. On the other hand, he has just been signed by the organization on a new contract with a nice increase of salary.

VICTORIOUS REBEL DRIVE CONTINUES

Chinese Insurrectionists Capture Another Town in Surprise Attack

SHANGHAI, July 10. (AP)—Brushing defeated government troops aside, Northern Alliance rebels today continued their victorious march southward through Shantung Province.

A sudden thrust by 50,000 men carried them twenty-five miles to Tsining, about seventy-five miles south of Tsinan, the Shantung capital recently overrun by northerners seeking to place their leaders, Gens. Yen Hsi-Shan and Feng Yu-Hsiang, at the head of China's government.

The surprise attack anticipated the general offensive being prepared by President Chiang Kai-Shek to regain Shantung. For days he had been withdrawing troops from the main front in Northern Honan. He was said today to be planning a counter-offensive.

Meanwhile, except for a Nationalist push toward Kaifeng, 300,000 government soldiers and 200,000 insurgents rested, gathering strength to resume their long struggle along the Haichow-Tungkwan Railway—a struggle that may end in the rebels being driven into the Yellow River or their break through to Nanking, to set up another government.

Willits as teaching assistant in the graduate school of business; Edward E. Walker of the University of Missouri as instructor in citizenship, and Dr. Charles W. The certificates are secured by the liquid assets of the association. The distribution was authorized at a meeting of the association directors yesterday.

GOLD STAR NEGRESSES GIVEN SHIP

Government Forced to Charter Special Boat for Colored War Mothers

WASHINGTON, July 10. (Exclusive)—Refusal of leading trans-Atlantic steamship companies to transport Negro Gold Star mothers to the graves of their soldier dead in France has necessitated the chartering of a special ship by the War Department, it was disclosed today.

As a result the first group of twenty-eight Negro mothers and widows which will go to Europe on the Gold Star pilgrimages to the graves of Americans killed in the war will leave Saturday aboard the American Merchant, a combined passenger and merchant ship.

In making this announcement War Department officials denied charges that Negro mothers and widows were being discriminated against. Officials defended the adopted policy of segregating the Negro and white groups of Gold Star mothers as one which would "best secure the contentment and comfort of the pilgrims themselves." It was stated that no discrimination as between the various groups had been contemplated and that all groups will receive like accommodations and similar care.

The controversy came to light when a report was published that several Negro mothers had protested to the President, asserting they had been assigned to chesper boats than those used by the white Gold Star mothers.

Portugal Faces Bread Crisis as Milling Ceases

LISBON (Portugal) July 10. (AP) Because of a shortage of wheat, the National Association of Millers today suspended work. No fear of a bread famine is felt, however, since army stocks are sufficient to keep up the daily supply without resort being made to a ration system until the government is able to modify the law concerning the import of foreign wheat.

The public has been advised not to waste bread and the Minister of Agriculture has ordered all wheat merchants to declare their stocks so the government may be able to fix the quantity to be imported above the legal quota.

Alarming reports reached here from certain parts of the interior, where there is serious corn shortage.

RAIN HALTS AIRPLANES IN ARIZONA

Schedules Interrupted by Fourth Day of Storm; Highways Damaged

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 10. (AP)—Air and highway traffic was delayed and road damage was reported today, marking the fourth day of rain and thunderstorms, general throughout Arizona.

An electrical storm between Douglas and El Paso delayed Western Air Express east and westbound air liners. The plane from El Paso was forced to return to that city and the eastbound ship had to head back to Douglas. Passengers on the east-bound plane were transferred to a train for El Paso.

Forest rangers reported 1.75 inches of rain fell at Pleasant Valley and 1.34 inches at Tonto basin. Rain fell heavily in the Sierra Anchas.

Road crews in the Bisbee district are repairing numerous washouts and weakened bridges.

Rainstorms also continued along the Coronado Trail south of Clifton and at Safford and Duncan. A rise was noted in the San Francisco River.

Wet forces were accused of advocating "booze or revolution" in the report made by the moral welfare committee, which urged support of the prohibition laws as the "best method of controlling liquor traffic." The recent party conventions were held not representative of either parties or the State.

WAGNER MUSIC SWAYS CROWD

Hertz Conducts Orchestra in Splendid Manner

Bowl Audience Responds to Stirring Performance

"Tristan" Love Scene Given First Local Hearing

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Hertz and the music of Wagner have become almost inseparable in the minds of orchestral and operatic audiences. Wagner and Hertz held full sway in the Hollywood Bowl last night. Hertz was in his element with this music he conducts so well and the huge audience responded to his enthusiasm. The Hollywood Bowl Symphony Orchestra can play Wagner exactly the way Hertz wants it played because of long familiarity with both. The unusual beauty of tone to be heard this year is due to the winter's work of these men of the Philharmonic under Rodzinski. The combination of tone and interpretation made a notable Wagner performance.

The concert began with the overture to "The Flying Dutchman" and the love scene from "Tristan" arranged by Hertz, was given its first Los Angeles hearing. The "Tristan and Isolde" music is all so rich in familiar themes that the love scene which is so often sung seemed eminently suitable in its orchestral version. "Forest Murmurs," too, is a beautiful excerpt for playing out of doors on a balmy night. The "Tannhauser" bacchanale is not so well known as the preceding numbers, but its long, melodious phrases as the string section played them last night, were successful in creating the illusion of an operatic ballet.

Vincent Schipilitti distinguished himself with his solo in the introduction to the third act of "Tristan and Isolde." The rich and sonorous beauty of the English horn, or contralto oboe, sounded over the hills with a penetrating loveliness. Schipilitti displayed the reserve and balance of phrasing of a fine artist and fully deserved the hearty applause he received at the end of the number.

"The Entrance of the Gods Into Valhalla" wakened the Bowl to such vivid reality that one could easily imagine the gods riding full tilt down the mountainside. What a magnificent setting the Bowl would make for a night picture of the "Rhinegold" with Alfred Hertz conducting the orchestra and some motion-picture director who really knew what this great music means to impersonate the composer in America's Bayreuth!

Hertz has participated in one picture taken in the Bowl and he is a devoted picture-fan but the sound films have so far, been a source of wonderment to him because they have missed so many glorious music opportunities.

For tonight's Bowl program the popular German conductor will begin with Tschaikowsky's "Pathetique" symphony and also play Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun" in place of the Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," which failed to arrive from the publishers who rent them. Mme. Matzenauer will sing two arias of extraordinary worth.

INGENIOUS YARN PLAYS AT R.-K.-O.

"Midnight Mystery" Title of New Film; Orchestra Featured on Stage

BY JOHN SCOTT

Mystery film fans might well pay the R.-K.-O. Theater a visit this week, for there is screen entertainment offered which will probably please. "The Midnight Mystery" is the title of the piece and it is enacted by a pleasant and versatile cast of players.

The picture was adapted by Beulah Marie Dix from the play, "Hawk Island," by Howard Irving Young and was filmed under the direct supervision of Bertram Millhauser, associate of William LeBaron. George B. Seitz directed.

The inevitable murder is not as mystifying in the current film as in others to come from various studios of the cinema. It is, rather, all enacted out before the starred eyes of the audience. The solution of the crime, then, provides the mystery, and quite ingenious it is, too.

The main thread of the story has to do with a fiction writer, played by Betty Compson, who with several other friends is visiting at the island home of her sweetheart, Hugh Trevor. To show his fiancee that she is not too good an amateur detective, Trevor arranges a phony murder, pretending to have killed his best friend, Ivan Lebedeff, in cold blood. Then Lowell Sherman steps into the picture and actually carries out the planned scheme, much to the embarassment of Trevor. It seems that Ivan was paying too much attention to some one else's wife.

The steps Miss Compson takes to absolve her gentleman friend from all blame involves some poison and a lot of psychology.

The lengthy cast headed by Miss Compson is quite competent. Miss Compson, Trevor, Lebedeff and Sherman share equal leading honors. Sherman is particularly capable as the suave and polished villain. Miss Compson at times seems to put a little too much sincerity into the character, not following out the easy-going portrayals of the others.

In minor roles are Rita La Roy, Raymond Hatton, Marcelle Corday, June Clyde and others. The dialogue of "The Midnight Mystery" sparkles at time and drags at intervals. Having been taken from a stage play, there is not much opportunity given for motion, all of the action taking place in one room. The film may be called light entertainment, intriguing to a degree.

The stage bill this week presents Babe Egan and her Hollywood Redheads, a feminine musical organization that steals the show. The girls are not only talented but pretty musicians, and score heavily. Other acts include Grace and Marie Eline, back in familiar capers; Grace Barrie, "blues" singer, and Flo Mayo, aerial butterfly, with Jean Spence.

CARNIVAL LIFE TOLD ON SCREEN

Mary Nolan Portrays Show Girl Who Finds Home in Tent Best After All

BY ELENA BOLAND

The heartbreak lurking behind the carnival's gayety is the theme which Universal has turned into "Young Desire." William R. Doyle wrote the original in play form and called it simply "Carnival," and from this, Director Lewis Collins fashioned this week's entertainment at the Million Dollar.

Traces of originality are distinguishable in this rather vagrant drama, a fact to be commended, considering how much has already been told about the barker. But an essential close-knittedness and a definite purpose are quite regretably lacking, a condition most noticeable in the episodic character of sequences which follow haphazardly, suggesting rather than defining.

Fundamentally each of the several characterizations is truthful and in keeping with the hardness encrusting the carnival atmosphere. What is missing from all of them, with but one exception, is spirit. The will to convince and put over the show on the part of the troupe is felt only in occasional scenes.

As the carnival dancer whose life is cut to studio pattern Mary Nolan creates the curious impression of belying all she does. Through her expression and pantomime she very creditably draws a picture of a girl whose distaste for the cheap sordidness of the tent stirs her to rebellion. Her real nature, softened and refined, is brought out in a few months of romantic happiness with a boy younger than herself. Then, through one of those inevitable conflicts, incredible as they always are, she relinquishes her hold on her fiance so that his family may not be "shamed." Why they should be can only be put down as one of the vagaries of the movie world. In any case, packing her suit case and taking her breaking heart with her, she returns to the old life and eventually finds a way out.

Physically Miss Nolan does admirable things with her material, but vocally she is out of tune. Her voice medium is still in the recitation stage.

The performance of the picture may be said to be given by William Janney, the boy who made his screen position as Mary Pickford's brother in "Coquette." Cast as older than he actually appears, young Janney perfects an illusion of age by his voice and mannerisms. His personality is easy and gracious and his talent entirely professional. What pathos and comedy the picture exhibits readily belong to him.

The villain who suddenly turns "white" through sympathy is portrayed by Ralfe Haroldo. Claire McDowell, George Irving and Mae Busch are responsible for appreciated bits.

The Million Dollar's list of stage varieties is long, but applause came often during the many acts. Edna Torrance and company took the limelight in a series of dances and songs. Among other contributors are Sands and Doon, "European athletic artists," and Billy, Blank and Fanchon.

Edward Horton Stars in Film Farce-Comedy

Edward Everett Horton, who has gained a reputation on the local stage as a talented farceur, stars in "Once a Gentleman," a film comedy, starting today at the California Theater. This picture is said to be replete with laughs.

Horton is seen as the perfect butler in the home of a multi-millionaire. His role is said to offer him a wide range of characterization.

James Cruze is the director and George F. Worts is responsible for the story. Lois Wilson, George Fawcett, Francis X. Bushman, Sr., and others appear in the cast.

TRIAL IS FILMED

A court trial in which a woman's life is at stake is pictured in Paramount's talking film of the Alice Duer Miller novel, "Manslaughter," which features Claudette Colbert and Frederic March.

'BOOP-DOOP' GIRL 'BOOPS' TO CONQUER

'Dangerous Nan McGrew,' Helen Kane, Gets Her Man in Lasky Show

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

Here's the boop-boopa-doop girl, little Miss Helen Kane, down at the Paramount Theater masquerading as "Dangerous Nan McGrew."

Most folks won't have much trouble recognizing her through her disguise for even though she does wear a cowgirl skirt and pack a great big gun, she finds time for some regulation "boop-boopa-dooping." (I hope I get these boops right.)

"Dangerous Nan McGrew" is a musical film with a nonsensical story—almost trivial, to be frank. Helen as Nan is a little girl with a medicine show. In fact, she's the show. Doc, the big fellow who sells the bottles of remedy, just does a lot of shouting and wears a checkered vest.

The medicine show wagon is rumbling through a snowy piece of country somewhere up in the great Northwest when a big double-barreled murderer attaches himself to it. Nan is all for giving this chap up to the police; so is Doc, but the man doesn't care about the idea and keeps poking guns in ribs.

In due time, the show gets to town on a Christmas Eve. Nan (Helen) "boops" and "boops" but they sell nary a bottle and it looks as if nobody is going to have a Christmas tree when young Eustace Macy (Stuart Erwin) takes a big fancy to Nan and gets her a job entertaining at his aunt's ball. Then the murderer complicates things by reverting to his trade. Well—

Not going any further with the story—the general idea should be clear, by this time—it may be stated that Miss Kane sings three, maybe four songs; she has some nice scenes with Erwin in the guise of her awkward, bashful suitor; and there's a lot of horseplay from Victor Moore and Frank Moran. Sometimes the picture is funny and sometimes it isn't.

Some of the fresh quality which is Miss Kane's on the stage is lost in the transference of her personality to the screen. On the whole, though, she is an interesting individual. Stuart Erwin was excellent in his wistful, blundering lover role, proving a good foil for the (yes, here it comes again) "boop-boopa-doop" antics. Malcolm St. Clair directed from a story by Charles Beaham and Garrett Fort.

Also on view this week is "Chumps," an Educational comedy featuring Franklin Pangborn and Marjorie Beebe. Pangborn, known in Los Angeles as an actor and producer for the stage, gives a nice performance. Then there's a travelogue, a Paramount novelty and Milton Charles at the organ.

UFA Picture to Open Today at Filmarte

A drama of power is said to be told in "The Lies of Nina Petrowna," the new UFA-Eric Pommer production that starts tonight at the Filmarte Theater for a week's showing.

"The Lies of Nina Petrowna" has been given a consistent and an elaborate setting and was photographed in Russia, the locale of the story.

Greta Garbo to Attend Opening of Vadja Play

Greta Garbo, who usually shuns first nights and gala openings, will attend the opening of "Fata Morgana," Ernest Vadja's continental drama, at the Hollywood Playhouse Monday evening, according to notice from the theater.

Miss Garbo has evinced great interest in Vadja's play and is reported to be eager to see Miss Else Ferguson in the vivid and emotional role of Mathilde.

COMPELLING FILM OPENS AT LOEW'S

"Good Intentions" Acted in Fine Manner; Perry Askam on Stage

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

It was the moon, coming into the shadow of Saturn, I think, which portended evil for David Cresson, that night. Thomas, Cresson's butler and astrological adviser, warned him so. But Cresson took a chance. He walked into the Club Nocturne, into Vincent Norton's private office, and a hail of lead caught him in the abdomen.

Cresson's footing grew insecure. He fell down the flight of steps outside Norton's office. Thomas, his butler and astrological adviser, lifted his head so that Cresson could speak.

"They ought to fix those stairs," he said, and died.

In the Club Nocturne, a symphonic arrangement of a popular tune ended brightly.

This is the finale, too, of "Good Intentions," the new film at Loew's State. It is a gripping finish to a gripping picture—one of those rare surprises which, with little advance fanfare, occasionally bursts upon our jaded senses in the movie houses. The intelligence and good taste it exhibits in all departments—writing, direction and performance—made it, for me, one of the major joys of a generally unexciting season. "Good Intentions" is a de luxe thriller.

The entire picture is played in a repressed key; andante in movement, it yet succeeds in conveying a sense of swiftness in word, and when required, in action. It is the story of a high-hatted crook who redeems himself in death; familiar, no doubt, but so exceptionally well told that its smoothly knit sequences have the feel of newness throughout. Edmund Lowe, in the role, does a refined piece of work: his flippancy, at first seeming insincere, is later recognized as part and parcel of the man, a rounding out of a glamorous and convincing portrait.

Marguerite Churchill has never been more charming than she is as the heroine of this. Regis Toomey, as her sweetheart, gives an aspect of pleasant heroism to his role without appearing to. Of the others, Henry Kolker is well-nigh perfection itself as Thomas, the faithful butler; Earle Foxe contributes the strangest and most memorable characterization of a jazz conductor, probably, that the screen has known; and the others, all good, are Owen Davis, Jr., Robert McWade, J. Carrol Naish, Pat Somerset, Georgia Cane and Eddie Gribbon. Only in Gribbon's sleep-walking adventure, I thought, is a forced note detectable.

William K. Howard, who directed his own story for Fox, may be credited on both counts. The film is often definitely cinematic in treatment, an ingenious blending of music and circumstance enhancing the suspense of the closing chapter, as well as the tenderness of the love scenes. Dialogue, by George Manker Watters, is crisp and subtle. "Good Intentions," in short, is a melodrama above the average.

The State program, indeed, runs to good things. Perry Askam, a favorite since his "Red Shadow" creation in "The Desert Song" here, received an ovation on his appearance. He sang the title piece and "One Alone" yesterday, to the delight of his auditors. Introduced apart from the Fanchon and Marco Idea, his engagement is by arrangement with Lillian Albertson.

"Green Devils" is the subject of the stage show. It abounds in colorful ensembles — a new routine or two. Comedy is overstressed and unfunny. "Peg Leg" Bates tap dancing, is featured.

News reels and a "Silly Symphony" cartoon are not to be minimized as other items.

NEON PROFITS ON UPGRADE

Increase in Common Cash Dividends in Prospect For Delaware Corporation Holders

BY K. W. SMITH

Sales volume of the Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Ltd., for the second quarter just closed will in all probability be only 10 per cent off from the corresponding period of last year while net profits due to greater operating efficiency will show an increase according to Paul D. Howse, president, who yesterday stated that he is satisfied that the cash dividend on the company's common stock would be increased by the first of next year.

Allowing for reduced prices, the sales volume in reality is 10 to 15 per cent ahead of last year, he explained. From statistical estimates it previously had been figured that the company six months ago would reach the point when its new business would approximate its maturing contracts, but the company is still writing more contracts than are expiring, with about 85 per cent of the expiring contracts being renewed.

Due to the many new developments in improved and additional uses of the Neon light, it is difficult to anticipate when the company's new business will only offset maturing contracts, and in Mr. Howse's opinion indications are now that such a point may never be reached. Prospects are highly favorable that the business from ornamental and indoor lights eventually will exceed the volume of the sign business.

The Claude Neon laboratories are now perfecting accessories for the low-voltage Neon lights which will produce brilliant natural colors in sunlight, and commercial production of these is expected by the first of the coming year.

MERGER DELAYED

Regarding the proposed merger of the corporation and the Electrical Products Corporation of Washington, Mr. Howse stated that it now appeared no action toward this end would be taken before the first of the year, as the Washington company was in the process of completing the financing of its Montana subsidiary. Likewise no move toward consolidation with the Colorado company is expected before next year.

Net earnings of the Oregon company, which was taken over as of January 1, last, are running substantially ahead of last year, Mr. Howse reported.

Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation has no bank loans, and has large cash reserves after absorbing the costs of branch factories recently established, according to the official.

DIVIDEND POLICY

The common stock is now on an annual basis of $1 cash and 6 per cent in stock. Last November John B. Miller, chairman of the board of the corporation, announced that it was the intention of the directors to increase the cash dividend consistent with conservative management, stating that as this cash payment is increased the stock dividend will probably be decreased. At that time Mr. Miller said that the common stockholders could be assured that there probably will never be any decrease of yield, but increase in cash dividends as applied will result in a net increase in the yield of the stock.

Gillette Razor Net Points Up

BOSTON, July 10. (Exclusive)—Gillette Safety Razor Company for the June quarter today reported net income of $2,642,022 after charges and taxes, equal to $1.20 a share on 2,205,000 shares, as against $2,184,348, or 98 cents a share on the same number of shares in the preceding quarter and $3,876,300, or $1.84 a share on 2,100,000 shares in the June, 1929, quarter.

For the six months ended June 30, last, net income was $4,806,370, equal to $2.18 a share on 2,205,000 shares, as against $8,407,518, or $4 a share on 2,100,000 shares in the first half of last year.

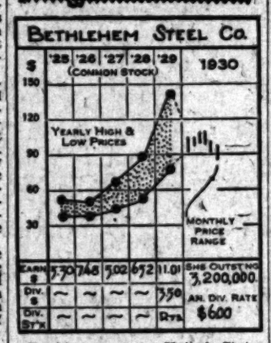
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

BETHLEHEM STEEL CO.



Ranking next to United States Steel in point of size, and controlling vast reserves of ore properties and raw materials, Bethlehem Steel manufactures a complete line of steel products. The company's shipbuilding operations have been considerably stimulated recently by large ship contracts that are expected to keep this unit busy for the next three years. Railway freight and passenger cars, rails, engines, machinery and tools are among the other important products manufactured. Through a program of expansion and improvements largely financed from earnings since 1923, the company has cut operating costs by more than $7 per ton.

December 31 balance sheet revealed an impregnable financial position with net working capital amounting to $179,245,000. Income for 1929 established a post-war record, being equal to $11.01 per share as against $6.52 in 1928 and $5.02 in 1927. For the first quarter earnings at $2.60 per share show a sharp decline from the last year's figure of $4.05, yet are well above the quarterly dividend requirements of $1.50.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded Debt	$114,285,570
7% Cum. Preferred Stock (par $100)	1,000,000 shares
Common Stock (no par)	3,200,000 shares

Current data: The proposed merger with Youngstown Sheet & Tube is being blocked by litigation of the Eaton interests who maintain that 91,000 shares of Youngstown stock voted in favor of the merger were not entitled to voting power because of recent issuance. If the merger is effected, substantial benefits should redound to both companies.

BAN PUT ON BROKER HOUSE

New York Exchange Gives Sutro Company Three-Year Suspension on "Wash Sales" Charge

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange's investigation of the pool operation in the stock of Manhattan Electric Supply Company resulted in the suspension today of the membership of the old San Francisco house of Sutro & Co., for three years.

The brokerage house was suspended for violation of the stock exchange rules in failure to exercise proper diligence in preventing "wash sales" by a customer of the firm's uptown New York office in Forty-fourth street.

The house was founded in 1858, but has been a member of the New York Stock Exchange only since January, 1929, when it absorbed the New York firm of Robertson & Co. It also is a member of the San Francisco and Los Angeles stock exchanges, and maintains offices in Los Angeles and Oakland, in addition to New York and San Francisco.

What appeared to be the collapse of a pool manipulation early in May, when Manhattan Electrical Supply crashed from $55.12 a share to $14, brought an investigation by Asst. Atty.-Gen. Watson Washburn, in charge of the State Bureau of Securities, and shortly thereafter an investigation by the stock exchange.

The customer, dealing through Sutro & Co., was identified by the firm as Charles H. McCarthy, against whom Mr. Washburn, as a result of his investigation, obtained a court order restraining him from further dealings in the stock. The order also restrained W. J. Goldsborough, Jr., and Frank Brown, Sutro partners, from permitting wash sales.

Speed Shown in Liquidation of Defunct Bank

Complete liquidation of the Pan-American Bank has been retarded pending the outcome of the so-called Merritt suit involving a claim of $1,055,441.96 for damages for an alleged breach of lease, Will C. Wood, Superintendent of Banks, announced yesterday. "While we can, of course, make no definite promise as to the total percentage of dividends to be paid, we have reason to believe that we shall be able to pay depositors in all departments of the bank in full," he said.

The bank has already paid a 100 per cent dividend in the trust department, 50 per cent in the commercial department and 30 per cent in the savings department. There is almost enough money to pay an additional 50 per cent in the commercial department and another 30 per cent in the savings department which is being held up pending the suit, he stated.

The savings department cannot be liquidated as rapidly as the commercial department because savings deposit funds are invested in real estate loans which cannot be collected until they are due. The State Banking Department has operated the liquidation with profits exceeding the expenses of the liquidation, including all legal expenses, Mr. Wood said.

Financing Unit Tells Earnings

NEW YORK, July 10.—American International Corporation, financing and holding company, for the six months ended June 30, last, today reported net income of $2,669,228 after interest and taxes, equal to $2.56 a share on 1,040,152 shares as compared with $2,381,480 or $2.38 a share on 999,600 shares in the first half of 1929.

June quarter net income was $1,427,783, or $1.37 a share, as against $1,176,253, or $1.17 a share in the same period last year.

BANK STOCK PRICES SHRINK

Decline Since High of November, 1929, Shown in Table of Eight New York Institutions

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, July 10.—Bank stocks have declined in price fully as much as the "blue chip" stocks, some more. New York bank stocks yield, on the average, about 3 per cent annually, in contrast to 1.3 per cent average for nine of the leading New York stocks at the high peak of 1929.

A bank stock carries a double liability. It, therefore, should earn the investor more than an industrial or public utility stock, which has no such contingent responsibility, but seldom does it.

Let us take eight New York bank stocks and see what a share of each is worth since the drop:

	1929 High Price	Yield	July 1, 1930 Price	Yield
First National	$2,250	1.7%	$465	2.2%
Guaranty Trust	1,260	1.7%	415	1.7%
Manhattan Co.	372	1.6%	108	1.7%
Chase National	280	1.4%	128	2.3%
National City	580	0.7%	138	2.9%
Bankers Trust	370	1.3%	118	2.5%
Irving Trust	300	1.3%	58	1.7%
Chemical Bank	136	1.5%	64	1.5%

Of these representative New York banks the stocks of the Bankers' Trust and the First National, yielding 2.2 per cent each, are the highest in price, while the Manhattan Company, yielding 3.7 per cent annually, is the cheapest in price.

A casual reading of the above list will show that bank stocks have surely lost "their hysteria value."

The New York Stock Exchange complains of quiet sessions, with many 1,500,000-share days recently, but its transactions so far in 1930—a total of 501,000,000 shares—compares very favorably with last year's record up to the same date, which was 564,000,000 shares.

How many shares a day must be traded in for stock exchange members to break even? On a turnover of 100 shares or more the brokerage charges both ways average about 40 cents a share. So on a 1,500,000-share day the total brokerage is about $600,000.

Is this enough for brokers to pay expenses? There are at least 1100 active New York Stock Exchange members. Of these many buy and sell for their own account and pay nothing but transfer charges. Possibly 40 per cent of the $600,000 is never paid out. If the balance, say $360,000, is divided among them the average would be around $350 a day.

But many of these houses have heavy overheads, with expenses running into several thousand dollars a day. One firm with western connections estimates that it must turn over 70,000 shares a day in order to break even.

"I should say it requires at least a 2,000,000-share day on the stock exchange for the members to break even," a veteran broker said yesterday.

That is why a 1,350,000-share day, such as yesterday, is considered a "liability" day by the vast majority of New York Stock Exchange members.

Beverly Hills Bank to Expand

Directors of the First National Bank of Beverly Hills have called a special meeting of stockholders to vote on a proposal to increase the capital stock $250,000 to bring the total capital, surplus and undivided profits accounts to $1,000,000, Richard L. Hargreaves, president, announced yesterday.

The bank has made four increases in its capital account within the past two and one-half years, Mr. Hargreaves stated.

DRIFT OF STOCK VALUES UPWARD

Advance Continues for Third Consecutive Day

Timid Bears Quickly Routed in Opening Skirmish

Substantial Gains Registered at Market Close

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—The largest rally of the month lifted stocks 2 to 12 points today in more active trading. It was the third day in succession the list closed higher, a phenomenon not seen since late in May.

An intensive bear drive after the irregularly higher opening brought out declines of 1 to 5 points, but the attack was short lived and the advance was soon back in its stride. During the late trading several large blocks of a few popular trading issues changed hands on a rising trend, suggesting the covering movement had been accelerated by the resistance of the last few days. Wall street heard reports one or two prominent operators were taking the long side of the market. Rumors of a large banking pool, running as high as $100,000,000, were discredited.

Bonds continued their advance. Prime railroad liens were strong.

The government crop report, issued after the close, failed to disclose much of a variation from forecasts. The winter wheat yield was placed 20,000,000 bushels below last year, as of the 1st inst., and 7,000,000 above the five-year average.

The decline of 91,163 tons in United States Steel's backlog was about as expected. This cut, reflecting the reduction in specifications during June, brought the unfilled tonnage total to 3,968,064.

LOANS DECLINE

The $16,000,000 drop in brokers' loans—it was the fifth successive weekly reduction—brought the total down to $3,203,000,000, or $25,000,000 less than the 1929 low.

Total borrowings of Stock Exchange members against stock collateral on the 1st inst. was equal to 5.83 per cent of the market value of listed shares, a decline of 0.50 per cent during June when the quoted value of all listed stocks diminished more than $11,000,000,000.

The morning selling movement coincided with the announcement that a brokerage firm had been suspended for three years for infractions of the trading rules. Air Reduction, Johns-Manville and National Cash Register broke to new lows for the year, while United States Steel and American Can yielded a point or two. The underlying firmness of the market leaders, however, discouraged the bear faction and the list moved upward under the leadership of the rails.

RAIL ISSUE SOARS

Norfolk and Western closed 12 points higher. Atchison, at 221 3-4, was up more than 6 on the day and more than 27 points above the year's low, reached about ten days ago. Union Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio rallied 5 to 6.

Air Reduction converted a 5-point loss into an advance of nearly 3. Allied Chemical, off more than 4, closed 9 points higher. American Can gained 3 net; United States Steel, 2 3-8; Eastman Kodak and J. I. Case, 8; Westinghouse Electric, 5; North American and Standard Gas and Electric, 4, and Standard Oil of New Jersey, Public Service of New Jersey, American Power and Light, Houston Oil and American Telephone about 3 each. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Radio were particularly active and their strength was accompanied by reports operators frequently identified with the stocks were again working for an advance.

Foreign exchanges were firm.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Traders Demonstrate Ability to Move Stocks Upward as Bull Forces Take Command

Initiating a brisk buying movement traders on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday succeeded in causing a general rally of prices. This display of strength was accompanied by a contention of brokers that distressed liquidation has been completed and that a more confident tone may now be maintained for the time being at least. Rumors from New York of a revival of pool operations for the advance stimulated the undertone.

Transamerica was again the center of operations with a turnover of 12,600 shares. Bear forces renewed their attack on the stock at the opening and succeeded in forcing the issue down fractionally to another new bottom at 25 1-8. They were routed, however, when the general list turned upward, and the stock rallied 1 3-8 points to end high for the day at 26½, up 7-8 net.

The oil shares all showed improvement in sympathy with the restored confidence in the market as a whole, despite the continuance of the gasoline war which is believed to be causing many refiners to run in the red. Standard of California advanced a full point to close high for the day at 61½, a new top for the current movement. Union Oil added another ½ and Union Associates, 3-4 to finish at 41½ and 41 1-4, respectively. Rio Grande sold ex-dividend at 17 3-4, which is 1-4 point down from Wednesday's close but which actually represents a gain of 1-4 after allowing for the 50-cent dividend. Richfield swung up ½ to 18 1-8.

Pacific Finance, depressed Wednesday, rallied 2 points to 77 on brisk trading and Seaboard National Bank recovered 1 5-8 points to 45 1-4. Security-First National held firm to 102½ on light sales and International Re-Insurance advanced a point to 39.

Edison moved up 1 point to 56 3-4 and the preferred stocks of Goodyear Textile and Goodyear Rubber gained 1½ points each.

Sales totaled 22,084 shares valued at $761,740; previous day, 40,805 shares valued at $1,280,188.

Wheat Futures Point Down on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—Kansas and Indiana reports of bigger yields than expected, together with predictions that government crop estimates would prove bearish, pulled wheat prices downward late today. Likelihood of cooler temperatures Northwest, promising some relief where wheat has been suffering from prolonged heat and drought, tended also to induce many traders to switch to the selling side of the wheat market. On every dip in prices, however, buying broadened, and special notice was taken of dispatches saying wheat crops are almost completely ruined in Montana from Havre to Great Falls.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 1¼@1½c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn showed 1c off to 1c up, oats ¼@½c advance and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 12c.

Downward swings of the wheat market during the late transactions received much of their impetus from advices that Northwest Kansas points were reporting yields of forty-one to fifty-five bushels per acre. Dollars prices also stated much larger returns from the wheat harvest than had been looked for appeared general.

Corn showed independent strength, but finally developed weakness, going to downturns in wheat values. Oats were responsive to a good cash demand.

For the most part, provisions were lower, affected by downturns in the value of hogs.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—The price of investment bonds moved upward in brisk fashion today. Railroad mortgage bonds again provided the leadership although all sections of the list, with the single exception of United States government, profited from the strong demand for fixed interest bearing securities.

Activity which has shown a gradual increase each day this week, received another boost and the volume of trading passed $11,000,000.

Railroad bonds found hearty support on the upswing and the competition was so keen the progress of many issues was recorded in points instead of fractions. A new list of high prices for 1930 was made and the averages for 10 rails showed the present price level but three tenths of a point under the high of the year established last March.

Atchison General 4s established a new year's high with a ½ point gain and the convertible 4½s soared 2 points. Baltimore was joined by many other issues. Among them being B. & O. Park 4½s, up 1½; Chicago Northwestern 5s up 3¼ and Southern Pacific Collateral 4s.

The averages showed utilities surpassed the previous high mark for the year established Monday. American Telephone 5s of 1960 and 1965 sold at a new top for the year.

Activity in the foreign bond section increased and European bonds were in special demand.

The United States government group was the dull spot in the market. Liberty first 4¼s was the only traded issue which did not close lower.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—After some resettlement in the first hour of trading, curb stocks turned upward today and on the whole made the best progress of the week.

Trading was dull, with total sales of 475,300 shares only moderately above yesterday's, but short covering in the active issues was fairly active. There seemed to be no cause for the raise except the comparative stability and apparently sold out condition of the market the past two days.

Transamerica was off to the early trading, selling off 2½ points to 22, a new low. The principal market for this issue is in San Francisco, and pressure against it coincided with the unsettling influence of the announcement of suspension by the stock exchange of Bunte & Company, old San Francisco house. The stock later rallied 2¾.

Utilities and oils led the rally. Electric Bond, American and Foreign Power and Light warrants, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Kentucky Gas and Transmission rose 2 to 4 points. United Light A and American Superpower rose a point or so. Niagara Hud. United 7 and Electric Bond & Share Pfd. Cities Service close up a fraction. The natural gas stocks were firm to strong. Columbia rising more than 2 points.

The industrials were dull and sluggish, some of the comparatively inactive issues pointing to new lows. Norwich Pharmacal dropped 13½ points to 70.

Of the components of Transamerica, the other holding company and investment trust stocks mostly worked higher. Goldman Sachs rose nearly 2 points.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the bid.

MAN IN EAST SOUGHT FOR THEFT HERE

Albany Suspect Linked to Pacific National Bank Hold-up Last Year

An 11-months-old bank robbery was solved yesterday with the identification by Detective Lieutenant Malina of Paul Marsh, alias Andrew F. Taylor, in custody in Albany, N. Y., as the bandit who held up employees in the Pacific National Bank branch at Forty-seventh street and Vermont avenue August 7, 1929, and escaped with nearly $1000 in cash. The identification was made through police photographs, Malina said.

Arrangements are being made to bring Marsh here for trial. He is held in Albany, Malina stated, on a petty-theft charge. Besides the robbery charge Marsh is wanted here for assault as the result of his attack upon Ralph Vaillkett, taxicab driver, whose cab he hired to take him to the bank. After the robbery, Malina said, Marsh ran out of the bank and ordered Vaillkett out of the cab. When the latter resisted Marsh is said to have struck him several times, stripped him of his cap and coat, and driven away alone in the cab.

Ban on Street Beggars Asked by Merchants

The Broadway Association has appealed to city authorities for action toward eliminating organized begging from the downtown streets. J. Settell, secretary, announced yesterday. A check-up, it was pointed out, reveals that no less than three and frequently more specialists are to be found on Broadway from Fourth to Eighth streets during the business hours of any day, and that alms received average $1 per hour.

"These beggars have long been a matter of sarcastic and bitter comment on the part of visitors to this city," reads a communication the association has addressed to Mayor Porter, City Prosecutor Nix and Acting Police Chief Steckel. "The preying upon human sympathy, as it is now conducted, is the most annoying feature of our main thoroughfare."

Wife's Charges Bring Divorce

"Ashamed of her as his wife," Mrs. Tess Nelson yesterday quoted her husband, Lee O. Nelson, from whom Superior Judge Smith granted her a divorce. Mrs. Nelson said her husband left her seven times and that he falsely accused her of undue intimacy with a man cousin of his.

"Once he threatened me with an auto crank, and then hit me with his hat," testified Mrs. Nelson. They were married June 25, 1904, and separated June 6, last. Attorney Charles Hedgcock represented Mrs. Nelson.

SCANDAL HALTS BERMAN'S TRIAL

Woman on Jury Panel Tells of Bribe Attempt

Judge Orders Box Emptied After Hearing Tale

Intimidation Move Charged to Louis Berman

Trial of Jacob Berman, "bright boy" of the Julian case, closed its fifth week in Superior Judge Schauer's court in frantic fashion yesterday when a prospective woman juror took the witness stand and declared she had been approached by a would-be jury briber.

The woman's testimony caused Attorney Ford to dismiss from further service in the case a jury of seven women and three men that had been selected after an all-day investigation, to hear the evidence against Berman.

The woman who made the charges from the witness stand was Mrs. Mary E. Walters, 1323 South Arapahoe street, a regular juror on the panel serving Judge Schauer's court.

FIRST OF OFFER

Before the witness stand at the request of the court, she testified she went home last night about 5:30 p.m., parked her automobile standing in front of her home, and a little while after she came out to water the lawn she was approached by a man who, she presumed, had been in the car.

"He asked if my name was Mrs. Walters and then if I had started on my vacation yet," stated Mrs. Walters. "I thought it was funny a stranger was interested in my vacation and said so. Then he said, 'Well, you are a juror in Department 21, aren't you?' I could see a long vacation and make no reply.

Mrs. Walters asserted that she told him that if he did not leave her premises at once she would call a policeman and that he had better heed her warning. However, she said that when she took her seat in Judge Schauer's courtroom next morning with the other jurors to be examined as prospective jurors, she noticed her interrogator of the day before twice enter the courtroom door and then exit.

TIED TO BERMAN

"Have you seen this man talk to anyone connected with this case?" asked Judge Schauer.

"Yes," said Mrs. Walters. "I know who it was."

Mrs. Walters indicated Louis Berman, brother of the man on trial, who was seated near his brother at the end of the counsel table. During testimony, Mrs. Walters said that she had seen the man talking to and had observed her in conversation with Louis Berman on different occasions. She declared she first saw the suspected intimidator in Judge Schauer's court room a week ago while another case was in progress and that he was then not next to her while she was to be examined.

GUARD TESTIFIES

When Mrs. Walters left the stand, Deputy U. S. Johnson, McNeil Island prison guard who had been under guard ever since he was brought back to trial, took the stand and testified that he had been in charge of his prisoner at all times; that Berman has held, with his brother, since Berman arrived in Los Angeles, and that he had not instructions with Counsel to the effect that Berman was not to be allowed to talk to anyone.

Ralph Yerke, clerk of the court, took the stand, and declared he had received no request having been made for the names or addresses of the jurors in the box and that he had not himself asked if they had been approached and all replied in the negative.

The testimony was concluded, Defender Vercos, who is representing Berman in the absence of Public Defender Fredericks, addressed the court and stated that any action the court might take in regard to discharging the jury would be concurred in by himself and Berman. Dep. District Attorney Hartzman, in charge of the prosecution, also said he would not question the court saw fit in dismissing his position on the matter. Judge Schauer declared that he had confidence in the integrity of the Public Defender and his assistant, and had no desire to question or aspersion on the character of this jury, but that the duty of a court is to give a trial to both the defendant and the people free from prejudice.

BUILDING OF GREAT ROAD PREDICTED

Automobile Club Field Man Speaks at Chamber Foreign Trade Dinner

"The International Pacific Highway from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, is a definitely assured project, and it will be completed within very few years; of that I feel certain."

This declaration was made last night by Carl McStay, field secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California and leader of its road-survey trip into Mexico several months ago, at a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce, which was one of the first of a series of events arranged by the Chamber to keep alive the interest in foreign trade.

As a result of the Auto Club's survey trip, Mr. McStay said, there will be a conference in Los Angeles this fall attended by representatives of every State in Mexico, at which definite arrangements for the financing of the building of the road through Mexico are expected to be made. "And," he told the diners, "within five years you should be able to drive from Los Angeles to Mexico City."

A survey in connection with the project has just been made from Vancouver to a point 850 miles north, he said, and the Auto Club has received definite assurance from the Premier of British Columbia of the building of the road from Vancouver to the Alaskan border.

Other speakers at last night's dinner included James H. Smiley of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Clarence H. Matson, manager of the foreign commerce department of the Chamber of Commerce; J. Krasck, of the Sillers Paint and Varnish Company; F. O. Wallschlaeger of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and E. G. Witt of the Braun Corporation. Grover C. Gearhart, export manager of the Hammond Lumber Company, presided.

Consideration of protests against the opening, extending and laying out of Ninety-fifth street between Wilmington avenue and Beach street was continued by the City Council yesterday until the 28th inst.

SOUTHLAND GAS WAR CONTINUES

Prices in Northern Section Cut to 5 Cents

Gov. Young Refuses to Take Hand in Controversy

State May Lose Large Sum Because of Fight

The gasoline war continued yesterday the entire length of the Pacific Coast with new low price levels being reached. At Fresno, dispatches quoted 6-cent gas and at Tacoma it was reported that 5 cents a gallon was the current price during the day.

Besides the spectacular drop in many cities, other major developments included the refusal of Gov. Young to interfere and the reported investigation under way by the Federal Trade Commission. State Controller Riley declared potential failure of small refiners threatens the State with a loss of $1,000,000 in revenue.

In Los Angeles Standard Oil officials declared they were selling gas from tank wagons at 12½ cents and that most of the major companies were getting the same amount. Prices ranged as low as 10 cents. Six independent companies have pushed the price to 19.5 and are holding there steadily. In many places their stations are opposite ones where "8 for 90" display signs are in evidence. According to officials of the major companies they have not yet been invited to attend a conference proposed by President Austin of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

NEW LOW AT BAY CITY

A new low of 8 cents was marked up at San Francisco last night. The Sacramento Valley average is reported to be about 7.5 cents. Theodore Trivett of the Fire Prevention Bureau, took the joy out of life of some of the gas hoarders who are buying in at low prices by announcing that any quantity more than five gallons must be stored in an approved container and approved containers do not include bathtubs, he said.

Independent dealers in San Francisco prepared to telegraph Atty.-Gen. Mitchell in Washington, hitting the government investigation of price juggling which was started last year and blaming the laxity of the administration for the present war.

Tank-wagon attacks on service stations at Fresno yesterday, according to dispatches, were nothing short of disastrous. For the first time during the gas war prices ranged from 5 to 9 cents with no armistice in sight. Some dealers predict it will drop to 3 cents, the State tax.

At Tacoma a major distributing company, selling yesterday at a retail price of 7.5 cents, plans to cut prices another cent today, it was stated. Indications were that the price will drop to 3 cents, well-informed ones stated. At San Francisco the prices ranged from 10 to 14 cents.

PRICES CUT TO 10 CENTS

At the Los Angeles offices of the Texaco and Union prices of 16.5 cents for tank wagon, less 4 cents, were quoted yesterday with no indication of change, according to officials.

"One or two places in Los Angeles are selling major product at 10 cents," said an oil official here yesterday. "Prices have gone up a couple of cents in Hollywood, while on North Broadway prices are sagging to 11 cents."

The Macmillan Petroleum Company, which some time ago announced a return to 19 1-2 cents per gallon, said that five other independent companies have joined them in this price. They are the St. Helens Refining Company, the Hercules Gas Company, the Western Oil and Refining Company, the Edington Gas Company and the United States Refining Company, according to Macmillan officials.

Prices at San Diego, according to dispatches, indicate major company product is selling for 14 cents and "bootleggers" are getting as low as 12 cents. At Escondido and Ocean Beach a group is selling gas for 13 cents. In National City, Richfield gas is selling for 13 cents. Local tank-wagon prices remained at 17 cents in San Diego with 3 cents allowed as margin to dealers.

SOUTH HAS YOUNG APOLOGY

Governor Admits Mistreatment in Matter of Roads at Central Committee Meeting

Admission that the south had not been treated fairly in at least one matter during his administration was made by Gov. Young in an address last night to more than 400 members of the Republican County Central Committee at the Elks Temple in Alhambra.

It is in the matter of building secondary highways that the Governor admitted the southern half of the State had been neglected and he excused the neglect on the ground that the necessary engineering data had not been available. The data are now, or soon will be available, however, the Governor promised, and in the next two years he said, at least 600 miles of secondary highway will be built in this portion of the State instead of the 400 miles which it was originally planned to build at this time.

Other southern complaints of neglect and discrimination were not covered by the Governor in his speech other than in a general promise that within the next four years the south will receive from the State government four times as much as it has within any previous eight years. He did not state that this promise was conditional on his re-election, although that was obviously the implication.

No direct reference was made by the Governor to the resolution adopted several weeks ago by the Central Committee in which he was censured for the letter in which he besought support for his candidacy on a bipartisan basis, but at the outset of his address he made a fervent defense of his Republicanism, pointing out not only that he is a Republican by inheritance but asserting that he has ever worked faithfully for the interests of his party.

It had been assumed that Young supporters in the committee would make some attempt last night to have the resolution of censure rescinded or at least softened in some manner, but no such attempt was made, although one of his supporters, Albert Sherman, had pre-

SURF DRILLING BAN DENIED

Attorneys of Lewis Stone Begin New Fight on Venice Oil Projects After Setback

Fresh efforts to prevent oil well drilling in Venice surf were made yesterday when attorneys for Lewis Stone, film actor, obtained from Presiding Judge Doran an order to show cause, after Superior Judge Bowron had dismissed injunction proceedings brought by the actor. At the same time Judge Doran denied a temporary restraining order.

Attorney Baldwin Robertson, representing Stone, appeared in Judge Bowron's court, where argument had been set on the actor's injunction plea to restrain the city from entering into certain leases on tide lands owned by the city. The tide lands in question abut the city-owned beach at Venice. City Attorney Wrener, and Loren A. Butts, deputy, appeared to represent the city.

CONTINUANCE DENIED

Robertson asked for a continuance of the case, saying that he was engaged in another important case and that the city's legal representatives had had the case set for yesterday, seventeen days after filing of the suit, permitting him no time to prepare properly. He announced that he had made a motion for a continuance, which had been denied by Presiding Judge Doran.

Judge Bowron denied a continuance.

"Since this case involves the welfare of the people, and since much expert testimony must be adduced, we would rather have it dismissed now than proceed unprepared," said Robertson.

On the plaintiff's motion, Judge Bowron dismissed the injunction hearing without prejudice.

Robertson promptly filed a new complaint against the City Playground and Recreation Commission, reciting the same assertions as contained in the previous complaint.

He then went before Judge Doran, who granted an order to show cause, returnable on the 17th inst., but denied a temporary restraining order.

Stone's petition asserts that the proposed drilling for oil in the surf off Venice city beach violates State laws, one of which is cited. It is from Chapter 536, Session Laws of 1929, and is titled as follows:

"An act to add new sections to the act of May 25, 1921, as amended, relating to the withholding and denial of the right or privilege of applying or bidding for, receiving, obtaining or being granted permits or leases to prospect for or take oil, gas, or other mineral in, upon or from tide overflowed or submerged lands and beds of navigable rivers or lakes belonging to the State or any political subdivision thereof."

Stone's interest in opposing the proposed surf oil leases lies in the fact that he has a fine residence facing the sea at Venice.

Following the court action applicants renewed their efforts to obtain a lease. It was revealed that Attorney Stuart M. Salisbury's application is in behalf of the Pacific Western Oil Company, which took over the Doheny holdings and is rated at more than $65,000,000.

In the absence of Commissioner McCulloch, the commission referred the matter to a committee of the

WILBUR TO GIVE TALK AT JUBILEE

Secretary Accepts Bid to Boulder Dam Bill and Census Celebration

Secretary of the Interior Wilbur will deliver the principal address at the Chamber of Commerce jubilee luncheon the 29th inst. at the Biltmore in celebration of the approval of the Boulder Dam bill and Southern California's 112 per cent population increase as shown by the recent Federal census.

The Secretary's acceptance of an invitation to speak at the event was conveyed in a telegram received yesterday by President John C. Austin of the chamber, who will preside. Northcutt Ely, executive assistant to Mr. Wilbur, also will be present, the wire stated.

President Austin said yesterday that the luncheon will be one of the most notable affairs of the sort ever sponsored by his organization. An attendance of nearly 1000 is anticipated, including prominent figures in almost every walk of life from all parts of Southern California. Invitations to presidents and members of 200 chambers of commerce to attend were mailed yesterday by the local chamber, with the end in view that every section of the Southland take an active part in the demonstration.

Two Reported to Have Sought Thrills in Fires

For a thrill Alfred Lara, 19 years of age, and Joe Martinez, of Van Nuys, admitted yesterday that they set fires which destroyed three dwellings in the Van Nuys district recently, according to Investigator Wolfe of the fire department. They will appear for preliminary hearing on arson charges in Division Three of the Municipal Court today.

The arrest was made following an investigation of fifteen suspicious fires in that neighborhood within the last month.

FAMED BRITISH NAVAL MAN HERE FIRST TIME

Vice-Admiral Vernon H. S. Haggard, C.B., C.M.G., the British navy's leading authority on submarine and cruiser tactics, paid his first visit to California yesterday aboard H.M.S. Despatch, light cruiser flagship of the North American and West Indies squadron, of which force he has just assumed command. The Despatch heralded her arrival by firing the national salute of twenty-one guns, answered, gun for gun, by the shore batteries at Fort MacArthur.

VICE-ADMIRAL HAGGARD

Admiral Haggard, known throughout the Royal Navy as "Versatility" Haggard, because of the distinction with which he performed his widely diversified duties during the World War, has been decorated by the King with both the Order of Commander of the Bath and of Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. During the war he commanded successively the Seventh Submarine Flotilla, which operated out of the Firth of Forth, North Scotland; commanded the battleship Hibernia, first with the Grand Fleet in the North Sea and later at the bombardment and evacuation of the Dardanelles, and in 1918 he was captain of the converted cruiser Highflyer, famed for her death duel with the German converted cruiser Cap Trafalgar. After the signing of the Armistice he commanded the British naval forces that patrolled the Danube.

FORD PLANT WILL BUILD ADDITION

New Unit of Long Beach Factory to Cost $150,000 and Increase Pay Roll 700

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 10.—Construction of an addition to the Ford Motor plant in the harbor district for the manufacture of body parts will start within thirty days, it was announced here today.

The new unit will cost $150,000 and will increase the force of employees by 700.

Application for a building permit for that part of the addition within Long Beach has been filed with the city building department.

The greater part of the addition will be within the city of Los Angeles. The building will be 480 feet by eighty-six feet.

Operation of the new unit is scheduled for February 1, 1931. Fenders, wheels, gears and running boards will be manufactured in the new addition.

Magazine has Pages Devoted to Southland

Beauty spots of Southern California are represented by both text and pictures in the summer number of Western Travel News, an ambitious edition of the magazine sponsored by the Missouri Pacific Lines. Several pages are devoted exclusively to the Southland, the city proper being termed "Capital of Sunshine Land."

"No trip to the Pacific Coast," reads one of the articles in part, "is complete for any tourist without a visit of from a few hours to a few months in Los Angeles; and no matter how long one remains there is always something to claim the interest or delight the eyes." All accompanying illustrations are in color.

COLISEUM FUNDS ASKED

Porter and Austin Urge Council to Provide Money to Complete Seating Capacity to 100,000

Mayor Porter and President Austin of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged the City Council to appropriate the money at once to complete the enlargement of the Coliseum. The Board of Public Works recently asked the Council to authorize the work. The matter has been referred to the Finance Committee, which will consider it next Monday.

The work on Unit A, the reconstruction of portions of the bowl, is now nearing completion. It is Unit B, the construction of additional seats up to 100,000 capacity, which is now under consideration. Mayor Porter, in the budget, allocated $227,000 from the permanent improvement funds as the city's share of Unit B. The Council struck out all allocations of special funds but the money still is available. The city and county share the expense.

"This matter is quite important," wrote Mayor Porter, "as the contemplated work can probably be done now at a much lower expense than later, due to the fact that the contractor is on the job and some of the work naturally dovetails together."

NEW PLANE SET FOR TOKIO HOP

Bromley Takes Off Here Tomorrow or Monday

Harold Gatty, Navigator, to be Copilot

Emsco Craft Tested With 1020 Gallons Gasoline

Lieut. Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty will take off from here either tomorrow or Monday morning for Tacoma, Wash., in the secretly constructed Emsco monoplane, City of Tacoma, in which they hope to be the first men to span the Pacific from Tacoma to Tokio in a nonstop flight.

The flight will possibly start from the Long Beach Municipal Ariport, but Lieut. Bromley was not certain as to that yesterday.

The giant ship was given a successful tryout Wednesday with full load of 1020 gallons of gas. The flight was made at Muroc Lake, where the third City of Tacoma crashed recently and killed the pilot.

"The plane took off in less than a mile," Bromley said yesterday. "We are very enthusiastic about it. Under adverse weather conditions we rose to 2500 feet easily. We are installing radio and testing the compass and as soon as that has been completed we will be ready to leave. We are giving the radio a careful test and will continue to try it out on the Tacoma flight."

THREE PLANES LOST

The craft is the fourth built for the flight in two years. Three other planes of a different make crashed, one with Bromley at the controls at Tacoma in July, 1929, another on a test flight here two months later, and the third, at Muroc Dry Lake two months ago. A test pilot was killed in the third smash.

Undaunted by this series of crashes, Bromley ordered his present plane a month ago, determined to fly to victory over the 4778 miles of sea and tiny islands that separate him from his announced goal.

Plans on the other three ships called for him making the daring hop alone, but his fourth City of Tacoma is built with dual controls and Gatty will accompany him as copilot, navigator and radio operator.

The latter is an Australian, 27 years of age, who developed the Weems system of aerial navigation, and instructed Bromley when the pilot was making preparations for a solo crossing.

FLIGHT TESTS MADE

Flight tests on the giant high-winged monoplane, powered by a 425-horsepower Wasp motor, were made early this week. The craft is the same type that Col. Pablo Sidar, Mexican flyer, succeeded in getting off the ground with 1000 gallons of gasoline aboard on an attempted nonstop flight over Central and South America. Sidar and a companion were dashed to death when struck by a tropical storm after they had been in the air several hours.

Bromley's new craft is considered one of the best equipped for transoceanic flying ever manufactured. It was built especially for the flight and contains every modern instrument for blind flying and navigating.

Tanks that hold a total of 1020 gallons of gasoline are built into the sixty-foot-long wing and the roomy fuselage. Wing tanks hold 212 gallons of this. The fuel is pumped to the wing gravity tanks by a motor-driven automatic pump, with a hand "wobble" pump in reserve in case the automatic system fails.

TEAM WORK

The piloting compartment of the closed ship is at the nose, with two sets of wheel and rudder controls side by side. Between the piloting compartment and a radio and navigating room aft in the fuselage are the giant fuel tanks, with room enough so that either of the men can slide back and forth between the control and radio compartments.

Gatty will be in charge of navigation and radio. It will be up to him to keep a check on the plane's position as it progresses over the Great Circle route, just north of the ocean liner track from Tacoma to the Orient. He will operate the short-wave sending and receiving radio set to check the flyers' position with boats and keep radio stations informed of the plane's progress.

Bromley also can operate the radio and can employ Gatty's system of navigation, but the former's primary duty will be up front—keeping the great orange-winged plane on an even keel and pointing unerringly toward its distant goal. It

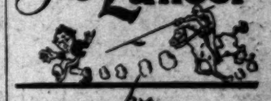
The Lancer



by Harry Carr

CONSIDERING that the movie producers write and picture nothing else but the noble art of love and the stern business of romance, they seem to know singularly little about it.

For instance, Cecil B. De Mille—in "Dynamite"—tries to make us believe that a gently-bred girl moves down into the tenements, marries an ignorant, egotistical roughneck and lives happily forever. I'll bet Mr. De Mille a nickel that, in the whole range of his wide experience with life and his exceedingly acute observation thereof, he cannot recall one single such case.

"WOMAN TRIUMPHANT"

In this Nancy Carroll picture, "Dance of Life," they try to tell us that a sweet, earnest little girl can throw her life away on a drunken vaudeville hoofer and find happiness.

In "Chasing Rainbows," that real romance consists of a girl waiting around while a sap-headed actor makes love to every girl he knows; and is thrown down by all of them; finally to find blissful happiness in gratefully accepting the job of consolation-prize wife.

In all the modern movies the girl seems to stick around just yearning and yearning, or else rushing to grab the guy by main force and violence. The impassioned lover always ends by giving up with a sigh, as though to say: "Oh, shucks, it just ain't no use; she'll get me one way or another."

SOCIETY CIRCLES

And also, where do the movies get their angles on high society?

Their idea of the upper stratum of our social life seems to be a division into two approximately equal parts; drunken young men who wreck automobiles, and young married ladies who have "affairs" with other men.

I know a lot of society people—just as I know a lot of crooks, prize fighters, preachers, bankers, authors and actors—and movie producers. But I have yet to meet any society people like that.

Most of the society-bred husbands I know bore you stiff by telling you how wonderful their wives are and the women try to propaganda you into acting as some kind of a committee to save the starving natives of Beluchistan.

WILD PARTIES

I have an awful feeling that most of these wild "society" parties you hear about are really the lighter side of the lives of taxi-dancers cutting up with hangers-on from the fight camps and other sheiks who cross the street and hide their eyes every time they pass a public employment office.

TRY US ONCE!

Generally speaking, wouldn't the producers of movies do better—and perhaps check the downward swoop of the box-office returns—if they took a chance and showed life, for once or twice, as it really is; not as we used to read about in the paper-back novels of Bertha M. Clay?

Small Boy Demonstrates How He Pushed Little Playmate to His Death in River

LAD BELIEVED MENTAL CASE

Pair Went for Swim in Shallow Channel

Youngster Tells of Holding Child's Head Under

Scene Witnessed by Neighbor Leads to Questioning

Not only a confession, but also a demonstration, was asserted by police last night to have been given by La Verne McDonald, 7-year-old son of respected Long Beach parents, of the manner in which it is charged he repeatedly pushed Jimmy Ellis, 3, also of Long Beach, into the waters of the flood-control channel at Long Beach last Wednesday, a few hours before the little victim's nude, bruised body was found.

As a reported climax to the grewsome exhibition, young McDonald, a pleasant-featured boy with mild manners, re-enacted the so-called struggle he is said to have had with little Jimmy.

HELD HEAD UNDER WATER

"After shoving him back several times into the water I held his head under to see how long he could stay down," George Robinson, juvenile officer, quoted him as saying. Finally, in further proof of his story, the boy is said to have pointed out the footprints he and little Jimmy had made while the latter made ineffective efforts to crawl out of the pool, and his attacker as persistently, it is charged, pushed him back.

Young McDonald, who was questioned last November concerning the beating of another 3-year-old boy, was declared to have started his confession in the Ellis case soon after being brought from Long Beach to Juvenile Hall in Los Angeles for questioning by representatives of Dist.-Atty. Fitts and for observation by alienists.

MAY HAVE SUFFOCATED

At the same time horror was added to the case by the findings of Assistant Autopsy Surgeon Webb at the Moreland Mortuary, Compton, where he performed an autopsy on the dead child.

Dr. Webb found there was little water in the little victim's lungs and none in his stomach, and that death may have been caused by "breath having been shut off" before the child fell for the last time into the water. The autopsy surgeon found that the child had an enlargement in the lower part of the throat, and added this might have suddenly swelled and so caused suffocation.

Further evidence as to how the boy actually died is expected to be revealed at the inquest to be started at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon by Deputy Coroner Montfort at the Moreland Mortuary.

WANT BOY REMOVED

Meantime, police announced, residents in the neighborhood at Long Beach where the McDonald boy lives, sent more than a score of requests by telephone that whatever may be found to be the facts in the case, the boy be removed to some institution where he will be assured of proper medical care, and at the same time have no opportunity of further harming children.

The McDonald boy, who lives at 6368 California avenue, Long Beach, made his first asserted confession of having thrown the Ellis child into the water to his father, L. R. McDonald, who had for hours questioned him in an effort to force him to tell the truth.

Though shocked and heartbroken, the father at once communicated with George Robinson and Mrs. Elaine Matthews, juvenile officers working on the case under the direction of George Newland, who took the boy into custody.

"Yes, I did shove Jimmy in, but I did it only in fun," the McDonald boy is quoted as having said before launching into his asserted complete confession. "We'd gone swimming, and I didn't mean to hurt him."

DENIES BEATING HIM

When little Jimmy, voluntarily or involuntarily, went on the fatal swim he wore a one-piece striped blue coverall, but this had either been taken from Jimmy, or removed by him himself before entering the water. The McDonald boy insisted he did not disrobe Jimmy, but that the child did it himself.

He was questioned about the small bruises found on the dead boy's body, but merely insisted over and over that he had done nothing more than shove the child into the water in a spirit of play, and had not harmed him in any way.

WENT WITH BROTHER

Little Jimmy Ellis was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ellis of 5821 Olive street, and, according to the facts gleaned yesterday by the officers investigating the case, had gone to Houghton Park in Long Beach on Wednesday with his brother, William Robert Ellis, 15.

"We played around in the park for a time, and then I began reading a book," little Jimmy's brother said. "I didn't notice what Jimmy was doing, but when I got through reading my book I found that he was not around anywhere.

"I didn't think much of it, thinking he'd gone home by himself.'"

The boy added he hadn't seen young McDonald enter the park, which is a city-owned tract, but the latter is asserted to have confessed that it was there he first saw little Jimmy.

WATER NOT DEEP

"He was playing around, and I asked him to come along and go swimming," young McDonald is quoted as having told the officers. "It's only a little way to the pool where we went (in fact, the place is under the Artesia Boulevard bridge, about a half-mile from Houghton Park) and the water isn't deep there.

"I didn't think it would hurt him to be pushed into the water."

It wasn't until many hours of questioning, both by the juvenile authorities, Detective Sergeant C. D. Crawford and the boy's father himself, that he made this admission.

NEIGHBOR WITNESS

Police said yesterday he would probably never have been questioned at all but for the story told by Orie Dale, living at 6569 California avenue, Long Beach, just across the street from the McDonald home.

Dale said that on Wednesday afternoon he was driving his automobile across the Artesia Boulevard bridge and noticed La Verne pushing another boy into the water.

"I recognized La Verne. I would know him anywhere because I live just across from him and know him well," Dale told the police. "He kept shoving the boy back into the water and the other boy, much younger than he, kept trying to crawl out.

"I didn't attach much significance to it because the water there is not deep and I did not think the little fellow in the water would be hurt. So after a while I drove on, it seeming to me that La Verne had finally decided to let the other come out."

MAKES DENIAL FIRST

But at first young McDonald would not admit any of this. Nor did any occasion arise until P. M. Moekel of 343 Colorado Place saw the little victim's body in the flood-control channel, a mile down the river, where it had floated after death overtook him.

Moekel called Dr. E. I. Mulder of Compton and also Deputy Sheriff R. J. Vejar and when Dale had told his story young McDonald was taken to the Long Beach police station.

He positively denied having seen Jimmy Ellis during the day or that he had been anywhere near the flood-control channel, or the small pool formed by the seepage of water from the channel in which he and other youngsters had been in the habit of bathing.

He maintained his innocence so strenuously that he was allowed to return home with his father, who continued the questioning until La Verne, obviously fearful of a whipping, at last blurted out the version of the drowning as announced yesterday by the police.

BABY BEATING RECALLED

Just what disposition is to be made of the McDonald boy had not been decided last night. It is obvious, authorities say, that the boy is a pathological case and is one for medical authorities.

Their conviction on this point was strengthened by the records of the juvenile department at Long Beach dealing with the temporary disappearance of Patsy Cavanaugh, 2, last November, in which young McDonald was questioned.

According to the records, the mother of Patsy and some women friends had gone in search of the missing boy, who was finally returned to them by another woman who had found it, she said, in a clump of willows. The child was nude, and its body bore numerous welts believed to have been caused by being struck by willow branches. One of its eyes also had been blackened by a blow.

The records of the juvenile authorities at Long Beach are said to show that young McDonald admitted having taken the boy to the willow grove, but that he insisted he had not intended to harm him, and was not responsible for the marks on his body.

The coveralls belonging to Jimmy Ellis were found yesterday by H. B. Cliff, 5846 Olive street, who turned the little garment over to the police. Cliff said he found them in the middle of the pool, twenty feet from where the body of the boy was recovered.

Admiral Haggard upon arrival paid his respects aboard the U.S.S. West Virginia to Vice-Admiral Richard H. Yesterday afternoon Admiral Haggard and his flag lieutenant, Lieutenant-Commander J. T. Eveligh, paid the King's respects to Lieut.-Col. Carr S. Waller, commandant at Fort MacArthur.

During her five-day stay here the Despatch's officers and men will be guests of Southland British residents at a series of receptions and entertainments. She will sail next Tuesday for the naval base at Esquimault, B. C., visiting en route Monterey, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

Vice-Admiral Haggard and some of the principal members of his staff will be guests of a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in their honor in the directors' dining-room Monday noon. A number of civilians have been invited to attend.

within itself to remedy the situation.

The executive's position was made known in a telegram by Harold B. Landreth, the Governor's private secretary, to Joseph Devencenzi, of the Retail Service Dealers' Association of San Francisco, requesting State interposition.

Devencenzi requested the Governor take steps to place gasoline stations and oil companies in the category of public utilities, under the jurisdiction of the State Railroad Commission.

The Governor's telegram to Devencenzi is as follows:

"The course of action suggested in your wire seems to run counter to decision of United States Supreme Court last year in Williams vs. Standard Oil Company, 278, U.S. 235. Therefore, it is extremely doubtful if gasoline can be constituted a public utility. Precipitante or ill considered action obviously is likely to do more harm than good. The Governor feels quite strongly that the industry should first exhaust all means within itself to remedy unhealthful conditions before seeking any form of State interposition."

Devencenzi's telegram read:

"A most deplorable condition confronting retail service station dealers of San Francisco and the entire State of California. Price-cutting and lack of control of industry will mean in a short space of time utter ruination of all engaged in gasoline business. I urge you take proper steps which will place all gasoline stations and oil companies as public utilities under jurisdiction of the railroad commission. Retail Service Station Dealers' Association, representing 140 independent dealers in San Francisco believe it imperative that the State at once undertake investigation to relieve situation and prevent the chaos that will follow in wake of present depression. Please advise."

GAS WAR MAY COST STATE LARGE SUM

SACRAMENTO, July 10. (AP)—The State stands to lose between $750,000 and $1,000,000 as a result of the present gasoline price "war," State Controller Ray L. Riley declared here today. The loss will come through companies going bankrupt as a result of prevailing low retail prices, he explained.

Before the next quarterly payment of gasoline taxes is due the State, the chances are several companies will be bankrupt, Riley said. He pointed out in such cases the State is in the same position as other creditors as far as collecting money due is concerned.

Some of the gasoline producers now are selling at a profit of 1 cent a gallon, out of which they must pay the 3-cent State tax, Riley said. Two years ago during a gas price "war," when retail prices did not reach present low levels, the State lost $150,000 through companies failing, asserted Riley.

Riley attributed the price-cutting to determined efforts of certain national concerns to get what they consider their share of the gasoline gallonage sold in California. Because independent companies cannot give as much service as larger companies, they tend to lower prices, and a "war" ensues.

Increase in gasoline sales during periods of unusually low prices, as at present, is negligible, Riley said.

even the appearance of unfairness. With this in view, he continued, he had decided that a new jury should be picked from an entirely different panel today.

After the jurors were discharged, Mrs. Walters was taken to the District Attorney's office, where she made another statement. Chief Investigator Matthews said that an investigation will be made by his office at once. Mrs. Walters was asserted to have given the investigator a full description of the man who supposedly approached her. On his part, Louis Berman denied that he knew of any bribery plot.

Berman's trial on charges that he forged Julian stock certificates and embezzled $10,000 that was put up by a Long Beach man to purchase stock, will, to all intents and purposes, start all over again today. Nearly all day yesterday was consumed by McCartney and Deputy Public Defender Hill in selecting a jury, but that work had just been completed when Mrs. Walters took the witness stand.

Southern Cross Comes Back to Los Angeles

Trip Around World Completed

GLOBE-CIRCLING PLANE RETURNS

Kingsford-Smith Here With Southern Cross

Welcome Extended Party by Notable Group

Commander and Aids Aboard Hancock Yacht

On the same silver wings that have carried him around the earth to a place among the immortals of aviation Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, twentieth-century Magellan of the air, yesterday flew to Los Angeles to receive an impressive ovation from the city that first bid him godspeed nearly two and a half years ago. He came in the Southern Cross, the very Fokker monoplane in which he recently spanned the Atlantic and completed a circuit of the globe, and with him came two of his gallant crew, Capt. Pat Saul, navigator, and John Stannage, radio operator, and Capt. G. Allan Hancock, millionaire sportsman, who sponsored the historic flight.

The Southern Cross landed at the Western Air Express terminal on Valley Boulevard at 1:30 p.m., and as the airmen stepped from the cabin they were greeted by a characteristic Los Angeles welcome, which told its effect in the smiles of appreciation that wreathed their sun-tanned faces.

INCLUDES CREW

A few minutes later, while a crowd of several thousand stood spellbound in an attitude of hero worship, the sparsely built little flyer mounted a platform and acknowledged the welcome accorded him.

"But you've paid me too much tribute," he said, "and not enough to the fellows who helped to put over the ship's performance. There were four of us on the flight, and, remember, that four quarters make a whole."

Kingsford-Smith then recalled the lean days in 1928 when they were planning the trans-Pacific hop, the achievement that earned them the plaudits of the world. They were $18,000 in debt, he said, and at one time their total assets were but 60 cents, with which they bought Main-street hamburgers and a "deck of fags."

"However, those hard times are gone," he added, "and I can only say I'm happy to be among you again, even at the expense of reviving unpleasant memories."

The commander concluded with an expression of gratitude to Capt. Hancock. "He stood by us when we hadn't too many friends, and has played a magnificent part in the undertaking."

Kingsford-Smith was preceded on the rostrum by Gov. Young, Mayor Porter, Sheriff Traeger, Eugene Biscailuz, Councilman Cooke, State Commander Clarence Kincaid of the American Legion and Capt. Hancock, all of whom spoke a word of welcome, and by his companions-in-flight, Stannage and Saul, who responded in kind.

While the fire department band played "Hail, the Conquering Hero Comes," Kingsford-Smith was taken aloft by Pilot Bud Campbell in the Goodyear blimp, Volunteer. It was his first ride in a lighter-than-air ship and on his return to earth he said he had had "the thrill of a lifetime."

Pilot Campbell then took Stannage and Saul aloft; and their commander took an impish delight in awaiting their reaction to the new experience. "I say," he chuckled, 'just watch old Pat go green when she stalls; watch 'im go green. I'll bet he does!"

ON HANCOCK YACHT

The blimp flights over, the three airmen were whisked away to the harbor, where they embarked as guests of Capt. and Mrs. Hancock aboard the Hancock yacht Valero II, for a week-end cruise to Catalina Island. They will return late Sunday, and on the following day will fly the Southern Cross back to the Hancock Foundation College of Aeronautics at Santa Maria.

Kingsford-Smith's future itinerary includes a return by air next week to New York, thence by steamer to London, where a new plane awaits him and in which he will fly back to his home and fiancee in Australia.

The visit here yesterday was undertaken at the urgent request of the American Legion, forwarded by Maj. Wilson, chairman of the aviation committee, and a large delegation of Legionnaires was on hand to represent the ex-service men at the ceremonies.

PIONEER OF LOS ANGELES SUCCUMBS

Wilbur E. Cummings Dies Suddenly at His Home on Mono Sierras

Wilbur E. Cummings, 75 years of age, early Los Angeles business man who came here forty years ago, died suddenly last Tuesday at his summer home on the Mono Sierras above Gull Lake, it was announced last night.

Mr. Cummings had completed a happy day spent in showing visiting friends the trail he had just given the Forest Service when he was suddenly stricken, and a weakened heart contributed to the end.

Mr. Cummings came to Los Angeles from Woburn, Mass., and was one of the first to vision the business growth of the city down Broadway. In addition to his other activities he became a director in the old Broadway Bank and Trust Company.

He was credited with starting the vogue of Hollywood's hillsides for home sites, and his own home at the head of Normandie avenue has for years been a show place, designed by his own artistic talents.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Minnie E. Cummings, a son and daughter here, another in Marblehead and a sister and a half-brother in the East. Funeral services will be in Hollywood Cemetery chapel at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Evidence Taken in Suit on Dam Patent Rights

Hearing of a suit in equity before H. H. Gordon, acting as special United States master in chancery, was begun yesterday in an action of three plaintiffs against the government. The three, Maj. George Sydney Binckley, Tracy C. Becker, a Los Angeles deputy District Attorney, and Raymond I. Blakeslee, assert that they are the owners of a patented method of constructing concrete dams, the main idea of which was used in the construction by the government of the Coolidge Dam near San Carlos, Ariz.

It is asserted by the plaintiffs that the particular method of construction, that of an egg-shaped obstruction, is contained in a patent obtained by Maj. Binckley and that the government used this method in the construction of the Coolidge Dam. The plaintiffs seek an injunction against the government, and about $1,000,000 in damages. Maj. Binckley was on the stand when the case closed yesterday, to be continued today.

WIFE DIVORCES LOSER OF JOBS

Husband Accused of Being Thrown Out of Work Twenty-five Times

Twenty-five jobs lost in three years constituted her husband's record, Mrs. Martha Bryant yesterday testified in obtaining a divorce from Harvey T. Bryant.

"In addition to losing his job twenty-five times, he relied on me to support him even when I was ill," said Mrs. Bryant. "I had to work to keep up the payments when he bought a car and a suit."

Superior Judge Collier granted her a divorce.

PANTAGES CASE SUIT DISMISSED

Dunaev, Witness Against Theater Magnate, Drops Action for $500,000

Dismissal of Nicholas Dunaev's $500,000 damage suit against Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, was filed in Superior Court by S. S. Hahn, Dunaev's attorney, yesterday. Hahn would make no mention of any consideration for settlement except to say that "no money changed hands."

Dunaev was a witness in the showman's trial for criminal assault on Eunice Pringle last fall. He testified in corroboration of the dancer, and Pantages, on the stand, charged that Dunaev was the "master mind" in what the defendant termed a "conspiracy" to convict him.

Pantages is at liberty on $100,000 bond pending the appeal of his case. He faces a sentence of one to fifty years in San Quentin.

Miss Pringle has filed a $1,000,000 damage suit against Pantages, and Frederick Wise, a State witness, has sued for $250,000, asserting the theater man "belittled" his mentality.

SEARCHERS FAIL TO FIND LAMEL

Hopes for Los Angeles Lad Lost on Mountain Fade

Whitney Ranger and Party Brave Storm in Quest

Family Here Still Awaiting Word on Result of Hunt

No trace of Howard Lamel, 9 years of age, Los Angeles boy, on Mt. Whitney several days ago, was found yesterday by a party of thirty-two men headed by [illegible] States Forest Ranger C. H. Rolenberger. At the Lamel home, 1[illegible] Mansfield avenue, the boy's mother said that she had heard nothing today.

The search was conducted in exceedingly stormy weather high in the rocky eastern slope of the mountain. The searchers, going above the 12,000-foot level.

Young Lamel, who has been missing six days, started out with his father, Edward Lamel, and others to climb the west slope of the mountain. At the 12,000-foot level he left the others, announcing that he would climb the eastern slope, which has been scaled but once. He has not been seen since.

The eastern slope, above the level, is barren of all vegetation and is a maze of rocky crevasses.

The searching party held out hope of finding the youth alive, believing that if he did not fall to his death from one of the treacherous cliffs, the combination of cold weather and lack of food would make his chances of survival on Mt. Whitney is the tallest peak in continental United States, being 14,496 feet high.

When young Lamel left to hunt there and brother he carried no extra provisions or blankets.

ESCAPED PRISONER'S SPOUSE CONVICTED

Ella Fernickes, wife of Frank Fernickes, who escaped from officers by leaping from a speeding train en route to Los Angeles from Reno recently, yesterday was convicted of forgery after her trial before Superior Judge Wood without a jury.

The defendant, who is accused of aiding her husband in passing checks in department stores throughout California, was charged with passing a $60.6[illegible] check at a Los Angeles department store.

QUICK VERDICT FINISHES KRAUSE CASE

One-to-Ten-Year Sentence Will be Imposed Monday

Wife Hysterical in Court; Berman Asks Protection

Graves Scheduled to Face Bar of Justice Today

Louis Krause, middle-aged undertaker salesman charged with having been the central figure in a bribery plot which resulted in the corruption of at least one member of the first Julian jury in 1928, was found guilty of bribery conspiracy in Superior Judge Wilson's court in just thirty-five minutes by a jury of nine women and three men late yesterday afternoon.

The verdict of guilty, handed by Foreman Hugh B. Johnston to Judge Wilson and then read aloud by Court Clerk Boyd, came with surprising speed after a long drawn-out trial which began almost two weeks ago. It was reached, according to courtroom rumor, on the second ballot after the first one showed the jury 11 to 1 for conviction.

With the verdict spread on the court records Judge Wilson ordered Krause into the custody of the sheriff after he had fixed next Monday morning as the time for sentence. Bribery conspiracy under the law has a sentence of from one to ten years in the State prison.

WIFE HYSTERICAL

The quiet of the courtroom just after the verdict of guilty had been read by Boyd was shattered when Mrs. Krause, who had sat quietly throughout the entire trial, suddenly became hysterical and was led screaming from the Hall of Justice.

According to the evidence upon which the jury convicted Krause, he, acting as a go-between for Jacob Berman and his brother Louis, approached Frank Grider, one of the Julian jurors, and purchased his house for $16,000. The money was supplied by Jacob Berman, then on trial, after Krause had told him that Grider had promised to vote not guilty.

It was while the Grider house deal was being planned, according to other witnesses called by the prosecution, that Krause approached John Graves, another juror, and later brought about a meeting between Graves and Jacob Berman and the payment to the juror of $2000 in cash. In all fifteen witnesses were called by the prosecution and seven by the defense. Krause did not take the stand.

PROSECUTED BY JONES

All of the prosecution case including both the opening and closing arguments was presented by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones while Krause was represented by S. S. Hahn and W. O. Graff.

From the County Jail it became known following the Krause conviction that Jacob Berman, who took his stand against Krause after similar charges had been dismissed against both himself and his brother, had requested that he be placed in a cell where he will not come in contact with his former aide. Krause Found Guilty of Bribery Conspiracy in Julian Jury Scandal

QUICK VERDICT FINISHES CASE

One-Ten-Year Sentence Will be Imposed Monday

Wife Hysterical in Court; Woman Asks Protection

Court Scheduled to Face Bar of Justice Today

John Krause, middle-aged undertaker salesman charged with having been the central figure in a bribery plot which resulted in the corruption of at least one member of the Julian jury in 1928, was found guilty of bribery conspiracy in Superior Judge Wilson's court in just over five minutes by a jury of seven women and three men late yesterday afternoon.

The verdict of guilty, handed by Foreman Hugh R. Johnston to Judge Wilson and then read aloud by Court Clerk Boyd, came with surprising speed after a long drawn-out trial which began almost two months ago. It was reached, according to courtroom rumor, on the second ballot after the first one showed the jury 11 to 1 for conviction.

When the verdict spread on the court records Judge Wilson ordered Krause into the custody of the bailiff after he had fixed next Monday morning as the time for passing sentence of from one to ten years in the State prison.

WIFE HYSTERICAL

The quiet of the courtroom just after the verdict of guilty had been read by Boyd was shattered when Mrs. Krause, who had sat quietly throughout the entire trial, suddenly became hysterical and was led weeping from the Hall of Justice.

According to the evidence upon which the jury convicted Krause, acting as a go-between for Jake Berman and his brother Louis, persuaded Frank Grider, one of the Julian jurors, and purchased his vote for $15,000. The money was said by Jacob Berman, then on trial after Krause had told him that Grider had promised to vote not guilty.

It was while the Grider house deal was being planned, according to the witnesses called by the prosecution, that Krause approached Jim Graves, another juror, and not only brought about a meeting between Graves and Jacob Berman but the payment to the juror of $500 in cash. In all fifteen witnesses were called by the prosecution and seven by the defense. Krause did not take the stand.

PROSECUTED BY JONES

All of the prosecution case including both the opening and closing arguments was presented by Deputy Dist.-Atty. Jones while Krause was represented by S. S. Hahn and W. O. Graf.

From the County Jail it became known following the Krause conviction that Jacob Berman, who took the stand against Krause after similar charges had been dismissed against himself and his brother, had requested that he be placed in a cell where he will not come in contact with his former aide. The request was granted. Berman was brought to this city from the Federal prison at McNeil Island, where he is serving a seven-year mail-fraud sentence, to testify against Krause and others and also for prosecution on a number of charges.

Today, according to Judge Wilson, the bribery case against John Groves will be called for trial. It also will be prosecuted by Jones and both of the Bermans will again take the witness stand for the State.

Will Appear Against Accused Slayer of Reporter

Suspect Still in Jail Waiting Extradition Battle

Two witnesses from Chicago, who can testify that Frankie Foster, held here pending a habeas corpus hearing, while awaiting his extradition, was in Chicago on the day Alfred (Jake) Lingle, reporter, was slain, are expected to arrive here tomorrow.

Foster, wanted in Chicago on a murder warrant in connection with the Lingle murder, is held here in County Jail, awaiting the outcome of the extradition set for the 15th inst. He backs his fight against return to Chicago on the grounds that he was not there when the crime was committed, and cannot be held as a fugitive from justice for the Illinois authorities.

Plans were complete by Investigators Dudley and Scherping of Chicago to return Foster, when the habeas corpus move was made. They are awaiting the arrival of the two witnesses who also are bringing documentary evidence that they claim will show beyond doubt the movements of the Chicago gunman and racketeer since June 9, last, day of the Lingle murder.

George Davis, arrested with Foster and three others in a raid on their quarters more than a week ago, is held by city police for Detroit officers. He is wanted on a charge of attempted murder, described as a gangland shooting affray.

FEDERAL CHARGE FILED AGAINST DAVIS

Harry Kirschenbaum, said by police to be George Davis, wanted by Chicago police in connection with the murder of "Jake" Linkie in Chicago, was accused of violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act in a fugitive complaint filed yesterday by U. VETERANS' EXEMPTION RUNS HIGH

Claims on Taxes Involve Total of $43,000,000 in Assessed Valuation

Approximately 68,000 veterans filed claims for exemption amounting to $43,000,000 assessed valuation during 1930, according to County Assessor Hopkins in a statement issued yesterday.

He estimates that the total savings this year in taxes of veterans will approximate $1,700,000, or $40 per capita.

The number of claims filed and the amount of exemption granted in Los Angeles county have grown to enormous proportions since the World War. Before that time about $3,000,000 in assessed value was exempted to 5000 veterans, Hopkins says. In 1929, 64,000 claims were filed and $40,000,000 in assessed value was taken from the tax bills of the veterans and placed on the bills of the rest of the taxpayers of the county.

The California military exemption law, passed in 1911, grants exemption of $1000 to veterans who are legal residents of California, who can submit a discharge showing service in time of war, are worth less than $5000, and who file a claim personally each year with the assessor between the first Monday in March and the first Monday in July.

There are only five or six States in the nation that allow tax exemption to veterans, California being most liberal, said Hopkins, who is a candidate for re-election.

Iris Ashton Evens, screen actress, yesterday saw her mother and father take the stand as opposing witnesses in her legal fight to retain the "Dream House" bought by her elderly friend, Walter J. Browning, wealthy mining man of London. The mother, Mrs. Cora Ashton, testified for her daughter. The father, Frank Ashton, testified for his old friend and business associate, Browning.

Superior Judge Cabaniss, before whom the case is being tried, set final argument for 10 a.m. next Tuesday, after both sides rested last evening.

Mrs. Evens yesterday resumed the witness stand briefly for cross-examination by Attorney Lewis Cruikshank for Browning. She told again, how, two days after the mining man met her, he showed his interest in her as they walked along a path on the Pacific Palisades. It was there, she testified, that Browning gave demonstration of affection which she ended by calling his attention to the geraniums. And thereafter, when he kissed or hugged her in public, she said, she reminded him of the public gaze by whispering "geranium."

SHE QUOTES PLEDGE

"Sir Walter told me that he had no one left in the world to look after but me," said Mrs. Evens. "He said I was the only one left on earth that he desired to take care of."

Mrs. Ashton dramatically raised her hand while testifying that Browning never discussed with her the matter of buying a house. Attorney Cruikshank read to her a deposition she had signed, in which she said Browning said the house was a gift to her daughter. Mrs. Ashton asserted her only information was through her daughter.

Mr. Ashton, who had been seated with Browning's counsel throughout the case, was excused shortly after being called to the stand. Judge Cabaniss sustained an objection of Attorney Milton Silverberg to Ashton's testifying to a conversation with Browning. Both sides then rested.

TWO LETTERS READ

Among Mrs. Evens's letters to Browning, was one addressed to "Dearest Sir Walter" in which she wrote:

". . . If you had run across a 'buy' like this one on Westmoreland, surely you would have acted as I did, or your name is not Walter James Browning, and surely you will be pleased when you come home—to your home . . . I will not say good-by . . .

"Flowers, pearls, mists.

"IRIS."

Contrasting with that letter, written June 15, 1922, was one written September 11, 1928, when Mrs. Evens learned that Browning wanted the house back. She wrote:

"Dear Sir Walter . . . I am forced to come right to the point. Of, course, I refer to the 'Dream House.' Sir Walter, I have always believed that you gave me the 'Dream House.' Please, Sir Walter, do not ask me to give the 'Dream House' back to you. It is safe in my hands, even by law, safe, while for you it would be property acquired after marriage. . . .

"Sincerely.

"MA MIE."

PROBATION PLEA LOST BY LASKER

Second Effort to Dodge Prison Term Fails for Convicted Broker

For the second time since his conviction on five counts of making false entries in corporation books, A. I. Lasker yesterday failed in an attempt to obtain probation and avoid serving his sentence in San Quentin prison. The matter was heard in Superior Judge Wilson's court. Motions for probation and reduction of judgment were denied.

Similar motions made by Lasker and his attorneys May 23, last, also were denied by Judge Wilson.

Subsequently, however, the court modified Lasker's sentence from a term of fifteen to fifty years to a term of six to twenty years in prison. This was done by ordering the sentences on three of the five counts to run concurrently with the other two, which are to be served consecutively.

Laster's plea for probation was based principally upon ill health, and the contention that continuous imprisonment might result in permanent injury or death. Numerous physicians called to the witness stand in behalf of the defendant testified he is suffering from pernicious anemia.

Dr. Albert W. Moore, a physician appointed by the court, however, testified that Lasker's condition is not serious and that he will not suffer unduly in serving his sentence.

Lasker's conviction recently was affirmed by the Appellate Court.

Fete Planned for Garland

Planned as a community expression of appreciation for William May Garland's labors, a committee of Southern California leaders last night announced that a civic testimonial will be offered Mr. Garland in the form of a special breakfast party at the Breakfast Club next Friday morning. He is to arrive home Thursday from a trip of four months' duration abroad.

The guest of honor will make the principal talk of the morning—a report of his interviews with the leaders of practically every country of Europe regarding the Olympic Games here in 1932.

DISABLED VETERAN'S SON WINS JUDGMENT

Carl Koepplinger

CASTOR OIL DOSE PAYS YOUTH $50

Druggist Pair Who Forced Medicine Down Newsboy Will Divvy Up to Fiddler

An undesired dose of castor oil, if applied by anyone other than parents, is worth $50, Carl Koepplinger, 10-year-old newsboy, discovered in Municipal Judge Haas's court yesterday when he was awarded a judgment for that amount against Jack Bernie and Pete Tarchinoe, operators of a drug store at Twenty-third street and Grand avenue.

Carl sued the druggists through his father, R. C. Koepplinger, a disabled war veteran. He asserted he had been selling newspapers at the corner occupied by the drug store for several months. He frequently entered the drug store for a drink of water, he said, and "on February 24, last, when I asked for a drink, the two men dragged me into a back room and poured a dose of castor oil down my throat."

Today's Bible Text

I know how to be abased, and I know how to abound; everywhere and in all things I am instructed, both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.
—Phil. iv, 12-13.

COST OF DOLES
Lord Melchett, industrialist, says that he works half of the year for nothing; for half of his earnings go into the hungry maw of the Chancellor of the Exchequer. John Bull is paying a pretty high price for his dips into Socialism.

MOONSHINE
Dr. A. Hoyt Taylor, chief of the radio division of the United States Naval Research Laboratories, announces that he will send radio signals to the moon. Thus it begins to look as if no spot will be left as a refuge from the announcer and loud speaker.

TAFT STAMP
A portrait of William Howard Taft appeared early in June on 4-cent stamps. It may not seem exactly gallant; but he displaces Martha Washington. However, this lady will continue to appear on the reply half of the 2-cent postal card. A woman on the reply end would seem to be peculiarly fitting.

MANY PASSENGERS
The liner Virginia, which sailed proudly into our glorious harbor the other day, carried a list of 707 cabin passengers, which is thought to be a record for arriving steamships. Naturally a heavy percentage of the comers left the boat here and turned their faces toward Hollywood.

JUST JONES
At last the name of Jones has become illustrious. Individual Joneses have made sporadic attempts to burnish the cognomen of the family. John Paul Jones did his best to put it on the escutcheon of something or other and succeeded fairly well. But at last Bobby is now known on two continents and he has a gallery trailing him around the fairways.

THIS FREEDOM
In the holiday absence of the Mayor of Atlanta the Councilman who filled the vacancy celebrated the Fourth of July by setting free the 268 prisoners in the City Jail. It seems that he had the power to do so and he exercised it. Since then the authorities have been trying to pick up as many of the freed men as possible under other charges, but there are still a couple of hundred at large and the city is proportionately wrought up over the incident. This wholesale amnesty does not set well on the chests of the citizens.

FOGGY FLYING
San Francisco is dreaming of becoming the center of the most ambitious aeronautic operations on the Pacific Coast. She is after the air base of the government and recent words from Commander Charles E. Rosenthal in charge of the dirigible Los Angeles have stirred her imagination.

However, it would seem to be another case of being lost in the fog. Sunnyvale has a good name, providing it can live up to it. But it takes more than a name to make the clouds roll by.

At that, some good may come of the excitement. San Francisco has largely been sea-minded in the past. Her great ships of commerce have come and gone through the decades transporting both gold and romance. She has one of the finest harbors and the only Golden Gate on the planet. Whether San Francisco will be able to make an airport to order remains to be seen. There is the fog.

The sunshine of Los Angeles and San Diego brooks no substitute "just as good." No naval offices can alter the fact that Southern California can practically always count on clear skies. Befogging the issue may delay action for a time; but eventually the facts and sun will come out.

Los Angeles is the natural capital of aeronautics on the continent. She did not choose the wings; they chose her. Pinions and films both depend on sunshine. We greatly admire the energy of our northern neighbor in her eager attempts to grab a new institution. But the habitat of wings is still the sun. And nature has decreed that Southern California has most of it.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS

A hot shot was fired at bureaucracy and at too much government in business by Merle Thorpe in his address to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. Mr. Thorpe, who is the editor of Nation's Business and a member of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urged his many auditors to help stay the growth of paternalism which, he held, "is staying the growth of individualism." He pointed to the fact that the basis on which this country grew to what it is today was individual reward for individual merit.

"Bureaucracy," the speaker said, "is becoming more and more intrenched in government and nothing has yet been devised to stop its mad career of paternalism." He held that the way to check it was for Mr. John Citizen to make himself felt through group action.

Several times during his term as President, Calvin Coolidge scored public ownership and government interference in private business as a menace to the country. In April, 1928, he said: "The government must keep out of business. Public ownership brings intrenched selfishness."

Such warnings from the country's ablest economic minds have given scant pause to radicals strong for national, state or municipal control of industries. Public-ownership enthusiasts have lost little of their misdirected ardor for relegating to the government more and more of the industrial administrative rights that properly belong in efficient private hands.

It would seem that a mind ruled by common sense and a desire to see the national administration unhampered in its legitimate field as well as to give greater freedom to individual effort would not fail to be impressed by the danger of loading the functions of private endeavor upon the government. Similarly it would seem, after the numerous object lessons in the futility of government ownership of public utilities, that it would have no advocates whatever save among those politicians seeking to maintain themselves in fat offices and to continue in control of the political machines that policy inevitably creates. There are forms of real public ownership, outside of those politically ruled, in which there is great merit. Organizations like the Southern California Edison Company, with its enormous list of stockholders, one of the largest in the country, are examples of public ownership in its best form. Being administered by experts with a single eye to efficient results, the affairs of such a corporation are far more likely to be conducted in an economic and equitable manner than if handled by politicians of no special knowledge or adaptability and who have as their greatest interest the perpetuation of their own politically-held jobs. No better example of this system's evils was ever given than that supplied by the public administration of the railroads during the war, an experiment in public ownership, even though temporary, from which it took the country's transportation systems years to recover.

More business in government and less government in business is more than a catch phrase. The competition of private enterprise makes good service for the people. A government monopoly supported by taxpayers is blighting. To accept the advice of the advocates of public ownership is to court disaster for our utilities and to check the growth of that individual effort which is the greatest asset of the nation.

ANTARCTIC AMERICA
Admiral Byrd lays claim to 125,000 square miles of Antarctica for the United States and the State Department is considering the matter of extending our sovereignty to the icebound southernmost end of the world. The territory is almost equal in extent to the area of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The only questions involved in the matter are: Do we want it? What good would it be to us? Would it involve us in a long-winded dispute with Britain, which claims nearly all of the region lying within the Antarctic Circle? The London press has sounded a note of warning by direct intimations that England will not concede any claims we may make to the country explored by Byrd.

We own a large section of territory within the Arctic Circle, but though our explorers, including Palmer and Wilkes, many years ago, found and named formerly unreached parts of the Antarctic, we never have set up any claim of possession there. By the discoveries of Cook, Ross, Scott, Mawson, Shackleton and others, Britain mapped off large sections of the country as her own. If American claims were made, some of them might lap those of the British.

Discussing this interesting point in 1924, Charles Evans Hughes said: "It is the opinion of the Department of State that discovery of lands unknown to civilization, even when coupled with formal taking of possession, does not support a valid claim of sovereignty unless the discovery is followed by an actual settlement of the discovered country."

Any American or group of Americans who may wish to settle in the blizzard-swept region of Marie Byrd Land probably would not run any risk of private claim disputes with the British government or anyone else, though the large penguin population might protest. It seems likely, in view of the dictum of Mr. Hughes, that so far as America is concerned, Marie Byrd Land will be left to the penguins.

LILLIPUTIAN LINKS
A few weeks ago Tom Thumb golf called for a passing paragraph; but today it demands an article. It is rampant in every neighborhood. It began rather innocently with an occasional old-time golfer giving it a sideswipe with his eyes; but today it sticks out like a sore thumb.

Many thought it a mild contagion that would wear itself out in a month or so; but it is beginning to assume proportions that contest with parking places and oil stations for privileges. The neighbors first thought it a huge joke and tossed it off as a passing fad; but now they are besieging the City Council for relief from bright lights and golfer's language.

Some say it started in Florida and was transplanted to California. Its origin is hardly worth fighting over; but it lends itself to the California climate.

A week or two ago you could find eight of them in the most exclusive section along Wilshire Boulevard. How many there are today would be a gamble; for they are springing up like toadstools after a warm night.

They look like elves' gardens filled with gnomes. They have tees, fairways, sand pits, greens and cuss words just like their big brothers of the country club. Foozles and dubs are as prolific and explanatory. Sport clothes come out from mothballs as on the more pretentious links.

Driving courses may also be found out in the periphery of the city. You get a bucket of balls for two-bits and drive off into the circumambient carefree of the rough and loss of balls. You need no caddy and can work off your surplus fat and feelings after the day's work is done.

Lilliputian golf may develop a race of putters and lower the scores on the regular links. It is robbing the common people of their sneer against golf. While New York is going to night clubs, Los Angeles is going to night golf clubs. It is also cleaning up vacant lots.

MACINTOSH SUSTAINED
Judge Manton of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York has decided that Prof. Macintosh of the Yale Divinity School is eligible to citizenship in spite of the reservation he made when asked whether he would bear arms in defense of this country and despite the decision of a lower court that his reply to the interrogation made him unfit for receiving such a privilege.

The judge declared that "the rights of conscience are inalienable rights which the citizen need not surrender and which the government or society cannot take away. . . . They are given by God and cannot be encroached upon by human authority without criminal disobedience to the precepts of natural as well as revealed religion."

If this decision is to stand we never shall hear the last of the conscientious objector until war shall cease. Like Prof. Macintosh, he will fight for his country if he feels like it, but he will rarely feel like it. The Supreme Court should be given an opportunity to pass upon Judge Manton's decision.

USE FOR BACTERIA
This German scientist who is training our bacteria to make fertilizer has the great system. We are strong for him. Any high-brow who can huddle our bacteria and set them to work building nourishment for our lawns ought to be able not only to assemble fame but money. People should save their useless bacteria and communicate with the professor.

COMPARATIVELY few national broadcasts officially originate in Los Angeles, but a good many numbers which, officially, are broadcast from New York or Chicago originate here. The artists wanted for those eastern broadcasts are here, and speak into the microphone here, but their voices are carried to the eastern stations by direct wire, and often are broadcast on programs which are not heard out here, unless some one with a powerful instrument picks them up from New York or Chicago.

Los Angeles programs are so good, however, that many fans in eastern cities "get" them, even though they are broadcast only over a network covering the Pacific Coast. The opera series, for example, is not broadcast over a national hook-up, but many people in the East listen for it regularly, and appreciative telegrams say that they hear it well.

Will Rogers Not the Only One

A good many of us are under the impression that Will Rogers is the only humorist who regularly broadcasts from Los Angeles, but there is one other. Robert Wildhack, "the radio cartoonist," has a regular spot in the "California melodies" program which goes over the Columbia network every Wednesday evening. Bob is nationally famous as a story-teller. Back in New York, before poor health made him come out here to get well, he was the life of many a party of artists of stage, canvas, bristol board or typewriter and his drawings for Life and other magazines were widely followed. He had to give all that up for a while, but the climate of La Crescenta has made him husky again and now every week many of his eastern friends who had been wondering what had become of him get in touch with him again by air. If you haven't heard Bob tell a sneezing or snoring or stuttering story you have missed something which has made countless thousands weak—with laughter.

Secret of De Mille's Success

No one but a great strategist can be anything of importance in a film studio and get anything done. No matter how he is guarded by secretaries, wise, clever and hard-pressed people are continually breaking through to take up his time. There are people no secretary can stop, no barrier bar, and there are a lot of other people who look and act so much like those people that the best of secretaries is fooled now and then. There are people with claims of old friendship or new opportunity who simply cannot be denied.

We wrote quite a piece the other day about Cecil B. De Mille. Now we're going to give you the low down. Our private opinion is that the real reason for the De Mille success is the visitors' chair just across the desk from the royal throne in which he sits. It is a lovely thing, that visitors' chair, but the most uncomfortable seat ever invented. No one can sit in it longer than two minutes without feeling a great desire to arise. When people do get in to see De Mille they are courteously waved toward that seat and a minute or two later most of them get up and say: "Well, thank you for the time. But I really must be going now."

Wonders Never Cease

It isn't very often that a play sells as a book before it has been produced as a play, but that is what has happened in the case of "The Great Apostle," a story of the life of St. Paul, by H. O. Stechan. Stechan has been associated with the Pasadena Community Playhouse as publicity director. He has done a good deal of newspaper work and has written a human-interest drama which is in demand as a literary work although as yet it has not, so far as we know, been produced on the stage.

You never can tell what we newspaper men are likely to do when we get serious. Look at John McGroarty's Mission Play. Look at George Creel's "Quatrains of Christ." And now look at Stechan's "The Great Apostle."

One Can't Be Sure These Days

All sorts of confidential stories get around about people who become prominent. The other day we were informed, confidentially, that a tenor very popular among radio fans is blind.

The next day we met another radio artist who sees the tenor frequently. We told him what we had heard.

"Oh, no," he said, "he isn't blind." Then he hesitated. "At least," he added, cautiously, "he wasn't last week."

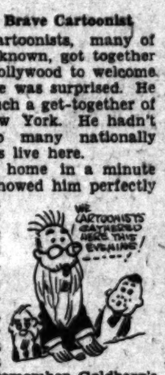
Hardly an Accident

This suggests a fine legal point: Can the man who loses his sight as a result of bootleg collect on his accident insurance?

The Home of the Brave Cartoonist

When fifty cartoonists, many of them nationally known, got together at a dinner in Hollywood to welcome Rube Goldberg he was surprised. He never had seen such a get-together of cartoonists in New York. He hadn't dreamed that so many nationally known cartoonists live here.

But he felt at home in a minute and his sallies showed him perfectly at ease. When Bert Levy introduced Pierre Artigue as one who began chiseling cartoons on stone, before paper was invented, Pierre indignantly retorted that when he was just a cub he could remember Goldberg's cartoons.



"You forget," broke in Rube, "that my grandfather was a cartoonist, too."

ROYAL REWARDS
King Carol, who recently staged a comeback to the Rumanian throne, is given an allowance of $240,000 a year to help keep the wolf away from his palace door. Queen Helen, who objects to his escapades and refuses to be his wife, but is willing to be queen, is granted $42,000 a year for lipstick and rouge. Crown Prince Michael, who seems to be glad to quit kinging, can write his little check for an equal amount. Queen Marie can upstage other actors in the big Balkan drama with $120,000 annually. However, there is compensation. We have our Babe Ruth, who has a batting average of $80,000 per annum!

THE CALL OF THE WILD
By James J. Montague

Australia needs hunters to rid her farms of her native wild animals.

If wealthy I should ever be
And need not labor any more
I'm going to sail across the sea
To far Australia's alien shore.
And there at leisure I shall shoot
As many native hunters do
The pademelon, bandicoot
And wallaby and kangaroo.

A kangaroo, of course, I've seen,
A most ungainly brute, but fleet,
Which often grows morose and mean
And kicks one with its long hind feet.
But never have I chanced to spy
Much less engage in the pursuit
Of pademelon, wallaby
Or any wayward bandicoot.

But were they stuffed and mounted in
The parlor of my little flat
And people murmured with a grin
When viewing each one: "What is that?"
I'd lay my hand upon the brute
And murmur with a quiet sigh:
"A pademelon, bandicoot,
A kangaroo or wallaby."

And through the neighborhood would run
The story of my newborn fame
And how I, with my trusty gun,
Had bagged all this unheard-of game.
And girls would smile into my eyes
And whisper gently: "Aren't they cute—
Those pademelons, wallabies
And that just cunning bandicoot!"

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

Let's Reduce Farmers' Taxes

SAN MARINO, July 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The research department of the California Farm Bureau Federation has compiled the rate of taxation imposed on the farmers of this State. The Federal tax amounts to 10 per cent and the county tax is 28 per cent of his so-called "profits." This totals 36 per cent, or slightly over a third of his "earnings." Statistics may quite justly be challenged, since one year may be better than the next, or one crop worse than another, the above figures can only be taken as an average over a period of years. Nevertheless, it's food for thought.

Further loans and lower rates of interest may ease a situation temporarily, but that is not the solution of the problem. Instead of this sort of "relief" it would seem that the only hope lay in easing up on the taxes.

The heavy losses suffered through blights, pests and weather conditions make farming an expensive and hazardous occupation. The implements, harvesting machines, etc., cost many thousands of dollars, to say nothing of labor and upkeep. All the farmer possesses can be checked up on, there are no concealed assets and the "improvements" for which he has borrowed money are duly added as taxable property.

Plans for opening up more land and reclaiming more desert for the increasing of farming can only add to an already difficult situation. The only hope for the farm situation is reduced taxation and checking schemes for opening up new farm land for further exploitation.
MABEL M. RICHARDSON.

Food Suicide

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Thousands of men unemployed. Thousands of fertile acres unemployed.

We lift up our hands in holy horror over New York dumping carloads of good food into the river to "save" the vegetable market. Bad enough, but only one sensational incident, whereas ours is a continuing condition of food suicide.

In seed bins and nurseries, in soil and air and water lie countless tons of potential fruits and vegetables waiting only the labor of those unemployed men to feed themselves and other hungry men, women and children. All that is needed is an organization sponsored by one or more of such permanent bodies as the Realtors, Chamber of Commerce, Club Women's Federation, All-Year Club, American Legion, Salvation Army and any others that might be enlisted merely as backers. After an initial underwriting and under competent management there should be no need for seeking funds—the bane of all charitable endeavors. This would be a case of helping people to help themselves.
R. W. GRINTON.

Endowed Radio

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Anent the recently expressed opinion of Dr. Lee De Forest as to the future of radio broadcast in the United States it occurs to me that there is another possible solution of the problem of raising the standards of the programs sent forth and eliminating boring advertising announcements—endowed radio!

What finer medium for leaving behind a lasting and living memorial or for perpetuating the altruistic urge to make life better and happier for others?

Once the idea is in favor with men of wealth, it should only be a matter of time until a large number of excellent features would be broadcast without any announcement more distracting than "This is the John Smith memorial hour."

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Cable Splicing?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Electrical cable splicing is taught free at the Frank Wiggins Trade Evening School, 216 West Venice Boulevard, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, 7 to 9. The only expense is $1 registration.

The course is planned to meet the need of electricians who are doing ground work, but who wish to learn high-tension cable splicing. There will be joint wiping and practice necessary to make a waterproof joint; also proper insulation and soldering of cables. All instruction is under a journeyman, craftsman and is of a practical nature. A student may practice on various jobs until he becomes proficient in that line.

Only craftsmen are admitted to this class; but men with no experience may enter the free electricity class at Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 7 to 9 p.m.; also the free welding and wiring classes at Polytechnic on these same evenings.

The Modern Torpedo

Modern torpedoes used in warfare can attain a speed of more than thirty-five miles an hour in water, travel a distance of 7000 to 8000 yards and carry as much as 500 pounds of high explosive. The earliest torpedoes traveled but six miles an hour and had a very limited range.

SPIRITUALISM

BY ALMA WHITAKER

A great many spiritualists and persons interested in spiritualism are gathering in Los Angeles these days. The National Federation of Psychic Science Churches is holding its convention here. And Dr. Arthur Ford, famous recipient of the Houdini code message "Forgive," is visiting here, close friend of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Psychical Research Society members galore abound on all sides. Sir Arthur fell out with the psychical researchers as being unprogressive . . . so that spiritualism is already divided into several branches. But they all believe in life after death and communication from the spirit world.

At the banquet tendered Mr. Ford at the Elks Club by Edward Everett Pray, ardent 82-year-old spiritualist, one met such people as George W. Walker, president of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank; Mr. and Mrs. John Tanner (she who was Mrs. J. Ross Clark;) William Hurlbut, dramatist, author of "Bride of the Lamb," etc.; John H. Purdy of the Olig Crude Oil Company, and numerous pastors of Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches. There were sixty such people at this dinner, all known for either faith in, or sympathetic interest in, spiritualism. John Tanner was present when Mr. Ford received the Houdini message. Mrs. Ivy McCarthy was there and testified to her faith . . . she who is so brilliant a sculptress that Lloyd George, Lord Northcliffe, Aristide Briand, Sarah Bernhardt, Charles Evans Hughes, Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks, Jack Dempsey, etc., etc., have sat for her work.

This Arthur Ford is 33, quiet, well educated and belongs to a family of orthodox ministers now holding pulpits. His uncle is an Episcopalian bishop. He served in the war as lieutenant, going back to college afterward. It was in the war that he first began to "see visions and hear voices," he told us . . . and promptly felt he was headed for a lunatic asylum. Instead, he joined the psychical research society, which, like Sir Conan Doyle, he later fell out with. He is an ordained minister and had a church, from which he resigned to lecture on spiritualism for Chautauqua. He was, he said, loath to believe he was a "medium" . . . "just a medium, tantamount to admitting one had smallpox," he says.

In London he met all the spiritualistic nabobs . . . including, he says, the Bishop of London, who gave him his blessing. The Archbishop of Canterbury urged the church to study spiritualism. "The time will come," he says, "when the churches will turn to spiritualism." He quoted John Roach Straton, arch-fundamentalist, as saying his life was saved by the intervention of the spirit of his mother. He quoted Dr. Fosdick, arch-modernist, as declaring, "Your dead loved ones live. The spiritualists can help you . . ."

"Spiritualism," he said, "progresses in spite of spiritualists." He conceded that some spiritualists are frequently the worst foes of spiritualism because of their practices.

Mr. Ford declares he has had spirit information that Dwight Morrow will be the next President of the United States. He is willing to be judged on the outcome of the next Presidential election. And public prophecy is so dangerous!

It was noteworthy that these people all had an appreciative sense of humor. They tell many jokes on themselves. They devoutly believe, not only in life after death as most Christians must do, but in communication with the dead and in personal control of living individuals by souls who have passed on.

Mr. Ford explained to me that the reason so many mediums seem ignorant and give such foolish personal messages, is because their egotistic souls have tried to grasp a too lofty spirit control beyond their capacity. They should, for a while, be content with lesser spirits. He says this with the utmost seriousness.

He is accompanied here, as secretary, by a very youthful college professor, Jean Jacques Arling of New York University.

It was interesting to note that of the sixty guests present, only three were near the thirties . . . Ford, Arling and Mrs. Crossley, editor of the Spiritualist Monthly. All the rest were well past youth. These invariably told how they had once been skeptics and were finally won to spiritualistic faith by some impressive demonstration.

It seems there are 60,000 registered spiritualists in California and nearly a million in the country. It was said that many thousands more attend the seances and churches, without registering membership.

A WINTER OF SIX MONTHS

Some scientific attention has been recently given to the remnant of the Arikara tribe in the upper Missouri Valley. The Arikara year was reckoned to contain twelve months and was divided into four seasons—winter, spring, summer and fall. But the several seasons were not of equal length, winter being of six months' duration, as long as all the other seasons together.

In the country inhabited by the Arikara the six months counted by them as winter are actually the time of complete dormancy of all vegetation and of hibernation of animal life in the climatic conditions of that geographical area.

The months of April and May, which they counted as spring, are in that region the time of springing and of full vernal growth. And the period of June and July, which constituted their season of summer, was the full time of festival development, while August and September, which they counted as autumn, measured the complete season of maturity and autumnal decline of all vegetation.

FALSE WITNESS

The evidence was all too clear, in no point did it fail; and he was sentenced to a year in Jingo county's jail. My wife collapsed, his children wept, but I felt no regret; for mob justice must be kept intact, or one best bet. The man who steals must pay the price, for much a good man grieves to though the downfall isn't nice for children, wife and sieves. When Jack had been nine months in jail his innocence was shown; another man had pulled the kale, the ruble and the loot. I went to him with tear-dimmed eyes, my heart was wrung with pain; I started to explain. And as he looked me up and down, a silence turned away; and ever as I jog through town I meet him, to this day. He never has said a word, he merely has looked at me, and I feel ashamed and absurd, and cheap as man can be. This Jack: he haunts me in my dreams, he makes my waking stale; I hear his wife's heart-broken screams when he was sent to jail. I'd give a lot if he'd forgive that half-baked trick of mine, but never, never while we live, will he that we incline. He meets me in the synagogue, he trails me in my sleep, and views me as I view a dog that's fond of killing sheep. If you would know where woe is heaped, where remorse is heaped, some other chap of mine and me that chap disgraced, and then discover when too late the charges weren't true. He was good and clean and straight, a better man than you."

NEW STREET LEVY VOTED BY COUNCIL

Assessment Changed on Flower Project by Order of Supreme Court

A new assessment for the opening of Flower street from Washington street to Thirty-eighth street was ordered yesterday by the City Council in conformity with a recent decision of the State Supreme Court. The assessments amount to $1,259,149. Councilman Ingram said he will urge expedition in bringing the project to a conclusion inasmuch as the assessments were paid by the property owners three years ago. Since that time they have had no benefit of their money.

The Council confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Monroe street at Van Ness avenue and for the lighting of Gower street from Franklin avenue to Melrose avenue.

Protests were denied against the construction of sewers in Barbara Court at Cahuenga Boulevard and in Ninety-eighth street from Compton avenue to Success avenue.

The Council also instructed the City Attorney and City Engineer to prepare the necessary plans and ordinances for the improvement of East Kensington Road between Douglas street and Bellevue avenue with permanent pavement in a forty-foot roadway.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Senora Bonzo, hostess of the quaint Mexican cafe, Casa la Golondrina, on Olvera street, wishes it known that she has two other establishments, La Mision Cafe on Sunset Boulevard at Wilton avenue, and La Mision Cafe on Spring near First street. They are known as the original Mexican cafes. Senora Bonzo conceived the idea several years ago of opening a Mexican cafe serving food in true Mexican style.

Olsen's treasure chests, to be awarded tonight, are miniature replicas of those used by noted explorers during the early days of California. The first will contain $250 in gold, the second $150 and the third $100.

Mabelle, celebrated toe dancer, has added to her already ample repertoire of numbers of all nations the lilting jig steps of Ireland. Special costume effects together with spotlighting and orchestration provided by the Paris Inn orchestra headed by Ken Roth will be featured. Lou Block, versatile dancer and singer, and Chicelini the mystery tenor, also will entertain.

KHJ SONGSTER VICTIM OF FIRE

Voice of "Radio Kindness" Forever Silenced

Canary Known to Vast Listening-in Audience

Don Lee Station Schedules Golf Match Feature

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Dr. Philip M. Lovell, editor of "Care of the Body" in the Sunday Times, and Anton Chris, steel guitar.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

The voice of Radio Kindness has been stilled. Smoke from a smoldering fire in the radio room of The Times tower suffocated the little canary Wednesday at midnight. The blaze otherwise did small damage, but to many followers of Times radio broadcasts the loss of the background accompaniment of warbling happiness will prove a source of real sorrow.

KHJ, as far as we know, was the first broadcast station in the world to use canaries. Tens of thousands of letters have attested the popularity of the songsters and this little bird was one of the three original singers on this station.

To many the song of the birds has been the voice of Nature reiterating to man the true message of happiness—that of simplicity and uniformity of endeavor. Though caged, the little feathered friend gave only joyful encouragement. This tribute to Radio Kindness is but slight return for the hours of unselfish happiness he gave.

And even the secret of "How to Amaze Your Friends and Write Popular Songs" will be told in one silly lesson. Then there will be another episode from "Dismal Dooms of Desdemona." At 9:30 tonight station KOIN of Portland, Or., is to present a surprise program entitled "Isle of Golden Dreams."

KTM at 8:30 p.m. will commemorate the life of Ethelbert Nevin in a selected repertoire of this composer's works. "Mighty Lak a Rose," the beautiful suite, "A Day in Venice," "The Rosary" and "Narcissus" will provide material for an excellent half-hour.

JAIL MATRON HEADS GIRL AID

The Women's Rehabilitation Association, organized to provide a home for destitute girls and women discharged from the prisons of California, now is headed by Mrs. Vada Sullivan, matron of the Los Angeles jail, acting as president pro tem. Miss Lois Preston recently resigned from the office on account of leaving the State. Treasurer pro tem is Mrs. Ellen M. Ladico, a county probation officer.

WORKMAN BURIED ALIVE SAVED BY QUICK ACTION

For nearly five minutes G. Easques, 40 years of age of 1732 Twenty-second street, Santa Monica, experienced the sensation yesterday of being buried alive. That he did not die of suffocation was due only to the quick action of fellow-workmen and members of the West Los Angeles police division inhalator squad.

Employed by the Guy Harrison Construction Company, Easques with several other laborers was working in a ditch, ten feet deep, at 111 Beverly Glen Boulevard. The ditch was to be lined with cement and the foreman called to his workmen to climb out of the excavation. Easques did not hear the warning and when a cement-mixing machine started the vibration caused a section of the ditch wall to give way. It completely buried Easques.

Workmen at once began frantically to shovel aside theearth and rock. Within about five minutes Easques, unconscious, was extricated, revived by an inhalator and removed to the Santa Monica Hospital. He will recover, surgeons said.

Young Dancer Accuses Boxer of Beating Her

Simon Hernandez, known in the prize ring as Young Joe Rivers, was dramatically accused yesterday by Christine Hess Buker, 19-year-old taxi dancer, from her sick bed in her home at 1940 West Twenty-third street, as the man who brutally assaulted her on College street after kidnaping her from her escort.

Miss Buker said that Hernandez, when she resisted his advances, struck her in the jaw, fracturing it and breaking several teeth. The preliminary hearing on felony assault charges will be resumed this morning.

LIONS LEAVE FOR DENVER THIS EVENING

Southland Delegation Will Seek 1932 Convention For Los Angeles

On a special train of fifteen cars, California Lions' Club members from the southern part of the State, will leave Los Angeles at 7:45 o'clock this evening, bound for their international convention in Denver, which opens next Tuesday. In Oakland Saturday morning they will be joined by the bay district Lions, and in Sacramento about noon, they will take on the special car of International President Ray L. Riley.

The train is known as the Gov. Sam Carpenter special, in honor of the District Four governor, who will leave here with the delegation tonight. Also aboard, representing the local Lions, will be Past President Clem Glass, President Luther L. Mack, Secretary Harry Stevens and a group of official delegates, many being accompanied by their wives. William Hamilton Cline goes as special representative of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The train will be well stocked with California souvenirs, including oranges in plenty, grape juice, some thousand or so poppies, and literature about this region, the purpose of which is to lay the ground work for obtaining the 1932 convention for this city in the Olympic year.

The Lions' Club luncheon at the Biltmore at noon today will be a send-off affair.

CHILDREN BELIEVED TAKEN BY MOTHER

Believed to have disappeared with their mother, George Norris, 11 years of age, and his sister Minola, 13, wards of Juvenile Court, yesterday were being sought by Sheriff's office investigators. The children, according to a Sheriff's report, were last seen at the Brethren Church in Glendora Wednesday night. They had been living with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Netzley of the Glendora district, who were awarded their custody in 1925, officers reported.

Shriners Expect Banner Crowd for Initiation

The "goatless" initiation ceremony to be given by Al Malaikah Temple tonight is expected to draw a record crowd of Shriners who have had their curiosity aroused to ascertain the character of the unique undertaking.

Potentate Wadley is said to have assured chairmen of the many committees that the program will be one of unusual interest despite the fact that there will be no recourse to the "hot sands" which usually must be crossed by all candidates.

Many Masons have signified their preference for this kind of an initiation ceremony by filing their petitions for degrees, assuring a class of close to 200 for tonight. The doors of the temple will be open at 7 o'clock and entertainment will be given until 8 o'clock, when the initiation ceremony will commence. Recorder Ramsey will receive petitions until 6 o'clock.

HOUSEWIVES CAN LOWER FOOD BILLS BY USE OF SUGAR

Sugar Makes Inexpensive, Wholesome Foods More Appetizing

Although most foods rise in price at seasonal periods during the year, the price of sugar varies but little, and is always low. The cost of sugar to housewives in the United States is much lower than it is in any other country.

The value of sugar in reducing food bills is quickly apparent. Wholesome desserts, which can be inexpensively made, round out the simplest meal in a satisfying way. The same is true of jellies, jams and relishes. Sugar, of course, is one of the chief ingredients in these foods.

When sugar is used as a seasoning in cooking essential vegetables, their appetizing qualities are noticeably increased. Try a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in cooking carrots, turnips, beans, tomatoes, and other vegetables — canned or fresh. The sugar blending with the salt and vegetable juices is delicious.

Stewed fruits become most invitting when sugar is added. And sugar sprinkled on breakfast cereals develops their flavor in a taste-pleasing way.

The opportunity to buy ice cream and bakery products at the "store around the corner" should not be overlooked. These delicious, wholesome desserts are sold at a price within the reach of all. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

GETTING ACQUAINTED

To strangers always be polite;
You'll find it wise as well as right.
—Jerry Muskrat.

"I think you must be a stranger here at the Smiling Pool"

On the bank of the Smiling Pool sat Peter Rabbit perfectly still. On one end of an old log, which was half in and half out of water, sat Jerry Muskrat. He, too, was perfectly still. Both were watching the approach of a beautiful white stranger. With slow, stately steps the stranger was drawing near. At times he stood perfectly still for so long that Peter Rabbit nearly lost patience. Twice his long neck shot forward and his long yellow bill seized something in the water. Once it was a half-grown frog; once it was a minnow. The white stranger was fishing.

At last the stranger was near enough. He had not seen Jerry, nor had he seen Peter. That was because they had kept so still. Had they moved ever so little, the keen eyes of the stranger would have seen them instantly. At last Peter ventured to thump lightly. Instantly the stranger was gazing at him with suspicious eyes. "Excuse me," said Peter. "I think you must be a stranger here at the Smiling Pool."

The stranger looked at Peter very hard. "Why do you think so?" he demanded.

"Because I visit the Smiling Pool often and never have I seen you before," replied Peter.

"And I live right here in the Smiling Pool," squeaked Jerry Muskrat, "and never have I seen you before."

The stranger turned a pair of bright eyes on Jerry. "Hello!" said he. "I begin to feel more at home. There are many of your family down where I come from."

"You mean," said Jerry, "that there are many Muskrats?"

"That's it," replied the stranger. "That's what I mean. I always feel at home with a few Muskrats around."

"If you please," said Peter in his most polite manner, "I would like to know who you are. I am Peter Rabbit."

There was a twinkle in the eyes of the stranger. "I am pleased to meet you, Peter Rabbit," said he. "I am Egret, the White Heron."

"I knew you were a Heron!" cried Jerry Muskrat. "You must be cousin to Longlegs the Great Blue Heron."

The stranger nodded. "I am," said he, "and I am cousin to all the rest of the Herons. There are several of them, you know."

"And you are a stranger here, are you not?" cried Peter.

"Absolutely, Peter, absolutely! I never was here before in my life. It is a very pleasant place here and the fishing seems good." Egret spoke in a very croaking sort of voice.

"Have you been over on the Big River?" inquired Jerry Muskrat.

Egret nodded. "I followed the Big River to get here," said he.

"Why haven't you ever done it before?" inquired Peter.

"I have never been so far north, before," replied Egret. "I've heard tell of how my family used to come as far north as this in the days of long ago, but this is the first time I have ventured up this way."

"Did you come up alone?" inquired Jerry Muskrat.

"No," replied Egret, "a few of my friends came along with me."

"I hope now that you are here that you will stay," said Peter, and he said it very nicely, as if he really meant it; which he did.

"Thank you," replied Egret. "It all depends on the fishing."

Parchment Shades

If you are certain that your parchment shades have been shellacked and varnished you need not be afraid to wash them with a white soap and luke-warm water. Rub afterward with a little furniture polish on a perfectly clean cloth.

Will Not Darken

Freshly cut peaches will not lose their light color if wrapped in wax paper and then placed in the refrigerator until ready to use. This will enable the housewife to prepare them further in advance if she so desires.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers hints on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO A PICNIC

One hates to be a killjoy but picnics are so nice that the aftermath should be pleasanter. And it may be if mother takes time to make some rules and follow them.

Picnic fare is so haloed by custom that the picnic lunch almost prepares itself. (Almost, did you say, after I've slaved in the kitchen all morning?") At least the menu follows well-traveled grooves; fried chicken, cold meat sandwiches, hard-boiled eggs, potato salad, radishes, celery, pickled beets, sweet pickles, cake, ice cream. Fine for the adults, but hearty food for the babes.

If it were only that the food could be consumed at one sitting, there would be less danger, but from the moment of arrival the children begin to eat. Crackerjack, peanuts, ice cream cones, a piece of cake, a hard-boiled egg, a pickle, one after the other until the outraged stomach is ripe for rebellion.

When they are in bed that night —"Mother . . . mother!" After it is all over mother brings down the well-known verdict, "No more picnics for me this summer. Do you know that child threw up every morsel she ate all afternoon? Poor little thing."

NO PIECING

Obviously there should be a few rules. First and foremost should be that only water to drink, or an orange or apple to eat can be had before time for lunch. It takes some firmness but if the basket remains closed, despite entreaties, there won't be time to fuss about it, too many other enchanting things to do.

Choose the picnic site carefully. Water is vastly important. Do not drink from streams or strange wells, however clear and inviting they appear. If water of known quality is not to be had it pays to carry bottled water with one. Streams may run riot with typhoid germs, and unless wells are inspected frequently they are an ever-present danger. The clarity of water is no indication of its purity, and camp or picnic sites are only as safe as their water supplies.

Protection from flies and mosquitoes should be provided, and perhaps our leaflet on "Annoying Summer Ailments" will help with this problem—just send a self-addressed stamped envelope. Toward evening a smoke screen from a healthy bonfire will keep off the mosquitoes and baby, unless old enough to do his own slapping, should be covered with a mosquito netting.

Armed with a small bottle of household ammonia and a tube of menthol salve the mother can anoint the bites as they are acquired and take out both the sting and the itch.

There is one final warning without which this article would not be complete. Keep baby's milk ice cold, in some manner, until he is ready to be fed. Then using canned neat, or boiling water from a thermos bottle, stand baby's bottle in a deep cup and heat it. To warm the milk before leaving home and keep it warm until dinner time arrives is to court certain trouble. Such a method ruins the best of milk.

Middle-aged people suffer most . . .

from troubles caused by harsh toilet tissue

MORE than 65 per cent of all men and women over 40 years of age are suffering from some form of rectal trouble, according to medical opinion.

Appalling! Yet not so surprising when you consider the careless attitude of most people toward the quality of toilet tissue used in their homes.

Today, fortunately, millions of housewives are beginning to insist upon the tissues that physicians and hospitals have thoroughly approved — ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue and Waldorf.

These three health-protecting tissues are made from specially processed fibres—"thirsty fibres." Crumple a sheet in your hand. Feel its unusual softness . . . its linen-like texture. No tiny splinters. No brittle edges to cause an inflamed condition.

Thirsty fibres are extremely absorbent—yet tough and strong. Without this absorbent quality thorough cleansing is impossible.

Scott Tissues are chemically pure—neither acid nor alkaline.

Give your guests and family the utmost protection by always asking for ScotTissue, Sani-Tissue or Waldorf. They cost no more than inferior tissues.

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world . . . Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

If you wish them glazed brush the tops with an egg yolk that has been beaten and diluted with a tablespoonful of cold water.

CUP CAKES

One cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, the yolks of three eggs, three-quarters of a cupful of milk, one-half a cupful of water, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three cupfuls of flour. Sift the flour and baking powder together, cream the butter and sugar together, add the well-beaten egg yolks alternately add the liquor with the flour. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Oil and flour cup cake tins and bake in a medium oven.

STRAWBERRY JAM

A. R. S., Los Angeles. Two pounds of berries, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, seven level cupfuls of sugar, wash and hull the berries, measure the sugar, and spread about one-quarter of the berries in a single layer on a platter, and gently press each berry with a potato masher or a small bottle. Put a layer of the pressed berries in a large sauce pan and cover with a layer of the sugar, alternately, having the last layer of sugar, then add the lemon juice, and let stand for at least five hours. Place on the stove and bring quickly to a rolling boil, and stir constantly before they come to a boil and while boiling. Allow to boil hard for two minutes, remove from the fire, and skim. Stir constantly for five minutes, after skimming to allow them to cool slightly, which prevents the fruit from floating. Pour into sterilized jars and seal at once.

WHOLE PRESERVED STRAWBERRIES

Simmer for twenty minutes, slightly mashed strawberries, adding no sugar, strain them and to each cupful of juice, allow one cupful of sugar. Add the sugar to the syrup, when it has been replaced on the stove, and is at the boiling point. Skim, and let it boil until thick, and pour it over whole hulled berries, that have been placed in sterilized glasses being careful not to use too many berries to a glass. Allow to cool, cover, and set in the sun daily for one month.

A. E. M., Beverly Hills. Take the green figs, and for six quarts of figs cover them with a solution made of one cupful of soda, to six quarts of boiling water, allow the figs to remain in this for fifteen minutes, or until the water is cool enough to lift the figs out. Cover with cold water, rinse well, drain and again repeat the process, when the fruit is ready place in a sauce pan and cover with water. Allow to come to a boil, and then add two quarts of honey, do not allow the fruit to boil after adding the honey, but allow it to simmer slowly until the fruit is tender, place the fruits in sterilized jars, cover with the syrup, and seal tightly.

Take one cupful of strong black coffee, and while hot add to it three-quarters of a cupful of sugar, half a cupful of cream, add one tablespoonful of gelatine that has been dissolved in three tablespoonfuls of cold water. Beat the yolks of three eggs, add to them a half a teaspoonful of salt, and when the coffee mixture is cool, beat in the yolks of the eggs, add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, and six macaroons, that have been crumbled fine. When the mixture is cold mix in the stiffly whipped whites of the eggs. Pour the mixture into serving glasses, allow to harden, and garnish with whiped cream before serving.

CHICKEN SNOW

Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatine in three tablespoonfuls of cold water, allow to stand for five minutes, then pour over it two cupfuls of hot milk, that have been seasoned with salt, a tablespoonful of grated celery, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of black pepper. Add the well-beaten yolks of two eggs while the milk is still warm, then add a cupful of finely chopped cold, cooked chicken. Set the dish in a pan of ice water, and whip until the mixture becomes creamy, then add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and beat until well blended. Pour the mixture into individual moulds, turn out on lettuce leaves, and garnish with sliced cucumbers.

SAND CAKE

One cupful of shortening or butter, one cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, five eggs, one-half a pound of corn starch, one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Cream the shortening, add the salt, gradually add the sugar, and cream well. Then add the yolks of the eggs, one at a time, and beat well after the addition of each egg, then add the corn starch, a tablespoonful at a time, add the extract, and lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Oil and flour a cake tin, place the mixture in it and bake in a moderate oven for three-quarters of an hour.

WIFE'S AVOIRDUPOIS CITED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Slim women appealed to her husband's taste, and he said his wife was plump, Mrs. Ruby Anderson complained yesterday in seeking a divorce from George W. Anderson. That impending shadow was in his mind, she asserted, and she reached for no cigarette. Superior Judge Bowron granted her a decree.

THREE PERSONS HURT IN TRAFFIC

Woman Leaving Hospital Sent to Another

Another Struck by Auto and Street Car

Rich Man's Son in Crash; Driver Arrested

A few minutes after leaving one hospital where she had been confined with illness, Mrs. Hilda Elder, 29 years of age, of 412 East One-Hundred and Sixth street, yesterday landed with serious injuries in another, as the result of an automobile collison at Ninth and Los Angeles streets. She was being driven from the General Hospital to her home by her husband, George Elder, when their car was struck by another machine, driven, according to police, by E. Milander, 23, 3727 Siskiyou street. An ambulance rushed her to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where surgeons report she is in a critical condition from shock.

In another traffic mishap yesterday, Mrs. Leon Buchanan, 72, 1642 West Thirty-fifth street, suffered injuries which may cause her death. She has a fractured skull, fractured right arm, and internal injuries received when she was knocked down by a street car at Pico and Figueroa streets. Some witnesses told police the woman first was struck by a passing automobile and thus hurled in front of the car. She is at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Melvin Hollander, 18, of 237 South Tower Drive, Beverly Hills, also is in the hospital with deep lacerations about the face and scalp as the result of a collision at Ninth and Westlake streets. He was riding with Ellis P. Treet, 27, 2311 Alta Oak Drive, Beverly Hills, according to Officers Glendenning and Morrison, when Treet's car crashed into a machine operated by Miss Madeline Fletcher, 25, of 1652½ South Western avenue. Neither Miss Fletcher nor Treet was injured, but the latter was booked on Wright Act possession when the officers found six quarts of beer in his car, according to their report.

Hollander is in St. Vincent's Hospital. He is said to be the son of Michael Hollander, millionaire, of Newark, N. J.

Irene Rich, motion-picture actress, of 626 South Windsor Boulevard, figured in a minor traffic mishap at Sixth street and Irving Boulevard, when the car in which she was riding with her daughters, Frances and Jane Blankenhorn, collided with another machine. The other car was in charge of W. H. Langlois, 67, 537 North Larchmont Boulevard. He was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a cut over the right eye and a lacerated hand.

NEW PLANE SET FOR TOKIO HOP

is probable, while not a licensed pilot, Gatty will take over the controls for brief intervals while Bromley rests.

Forty-five hours after the Tacoma sky line drops from sight Bromley and Gatty hope to be in Tokio.

AMPLE FUEL

The new craft can cruise at 115 miles an hour and, although they expect to encounter average head winds of fifteen miles an hour all the way across, they are certain they will have enough fuel to get them to Tokio and 1000 miles beyond it. This exceptional reserve is inclinded to meet any unpredicted weather conditions in the changeable air track they will have to follow.

Plane, fuel and men will weigh approximately 10,000 pounds at the take-off. The craft weighs 4000 pounds empty.

In case of a forced landing in the water the flyers are equipped with a rubber lifeboat which when blown up and launched will support a ton. They have for this a portable short-wave sending and receiving radio, concentrated food and apparatus that will change their breath into drinking water.

The orange color of the City of Tacoma has its purpose in that it would be easy to sight if brought down on the water. It is a land plane and not equipped with pontoons, but would float for some time if landed intact. Its navigation room contains a hatch in the top through which Gatty can determine its position with a sextant and a trap on the floor for a special drift and air speed indicator.

Double shifts have completed the streamlined craft in thirty days at the Emsco Aircraft Corporation's plant in Downey. Full load tests were made from Long Beach Municipal Airport.

BOTH MARRIED

A complete log of the flight will be kept with the purpose of compiling valuable scientific data on meteorological conditions of the unknown North Pacific air trail. No one has ever flown over the route to be attempted by the City of Tacoma.

If the proposed flight is successful Bromley indicated here that he and Gatty may hop thence to Europe and try to span the Atlantic from Paris to New York.

Both men are married. Bromley has a 7-year-old son and Gatty has three boys, the eldest 7 years of age. Gatty came here four years ago and established a navigation laboratory, where he taught flyers, including Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, his new system, one that makes it possible for a flyer to determine his exact position within half a minute at night and two minutes in daytime.

Bromley, a native of Vancouver, B. C., is 31. He has been flying since the World War and was chief pilot last winter on a Mexican airline between El Paso, Tex., and Mexico City.

MOON ROCKET PLANS TOLD

Goddard to Conduct Some of Experiments Here, According to Millikan, Who Will Aid Work

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, July 10.—Certain phases of the moon rocket experiments being conducted by Prof. Robert H. Goddard of Clark University, with the hope of charting the mysterious space between planets, will be conducted in Southern California, Dr. Robert A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology announced today.

Daniel Guggenheim has granted Dr. Goddard funds to make possible continuance of his series of experiments during the last fifteen years which seek to learn about the nature of the heavens beyond man's altitude-endurance limits.

Dr. Millikan is one of a group of noted men who will serve on an advisory committee in the new Goddard experiments. Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Mt. Wilson Observatory, is a member of the same committee.

"Dr. Goddard's work has been well known for a number of years," Dr. Millikan asserted. "Scientific men are of the opinion that something interesting will be discovered."

By attaching scientific apparatus to powerful rockets and shooting the rockets toward the limits of the earth's atmospheric envelope, it is hoped that at least some approach may be made to the realization of Jules Verne's dream, a rocket to the moon.

Even the spectrum of the sun will be photographed beyond the bounds of the violet, where its most interesting part is forever cut off to all observatories by absorption of the traces of ozone which exist in the higher atmosphere.

Liquid propellants will shoot the rocket in a vertical trajectory. Electrical lungs will collect samples of atmosphere at varying altitudes, and thermometers, barometers and other measuring devices will be used to obtain information which has eluded man.

When the rocket has spent its force, a parachute will bring it to earth and land it so gently that none of the instruments bearing the data will be jarred.

YOUNG ADMITS SOUTH SLIGHT

pared a resolution with this purpose. The resolution, which was not introduced, would have had the committee declare that all the candidates had demonstrated their faithful Republicanism and that the committee regards all the candidates with equal favor.

His desire to feel the way carefully was also given as his reason for procrastination in the matter of legislation for water supply and conservation and in the matter of the selection of a site in the south for a State prison. On the latter matter, he surprised his auditors by stating that $250,000 has been expended in the work only of selecting the site for this institution. He also reminded them of the fact that after a site at Spadra had been selected it was then found that the water supply of the area was not enough for the projected prison.

Col. William Eric Fowler, chairman of the committee, presided.

Woman Struck Down by Man Near Her Home

Within 100 feet of her home at 2947 Vineyard avenue Mrs. Nat Marks was struck down by a man and escaped more brutal attack only after she was able to break away from the assailant's clutches long enough to scream for help late Wednesday night, she reported to police yesterday. Neighbors, hearing her cry, rushed out of their homes and the attacker fled.

Mrs. Marks said the man walked in front of her as she neared her home and, without warning, suddenly swung around and knocked her to the sidewalk with a blow of his fist. He then placed one hand over her mouth and sought to drag her into a dark alley. She described him as tall, dark, and well dressed.

DEATH THREATS RELATED

Threats of suicide, which he attributed to his wife, yesterday won for Max Schaumer a divorce from Mrs. Rose Schaumer. The husband told Superior Judge Guerin that his wife said she would kill herself rather than live with him again. They were married thirty-five years ago and separated in 1922. Judge Guerin granted Schaumer a decree.

MANY CHANGES MADE IN SCHOOL

Dr. Touton of S. C. Sketches Education Evolution

Teachers Much More Highly Trained, He Points Out

Curriculum Being Fitted Closer to Life Needs

Changes in educational aims, methods, facilities and instructional staffs, as well as the school population during the past forty years were described by Dr. Frank C. Touton, vice-president and director of educational research at the University of Southern California, in a message to summer students of Southern California yesterday, when he discussed "Twentieth Century Methods in Education."

DR. FRANK C. TOUTON

"Enrollments in our schools exhibit a formidable change; the kindergarten population has increased from some 31,000 in 1890 to about 750,000; the elementary schools from about 14,000,000 to 22,500,000; secondary schools have come up from 358,000 in 1890 to perhaps 4,250,000 today; normal schools and colleges from 35,000 to 270,000, and other colleges, universities and professional schools from 157,000 to nearly 800,000. At the same time from a total of 364,000 teachers in schools of all grades in 1890, the Bureau of Education announces an increase to a total of 957,000, or about two and two-thirds as many," states Dr. Touton.

BUILDINGS IMPROVE

"The secondary school group, which is now nearly twelve times what it was in 1890, has, of course, been affected by the lengthening of the required school period, whereas in 1890 the high school was attended by the children of families in preferred economic, vocational or social positions, today the student body is drawn from every group in the community, with corresponding diversity of background, capacity and future prospects; then less than 12 per cent of the youth of the land between 15 and 18 years of age attending school, now well over 50 per cent of that group is enrolled.

"The severely plain school building of 1890 consisted almost wholly of classrooms; it has given place to a modern school plant, with playrooms, playgrounds, audience rooms, a library, gymnasiums and often, for the high school, stadiums, tennis courts and swimming pools.

DEFECTIVES CARED FOR

"Neglect marked our treatment of defectives in 1890; now educational opportunities unexcelled even in our better schools are provided institutionally at public expense for children handicapped in sight or hearing or general physique, or mentally defective," continued Dr. Touton.

"A strong demand has arisen for thoroughly trained teachers, and the two-year post-high school period of training which would in 1890 have placed one among the best prepared teachers in the land is now a minimum requirement for even the lowest teaching positions, and seems destined to go very quickly to three and probably four years, with the likelihood of postgraduate requirements for elementary as well as for secondary school teachers."

TEACHER DIFFERENT

Contrasting the teacher of 1890 with the present-day pedagogue, the Trojan educator stated:

"In 1890 the teacher was for the most part merely the drillmaster, not, as now, the guide and coworker.

"There is a general trend from the book problems of 1890 to the life problems of now, from the interest in the classics to the pronounced interest in how others live in the world of today.

"Indicative of the public interest in educational problems and procedures is the tremendous list of societies and organizations both of the profession and the laymen which have for their primary interest the furthering of some phases of education."

LEASE ASKS JURY TRIAL

Actor Pleads Not Guilty of Beating Vivian Duncan; Hearing Delayed Till 31st Inst.

Rex Lease, motion-picture actor, is going to let a jury decide whether he is guilty of a charge of battery. Lease appeared yesterday before Justice of the Peace Webster of Malibu to have his trial o na misdemeanor charge, growing out of an asserted beating delivered to Vivian Duncan, but it was postponed until the 31st inst. at 10 a.m. He pleaded not guilty.

Continuance of the hearing, at which Lease appeared, was stipulated between Dep. Dist.-Atty. Barnes and Attorney Newton J. Kendall, representing the actor. The postponement was requested to give Barnes sufficient time to prepare his case.

Vivian and her sister Rosetta yesterday emphatically denied that Nils Asther, actor, has made any open threats or challenged Lease to a fist fight to avenge Vivian, to whom he is engaged.

"BAD ENOUGH NOW"

"We have requested Mr. Asther to keep out of this affair," Rosetta said yesterday. "It is bad enough now and we don't want Mr. Asther to do anything which might interfere with or harm his career. He hasn't much time for this anyway, because he spends all his time with my sister.

"He might have made some remark which was overheard that he would challenge Lease if he ever met him, but which one of us hasn't?"

Miss Vivian spent a more restful night Wednesday night but it is believed she will be a patient at Hollywood Hospital until the latter part of next week.

SISTERS NOT PRESENT

Lease's attorney requested a trial by jury. There was an agreement, however, that a jury trial may be waived in event notice is served on the court a week in advance of the date set for the trial. The proceedings yesterday were precise and took place in the presence of spectators who crowded the tiny courtroom. Most of the curious were women.

Neither of the Duncan sisters appeared at the proceedings, but Vivian must appear on the 31st inst. when she presses charges against Lease that he hit her on the eye when she repulsed his asserted attempts to make love to her.

The will left two-thirds of his property to the widow, Mrs. Millie K. Holbrook, 11 Chester Place, and the other third equally to two sons. Horton died last June. The son, Joseph, asked to be appointed administrator.

COUNTIES IN NORTH JOIN FITTS CAMP

Candidate Reported to Be Making Inroads in San Francisco

Buron Fitts is gaining strength in Northern California at a rate alarming to his opponents, according to Donald McClure, field director of the Fitts-for-Governor campaign north of the Tehachapi.

"Already it is safe to place Fresno, Alameda, San Joaquin and Marin counties in the Fitts column," McClure declared. "Within two weeks at least a dozen other leading counties of the north will also be there.

"In San Francisco, where Rolph is conceded to be very strong, Fitts is also making inroads, a crystallization of sentiment in his favor resulting from his outspoken declarations on vital problems of State government.

"Everywhere in the north there is a wave of public resentment toward the present administration. Political leaders attribute this to Gov. Young's dilatory manner in handling taxation, water and penology problems. They feel that the Governor has failed miserably in the matter of tax relief.

"The north also views his handling of the Mooney case as one of the outstanding examples of the administration's practice of shifting responsibility.

"The thinking people of Northern California realize that Southern California is not securing her just proportion ob representation in government. They feel that it is time for the south to provide a Governor."

Twelve hundred people will hear Fitts speak at noon today at the Paris Inn on Commercial street, where he will be the guest of the Italian division of the B.P.O.E. and Bert Rovere, proprietor of the inn. The candidate's talk will be broadcast from station KELW. Edward Syracuse will act as chairman.

Following his address there Fitts will pay a brief visit to the Lions Club meeting at the Biltmore. Fitts is an honorary member of the club.

MILWAUKEE WOMAN TO BE WITNESS

Ex-Employee of Slain Man to Testify Against Mrs. Oesterreich

While the District Attorney's office attached importance to advices from Milwaukee with regard to Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, her co-defendant, Otto Sanhuber, so-called "ghost of the garrets," yesterday prepared to appear before Superior Judge Hardy today for sentence on the conviction of manslaughter that followed his trial for murder of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy retired garment manufacturer, August 22, 1923.

The dispatch from Milwaukee quoted Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello as saying Mrs. Alvie Judkins has agreed to appear as a State's witness against Mrs. Oesterreich at her forthcoming trial on the murder charge. For eleven years Mrs. Judkins was an employee at the Fred Oesterreich apron factory in Milwaukee.

The Milwaukee woman who will take the stand against Mrs. Oesterreich has stated she was a paid companion and friend of the latter before the couple moved to California in 1930; that Oesterreich employed her to remain with his wife each time he left Milwaukee on business and that Mrs. Oesterreich ordered her from the house on each occasion with the request that she return a few hours before Oesterreich's return. She has asserted that she knew Sanhuber as a boy, but was unaware he had lived in secret attic compartments of the Oesterreich homes.

The Milwaukee dispatch stated Costello will leave there today for Los Angeles.

W.C.T.U. HAS CHARGE OF LEADER'S LAST RITES

In the presence of a host of her former friends and associates gathered in the flower-filled chapel of W. A. Brown funeral directors, the last rites for Mrs. Hester Griffith Miller, Woman's Christian Temperance Union leader, were conducted yesterday morning, according to arrangements which Mrs. Miller had outlined before her death last Monday.

Members of the W.C.T.U., chosen by Mrs. Miller, took charge of the services, which followed a ritual performed for every departed member of the organization. Led by Mrs. Julia D. Phelps, State director of legislation, and Mrs. Hattie C. Young, State recording secretary, all the members present joined in a reading of the Twenty-third Psalm, after which each one filed by the coffin and dropped a white carnation thereon in a final gesture of farewell.

Mrs. Edith Andrews, a close friend of Mrs. Miller, sang the songs which Mrs. Miller had designated, "Near to the Heart of God" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," after which three past State presidents of the W.C.T.U., Mrs. Emma Cash Clapp and Miss Gabrella Stickney, both of this city, and Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard of San Diego, gave brief eulogies. Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, present State president, also spoke of Mrs. Miller's forty-three years of devoted service to the organization, and Mrs. John Urquhart, past president of the Federation of Women's Clubs and president of the Woman's Law Enforcement Committee, told of Mrs. Miller's influential work in club and civic affairs.

The service closed with the membership joining in the singing of "In the Sweet By and By." Cremation at Rosedale Cemetery was private.

OUSTED DOCTOR VOTED HEARING

Civil Service Commission Will Review Case

Inquiry Granted in View of Hospital Attack

Woman Asserts Charges Not Specific

The County Civil Service Commission voted yesterday to grant a hearing to Dr. Anne S. Hohanshelt, resident physician at the General Hospital, dismissed by Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent, on charges that Dr. Hohanshelt contended were not "specific."

Dr. Wood declared that his subordinate had failed to carry out his orders, and he accused her of disloyalty.

"In view of the fact that the General Hospital has been under fire and that its management has been before the grand jury, I feel that the differences between Dr. Wood and Dr. Hohanshelt be carefully investigated," said Commissioner Reid of the civil service, in offering the motion to hear Dr. Hohanshelt's appeal.

Dr. Louis C. Chandler, chief of staff of an osteopathic unit at the General Hospital, has directed a circular letter to local osteopaths, stating that "despite recent dismissals" there are twenty-eight members of the staff of his unit on duty at the hospital, and that the unit will "continue its previous satisfactory record of performance," and that "twice as many men are available as are requisite to maintain it."

ACTRESSES' BROTHER IN GUILT PLEA

Jack Noonan to Appear Monday for Sentence Over Ted Lewis Burglary Case

Once more pleading guilty, Jack Noonan yesterday ended his trial before Superior Judge Fulkerth on a charge of receiving stolen property. Noonan entered a guilty plea to the charge with the understanding that a charge of burglary, being tried concurrently, will be withdrawn. He will be produced at 10 a.m. today before Judge Fulkerth for sentence.

In pleading guilty Noonan withdrew his pleas of "not guilty" and "not guilty by reason of insanity." At a previous trial, he pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and was sentenced by Judge Schauer to seven years in Folsom prison. He obtained this latest trial by representing that when he pleaded guilty before he did so without proper knowledge of his legal rights. His latest guilty plea returns him to the same status as at the end of his first trial. The second trial lasted two days.

Noonan is a brother of Sallie O'Neill and Mollie O'Day, film actresses. He was charged with complicity in the burglary of the apartment of Ted Lewis, orchestra leader. Attorneys Richard H. Cantillon and Donald MacKay represented him.

The services will be conducted by Capt. John Y. Cordell, department chaplain, and the fire department band will furnish music. Firemen will parade from the station at 644 South Figueroa street to the church.

JIM TURNER SHUTS SACS OUT, 3 TO 0

Stars Win Hurling Duel and Annex Second Place in Coast Standing

SACRAMENTO, July 10. (Exclusive)—Behind the brilliant pitching of Jim Turner, recruit right-hander from the Piedmont League, the Hollywood Stars shut out Sacramento, 3 to 0, here tonight and passed the Senators for second place in the Coast League standings. Turner let the Solons down with five hits to gain a victory over Pay Thomas in a sizzling hurling duel. Thomas yielded six safeties.

Turner personally drove across Hollywood's first run in the fifth inning when, after Gazella had singled with two away, he belted one of Thomas's fast ones to right center for a triple to drive Mike across the plate. In the eighth inning Turner reached first when Koehler dropped a third strike. Hill sacrificed and all hands were safe when Thomas threw to French too late to force Turner at second. Lee bunted the runners along and then Brannan drove a sacrifice fly to Hoag, Turner counting after the catch.

The Sheiks picked up a third tally in the ninth after two were out. Thomas had fanned both Carlyle and Heath to open the round, but Bassler singled and counted on Gazella's double to center. Gazella was out trying to stretch the blow into a triple, Hoag to Backer. Score:

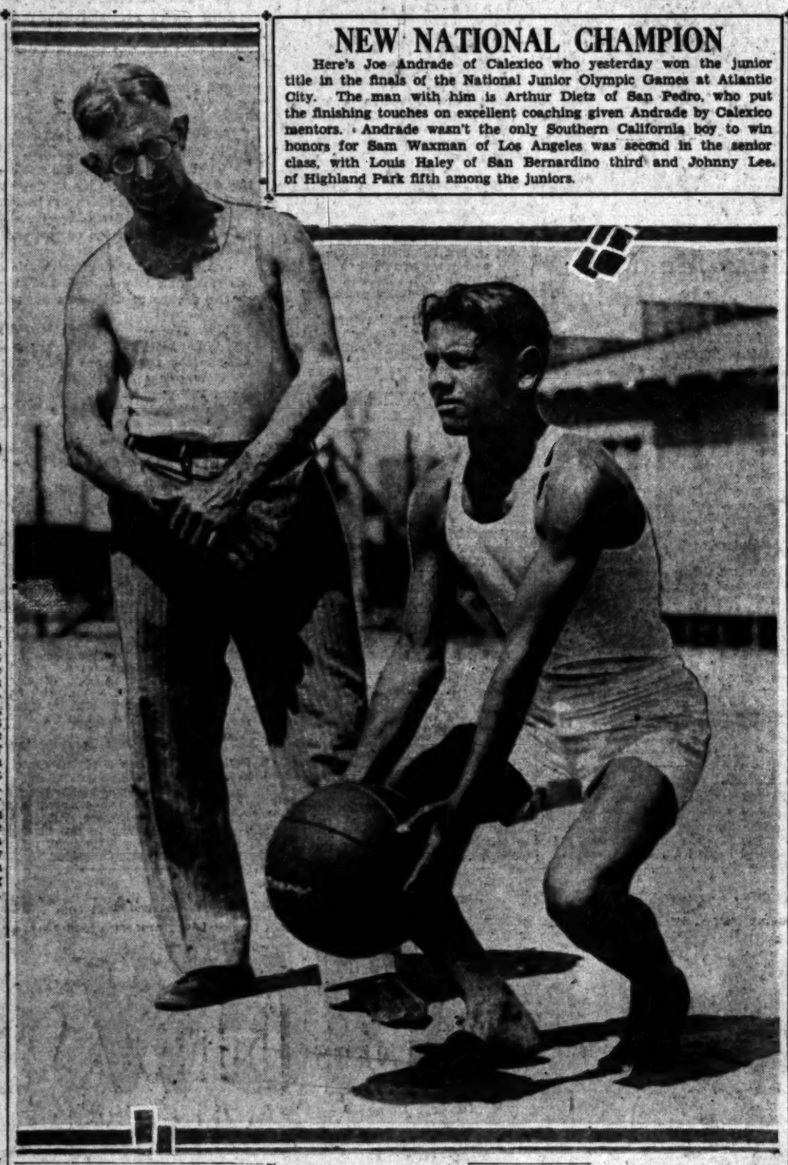
Hornsby to Start Work Next Week

ST. LOUIS, July 10. (AP)—Under instructions from his physician, Rogers Hornsby, slugging Chicago second baseman, who suffered a broken ankle Decoration Day, plans to report to the Cubs the 16th inst. to start working out, he said today.



NEW NATIONAL CHAMPION

Here's Joe Andrade of Calexico who yesterday won the junior title in the finals of the National Junior Olympic Games at Atlantic City. The man with him is Arthur Dietz of San Pedro, who put the finishing touches on excellent coaching given Andrade by Calexico mentors. Andrade wasn't the only Southern California boy to win honors for Sam Waxman of Los Angeles was second in the senior class, with Louis Haley of San Bernardino third and Johnny Lee, of Highland Park fifth among the juniors.

DUNLAP IS ELIMINATED BY RULING

Disqualified for Paying Too Much Attention to Laws of Golf

INTERLACHEN COUNTRY CLUB (Minneapolis) July 10. (Exclusive)—Sweltering weather quite unknown to the professional golfers of Southern California failed to faze them today in the opening round of the national open championship at Interlachen and this evening as the final check of the scoreboard was taken it was seen that they had acquitted themselves well.

Gibson Dunlap, fine young amateur from the Rancho Club, was the only casualty, and he dropped from the running through an attempt to be over-careful in abiding by the rules of the game. He was disqualified at the fourth hole.

Here he found his ball in a bit of freshly turned sod at a tree basin. The referee ruled that he was entitled to drop out without penalty. He did and played up to the hole. Then, feeling that he wanted to be on the safe side, he decided to go back to the tee, take an unplayable lie penalty of stroke and distance, and play this second ball out. He did this, failing to finish the hole with the first ball played. The committee ruled that he should have holed out his first ball, that the referee's decision was correct and that in failing to hole out he had automatically disqualified himself. It was one of those unfortunate incidents that sometimes arise, but in no way casts discredit on Dunlap.

Olin Dutra, of Brentwood, a California native son, hit his stride today for the first time at Interlachen and finished well up with the leaders with a card of 73. Playing the golf he was the round might well have been in the sixties. Today was by far the warmest of the week and western contingent can hold its own party.

The group of boys in the Southern California Junior Olympic Games, sponsored by the Los Angeles Times, won seven medals in the junior division and seven in the senior class with Hawaii bagging five in each field. Those who are statisticians will find that these totals don't jibe, but that's because in the Hawaii-Los Angeles gang here there were plenty of ties and each boy gets an award. Of the total, two went to Arizona and two to Oklahoma.

There were some mighty trying circumstances in the 1930 national meet that showed the very core of a boy's sportsmanship and his ability to stand up under gruelling, exacting competition. Louis Haley, for example, had seven of his chins thrown out on him and Sam Waxman lost four, when they would have counted for a championship. Arakawa of Hawaii was allowed only seventeen chins and ten of his were disallowed. Waxman and Haley also had bad breaks on their best broad jumps when the hard sand just watered drove them back.

However, an example of their spirit was shown when Waxman and Louis of Hawaii stood at the chinning bar and coached Leslie Paton of St. Louis to break their own records. Sam and Tony each had twenty-seven chins and when it looked like Paton might come through these two kids from the Pacific advised the St. Louis boy and pleaded with him to stay on the iron pipe until he had put over the one mark needed to transfer the gold medals from them.

JOE BASHFUL

Tonight the champions in each division spoke over radio WPG on an eastern chain hook-up and the most bashful boy of the bunch was Joe Andrade, but when it came to getting stuff on the air the Southern California gang was saved as usual by Johnny Lee, the official spokesman of the party.

The first ten boys in the national finals and their scores are Seniors Cupie Yamamoto, Honolulu, 683, first; Sam Waxman, Los Angeles, 650, second; Louis Haley, San Bernardino, 636, third; Tony Louis, Hawaii, 630, fourth, and Leon Salasar of Oklahoma, 612, fifth; Juniors Joe Andrade, Calexico, Cal., 671, first; Haruo Ouchi, Honolulu, 637, second; Kazuo Arakawa, Hawaii, 567, third; William Lewis, San Diego, 518, fourth, and Johnny Lee, Highland Park, 507, fifth.

When one stops to consider that the four boys from Hawaii entered the national finals with decided leads over the youngsters from Southern California and that they have been doped to walk away with the deciding meet the Southland kids did a great job in spliting the honors.

CREDIT TO DIETZ

While the boys' performances speak for themselves, great credit is due to Arthur A. Dietz of Los Angeles playground and recreational

GOTHAM RULERS HEAR NEW RULE

Referees Given Earful on Foul Decisions

Low Punches Thing of Past in Empire State

"Grimacing-Groveling" Pugs Lose Happy Haven

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—The minions of the boxing law marshalled in New York State today for the supreme assault on the foul fighters and foul pretenders who have been grimacing and groveling main bouts into fiascos for the past year or more.

With due solemnity more than a score of the State Athletic Commission's licensed referees gathered in the offices of the fistic fathers to hear the fouls that come through low blows read completly out of boxing. In the future, they were told, there shall be no more of the painful endings that have marred $1,000,000 worth of fights since the epidemic started with Otto Von Porat and Phil Scott in Madison Square Garden in December, 1929.

It will be possible, Commissioner James A. Farley told the arbiters, for a man to be disqualified for butting, kneeing, biting or any of the other time-honored means of evading further combat, but punches below the belt now are merely something to record on a slip of paper and turn into the commission. The gladiator who slugs low must automatically lose that round on the score sheets and if an offender slices out of bounds in three rounds in one fight the commission promised to suspend him anyway.

ALL AGREE

The twenty-odd referees, listening officially for the first time to the new regulations promulgated following Max Schmeling's capture of the heavyweight championship on a foul over Jack Sharkey, nodded sagely as the rules were read and agreed that fouls would never again harass boxing in this State. Some expressed private opinions later, however, that some of the boys, being victims of habit, would find brand-new means of evading the issue when the going got hot.

"We are aiming to eliminate two kinds of fighters from New York rings," the veteran commissioner, 86-year-old William Muldoon, told the referees. "We are after the fellows who fall to the floor and make faces along with those who are behind in a bout and take the chance of evading a beating by dropping in low punches."

At a previous meeting, when the new code was drawn up, the commission decided to incorporate a clause in the fighters' contracts whereby both agreed the contest could not end in a foul caused by a low blow. Fighters were given unlimited leeway in protecting themselves with defense apparatus which has the approval of the fathers. Once in the ring they agree to stand or fall on the potency of their arrangements and if they fall—they can expect nothing but a count of ten.

REFEREE DECIDES

One important change in the rules was revealed. In the future the referee alone can judge whether blows should be marked down as low. He cannot call either of the two judges into consultation to aid

Berg Defeats Henry Perlick

NEWARK (N. J.) July 10. (AP)—Jack (Kid) Berg, Whitechapel flash, outpointed Henry Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., in a ten-round bout billed as for the "junior welterweight championship of the world" at Dreamland Park here tonight. Berg weighed 139½ pounds and Perlick 141.

RUDY KALLIO'S TWIRLING TOO MUCH FOR SERAPHS

Cherubs Held to Six Hits; Indians Have Two Big Innings; Umpire Target for Pop Bottles

BY BOB RAY

It begins to look as though some other club will have to cinch this first-half race for the Angels. The Cherubs were still staggering yesterday and the Seattle Indians pounded out a 7-to-1 triumph to take a 2-to-1 lead in the series and delay for at least a day mathematical certainty of a Los Angeles first-half victory.

Rudy Kallio, the veteran hurler who talks to himself while pitching, let the Angels down with six hits while his mates enjoyed two big innings at the expense of Art Delaney and Augie Walsh to chase over all seven of their runs.

Kallio managed to strike out eight Angels while mumbling to himself. Don't know what Rudy said to himself to make his mound work so effective. Might not be a bad idea for some of the local hurlers to hide a dictaphone out on the mound the next time Kallio works and get the low down on his personal sales talk.

Rudy was complete master of the situation throughout and possibly not a few of the cash customers present yesterday will no doubt wonder what kind of a league this is if the Angels manage to become champions for even one half.

The only Cherub that looked at all good was Fred Haney, who made a couple of sensational fielding plays and banged out two hits. And Haney is hobbling around on a very bad ankle.

The fans put on a little extra excitement in the eighth inning when they tossed a love offering consist-

Dado Favored Over Laredo in Rematch Main Event at Hollywood Stadium Tonight

SPEEDY CLASH IS EXPECTED

Sarmiento and Miller Meet in Semifinal Go

Old-time Bantam Favorite Faces Rival Again

Bulahan to Take on Varner in Special Bout

Filipinos and Mexicans have all the spots on the Hollywood American Legion stadium fight card tonight. The fighters have been carefully selected for each place on the bill and if the experiment isn't a success some shrewd guessers will be all wet. Speedy Dado, pride of the Filipinos, fights Chato Laredo, Mexican flyweight from Juarez. These lads have met once and while Dado copped the decision he had his hands full the entire ten rounds.

Out Hollywood way the fight bugs don't think there is a 112-pounder in the fight racket who can beat the little Filipino. They have seen him on the floor and under all sorts of conditions but he always comes out on top. He is a miniature Jack Dempsey in action.

Dado is about ready for a championship fight. He went east last winter and was all set for a shot in Madison Square Garden but developed sickness that brought him back to California for treatment. Dado has fought his way back to championship form, according to his managers, Frank Churchill and Jesus Cortez.

Backing up the Dado-Laredo fight are four preliminaries that look good on paper. Peter Sarmiento, once a great bantamweight, meets Abie Miller in the semi-wind-up. Pete was too much for Abie a month ago but the Jewish kid thinks he has figured out the Filipino. Miller should cop this time. He is younger and while the kid hasn't any rock he throws lots of gloves and is aggressive.

Battling Bulahan, Filipino, meets his match in Pat Varner in the special. Bulahan throws lots of gloves and he may get the nod. Varner is tough and the fight should be a thriller.

Leo Domingo, Mexican, fights Don Reyes, Filipino, in one four-rounder, and Billy Cain meets Angel Vincent in the curtain raiser.

WICKLAND WINS

DEL MONTE, July 10. (AP)—Daniel W. Wickland, Los Angeles, defeated Albert Erdmann, Jr., New York City, 6-3, in the men's finals of the ping pong tournament here today. There were fifty entries.

LOOKS LIKE A QUIET EASY GOING LITTLE FELLOW

But in the ring he's a brown flash, is Speedy Dado, the Filipino. He fights Chato Laredo, a Mexican boy, at the Hollywood Legion stadium tonight, and the action will be fast and furious. The boys recently fought at the Olympic, and Dado barely gained the nod by a rally in the final round. The closeness and fastness of the fight brought a rematch.

DEMPSEY MAY TAKE BAER

Former Heavyweight Champion May Take Contract of Promising Oakland Knockout King

Max Baer, Oakland's sensational heavyweight, may go under the management of Jack Dempsey. The deal was said to be closer to being made yesterday than it was ten days ago when Baer and his manager, John Hamilton Lorimer, made a special trip from Oakland to see Dempsey at his home on Los Feliz Drive.

Lorimer and Dempsey will confer again Saturday. The meeting was arranged yesterday by Jerry Sachs, Dempsey's secretary. Dempsey is showing at Long Beach in a vaudeville act this week in a play written by Willard Mack. It is called "The Foul."

Baer stated yesterday at the Manhattan gymnasium that Dempsey wanted to buy all of his contract from Lorimer, but that Lorimer desired to keep a small percentage of it.

The Manhattan was packed with fighters and managers yesterday looking over the Oakland puncher who boxes Les Kennedy next Tuesday night at the Olympic.

Among the fighters were Al McCoy, ex-middleweight champion; John Lester Johnson, Armand Emanuel and Frankie Campbell. All are high in their praise of the German kayo artist.

Baer worked two rounds with Bad News Johnson and two with Jack Venable. Johnson gave Max quite a stiff workout. Baer has a seventy-nine-inch reach—five inches longer than Dempsey and Jack Sharkey and five and one-half inches longer than Max Schmeling.

The Olympic expects the best pick-up in gates it has had for weeks. There is a widespread interest in Baer. The young Oaklander looks better than any heavyweight California has developed in years.

Vijo Doman, who boxes Hans Birkie in the eight-round semi-wind-up, is training with Kennedy at Murietta Hot Springs. They will not come back to Los Angeles until next Monday.

Miss Madison Sets Record

SEATTLE, July 10. (AP)—Helene Madison, Seattle swimming marvel, broke the world's 120-yard free-style swimming record for women here tonight, making the distance in 1:16.8. The established record of 1:18.6 for the distance was made by Ethel Lackie of the Illinois Athletic Club.

Miss Madison had intended to attempt to swim 100 yards in the exhibition meet here tonight in less than one minute but abandoned the effort because of a slight illness. She was clocked at sixty-three seconds at the 100-yard mark during the 120-yard swim.

In the 400-yard breast stroke Eleanor Holm of the New York Athletic Club broke the world record of 6:10.2 held by Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic Club by negotiating the distance in 5:53.1.

MIKE O'DOWD WINS FIGHT DECISION

PITTSBURGH, July 10. (AP)—Midget Mike O'Dowd, 126 1-4 pounds, Louisville, Ky., won a decision here tonight in ten rounds over Johnny Willis, 126 1-4 pounds, Erie. Neither landed a telling punch.

GEORGE KELLY GIVEN "GATE"

Red First Sacker Handed Unconditional Release

CINCINNATI, July 10. (AP)—George Kelly, first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds for three years, was released unconditionally today by Manager Dan Howley. Kelly came to the Reds from the Giants.

"Long George," as he was known to the fans, will be supplanted at first by Joe Stripp, who has been playing third, and Tony Cuccinello, recruit third baseman obtained last winter from Columbus in the American Association, will hold down the hot corner, Howley said.

Kelly was born in San Francisco in 1895. He joined the New York Giants in 1915 and went to the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1917 on a waiver loan. He soon was sent to Rochester in the International League, but rejoined the Giants in 1919 and remained with John McGraw until 1927. He had a major league lifetime batting average of about .297.

Kelly probably will return to the Pacific Coast, where he indicated he may join a Coast League team.

STRIBLING PLANS TO FLY HIGH IN EUROPE

PARIS, July 10. (Exclusive)—William Stribling will have to go to court first if he wants to go flying around Europe before his match with Phil Scott. This is what Jeff Dickson, promoter of the fight, told Stribling when he met him here tonight at the Gare St. Lazaire boat train from the liner Europa. Stribling purchased a new model French touring plane in Paris and announced his intention to fly to London next Monday to prepare for the Scott fight scheduled for the 26th inst., and Dickson at once voiced decided opposition, saying he did not want the fighter taking unnecessary chances. To this Stribling replied flying an airplane to London was the safest way, judging from his experience with channel boats.

COCHRANE GAINS

Welker Cochrane gained 5 points on J. N. Bozeman yesterday in their three-cushion billiard match being played at the Clifford Jones billiard parlor. Cochrane won the afternoon block, 54 to 45, but was defeated in the evening encounter, 45 to 41. The total score now stands: Cochrane, 188; Bozeman, 180.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

WHO'LL WIN IT?

THERE were so many good scores at Interlachen yesterday that the battle for the American open golf championship is very much of an open affair, and yet one notes that the young master, Mr. Robert Tyre Jones, is in his customary favorable position.

His card of 71—one under par—is only a stroke back of the leaders, MacDonald Smith, the old Carnoustie expert, and Tommy Armour.

Both of the latter are canny Scots, who, once they get a lead, are hard to catch. Armour is a former champion, but MacDonald Smith, always a topnotcher, has never gained the throne in twenty years of effort.

Olin Dutra of Brentwood with a 73 is up near the top, and Johnny Goodman, who dethroned Jones in the amateur last summer, is well located with a 74.

Goodman shot a 33 going out, which is the type of golf that bumped Jones off in the opening round at Pebble Beach.

FINE OLYMPIC SHOWING

FIRST and fifth in the junior championships and second and third in the senior championships.

That's the record of the Southern California boys who went all the way to Atlantic City to demonstrate their prowess against the pick of the country's kids in the Junior Olympic Games finals.

Last year the Southland boys made a clean sweep of both divisions, but this year the competition was keener and the scoring was harder.

As expected, the stiffest battle came from the boys developed in the Hawaiian Islands, and Yamamoto, the Japanese boy, turned up as the winner of the senior division championship.

THE GIANT AGE

IT WAS inevitable that Primo Carnera's financial success in American rings would bring other foreign giants in his wake.

Now comes Jose Santa of Portugal, who towers 6ft. 8in. and scales 255 pounds.

He probably can't fight a lick, but if he has big hands and feet, looks ferocious, and has an eccentricity or two he will go over big with a gullible fight public.

Some of these fine days Primo will fall down and go boom, as they say, and the championship myth of the six-foot-sixers will be exploded.

Then the stevedores can all go back home.

ON THE SLIDE

A BIT of ring tragedy was seen in the defeat the other night of Pal Moore by Willie Pelligrini at Chicago.

Pal was a great flyweight in his time. He never became a champion, but he was always a front ranker and fought kings in other divisions when he ran out of opponents in his own poundage class.

He retired six years ago with a fat poke, increment from successful ventures in the Chicago wheat pit.

Adversity must have hit him along with other boxers; Joey Sangor, for example, who delved too deep into stock ventures.

Moore is 36 and started boxing in 1913. He met Jimmy McLarnin at Doyle's in the four-round days, just before the ten-round law went into effect. Pal lost to "Baby Face."

I saw him in Chicago at the time of the Tunney-Dempsey "Battle of the Fourteen Count," and he was riding the crest of financial success. The blow must have come in the past year.

A HOT REPEATER

HOLLYWOOD has a repeat match that will be well worth seeing tonight.

It is a ten-round scramble between Speedy Dado and Cheto Laredo. The first showing was staged at the Olympic.

Dado, the little brown doll of the Philippines, won by virtue of a momentary knockdown in the final round.

It was a furious little fight all the way, and Tom Gallery grabbed the boys for a rematch tonight.

LITTLE STORIES OF FAST SUCCESSES

[NUMBER FIVE]

EARL SANDE

The first race horse he ever saw was hitched to the tailboard of a prairie schooner. Two years later, every track in America resounded to that famous cry, "C'm on Sande!"

He always gave the public the best run for its money.

That's the reason, too, for OLD GOLD rooters. That's why, in four short years, OLD GOLD has scrambled past the pack . . . caught the leaders . . . and is thundering down the stretch. OLD GOLD, too, always gives the public a run for its money.

Made of nature-blessed tobaccos, it offers you the taste-thrill you've always longed for . . . it eliminates the throat-hack you've always hated.

Explain Sande or OLD GOLD? Sandes and OLD GOLDS are born, not made.

IT WAS JUST TWO YEARS AFTER HE SAW HIS FIRST RACE HORSE THAT SANDE WAS CROWNED "EARL" OF AMERICAN JOCKEYS.

ON FEB 9, 1927, THE FIRST OLD GOLDS WERE SOLD AT SARATOGA. WITHIN 60 DAYS IT WAS ONE OF THE FOUR LEADING BRANDS.

BROWNS COLLECT

ST. LOUIS, July 10. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns opened their home stand with a 7-to-6 victory in the tenth inning over the Chicago White Sox, largely due to the power in Ted Gullic's bat. Gullie entered the game in the eighth as a pinch hitter and his single tied the score. He came up again in the tenth with the score still tied and slapped out a home run for the winning score.

Old Dutch Henry was charged with the defeat. He was sent in after Red Faber and McKain failed to hold the Browns. The win gave the Browns possession of sixth place. Score:

Italians Face Japanese Team

GENOA, July 10. (AP)—On the eve of the European zone Davis Cup final between Italy and Japan there appeared tonight to be little to choose between the Italians led by the redoubtable Humbert De Morpurgo and the well-balanced team from Nippon.

The winners of the series here tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday will play the United States in the interzone final in the Roland Garros Stadium in the outskirts of Paris next week for the right to challenge the French on the same courts one week later.

The question on the lips of thousands of fans here is whether De Morpurgo will prove equal to the task of beating Japan almost single-handed. He is to be used in doubles as well as singles and Italy hopes to take the series by winning all three of the matches in which he is a participant.

It is generally granted that De Morpurgo should win both his singles as Takeichi Harada, Japanese veteran, is not up to the form he has shown in the United States in previous years and Tamio Abe's deep driving game is made to order for the Trieste nobleman.

TRIBE SCALPS ANGELS AGAIN

Seattle Takes 7-to-1 Game from Los Angeles

Redskins Bunch Scoring in Two Big Innings

ing of a few cushions and pop bottles at Umpire Kolls after he had chased Bill Peters to the showers for protesting with gestures a couple of decisions at the plate on Louie Almada. It looked as though Peters had Almada struck out on one when Louie failed to hold back a swing, but Kolls ruled otherwise. Then Pete slipped a perfect strike over the plate, but again Kolls called it a ball. The Angel southpaw gave Kolls the razzberry wave and the arbiter promptly ordered him to the showers. Peters had just started pitching and Almada was the first batter to face him so it took Berly Horne a little while to get warmed up for action. In the meantime cushions and bottles were tossed at Kolls, but none came close.

Outside of that incident the contest was a tame affair, with the Angels looking rather hopeless instead of like a team heading for a pennant.

The Indians started the scoring with a three-run uprising in the fourth, bunching four hits, including two triples, off Delaney. Almada led off with one of the three-base wallops and scored when Lawrence beat out an infield hit to Dittmar. Owen sacrificed and then Fred Muller tripled off the right-field screen to send Lawrence over the plate. Cox's single to center counted Muller for the third run of the round.

ANGELS GET LONE RUN

Los Angeles put over its lone run in the home half of the fourth to escape a shutout. Moore doubled for a starter, but Dittmar lined to Almada, who made a nice catch near the wall. Kallio tossed out Harper and Moore went to third. Schmulerich slapped a mean grounder down the third-base line that took a wicked hop past Knothe for a single and Moore came home. Kallio picked Schulmerich off first for the third out.

The Indians filled the bases after two were out in the sixth, but Delaney escaped without any more runs scoring. In the Angel half of the sixth Moore and Dittmar got on with but one away, only to have Kallio fan Harper and retire Schulmerich to end the threat.

Delaney was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Peters started pitching in the eighth. All he did was start, though. Kolls chasing him and Horne retiring the side.

Lellvelt sent Augie Walsh to the mound in the ninth and the Indians ganged on him for four more runs to cinch the contest. Singles by Kallio and Holland, doubles by Taylor and Lawrence and a couple of walks produced the extra quartet of tallies.

Win Ballou and either Paul Zahiser or Andy House are expected to be the rival hurlers today. Score:

Big Six

The Philadelphia pair, Frank O'Doul and Chuck Klein again batted hard yesterday to improve their positions in the Big Six standing by a few points while their third-place rival, Babe Herman, had a day of scheduled idleness. Each went to bat five times, made three hits and scored twice. O'Doul's average jumped four points to .407 while Klein's three-point gain put him at .402. Al Simmons held his own in fourth place with a .390 average by getting two hits in five times up. Sam Rice, the only other active member, lost ground, dropping two points to .381 as he made only one hit in four attempts.

Jimmy Zinn, San Francisco mound star, who has a no-run, no-hit game to his credit, is in fourth place with fourteen wins and six defeats.

Jim Turner and Emil Yde are staging a close race for the leading Hollywood hurler honors. Turner has an edge at present with eight victories and four defeats, while Yde has nine wins and five losses.

Iron-man honors go to Howard Craghead of the Oaks who has seen service in twenty-two games to date, winning nine and losing thirteen.

Heat Terrific at Interlachen Links

ARMOUR, SMITH TOP OPEN FIELD

Walter Hagen Registers 72 Over Torrid Links

who can go the route, even though they have to step their way through almost unendurable heat, a heat that made the temperature at Worcester five years ago look like Baffin Bay in January.

The type of golf that Armour and Mac Smith played today will keep even a Jones fighting at his best to take and hold the lead and finish with the laurel.

It was one of the most sensational first days any championship ever knew. Here were eight fine golfers no more than two strokes apart with other stars only a stroke away.

HAGEN IN TROUBLE

And included in these is a young fellow of 38 by the name of Hagen. For the first nine holes Hagen was struggling, all over the lot. He was fading his tee shots into heavy trouble and on the second hole, sixty yards from the green, he lifted his head on the short pitch and got only ten yards.

At the long fourth some one rushed out and stepped on Hagen's ball, half burying it in the hot turf. He was out in 38, wavering on the border line of a break-up and then the old Hagen came back with a rush and a whoop that carried his big gallery along in the finish with all the excitement of a football game.

Hagen came back in 34 over the hard route and got his 72 to keep within reach of Jones. It was a typical Hagen finish, full of courage and skill, and a warning to them all that the old lion is far from dead or caged. From an erring, wandering, uncertain golfer, the veteran turned in a flash into the stuff that made him famous and still keeps him dangerous.

TOUGHEST BARRICADE

This is the toughest barricade that Bobby Jones has ever faced. Mac Smith tied for the championship twenty years ago and beat him a month ago at Hoylake he trailed Jones to the final green, only two strokes away. Tommy Armour won the championship at Oakmont in 1927 and came near winning it last summer at Winged Foot. Walter Hagen has won eleven national titles, including six open championships. Harry Cooper tied with Armour at Oakmont. Horton Smith is the brilliant luminary of the younger stars who has been gaining needed experience to make him more and more dangerous at each start, just that much nearer the goal.

And these are among the ten or twelve now left who are out to bar the way to the Georgian's latest bid for glory. They are the most formidable challengers that any single entry ever ran across in the history of golf.

There was a wry smile on Bobby's face as he looked at the list of those who met his first day's test, stroke for stroke.

And there are others such as Farrell and Sarazen and Craig Wood who are still in the hunt, but they can hardly afford to slip in view of the rabid pack that is setting the pace.

There are golfers up there in the forefront, nerve-tested veterans and dashing youngsters who have proved their place too often before, and if Jones can escape this cordon it will be the greatest exhibition of his golfing career.

QUEER REVERSALS

There has never been a championship where so many queer and sudden reversals broke into the program, largely due to a sun bent upon cooking the world in a humidic temperature that scored 104 before 10 o'clock.

And the strangest of these belonged to Johnny Farrell, open champion two years ago. Johnny, slender and a trifle keen to get going, opened his pursuit of Jones by nailing a spectator on the first hole off the edge of the fairway and knocking him down. For the next few minutes the partially unconscious spectator was the only comfortable person on the course. At any rate this incident caused him to hook and slice all over the course and he finally took three putts for an 8.

It was an 8 at Winged Foot that wrecked Farrell a year ago. Imagine peering into the mocking face of another 8 at the first hole of the first round, when you are all geared up to go somewhere. From this spot on Johnny Farrell's round was the most remarkable of the day. That 8 must have stuck in his heart like a poisoned arrow. He had a 6 at the fourth hole and that made him 6 over 4's for two holes.

BRILLIANT RECOVERY

But Farrell shot seven of the nine holes in 6 under 4's to square his 6 over 4's on two holes to take him out in 38, an amazing performance—a test of fine golf and nerve control, proof that Johnny Farrell must be watched from now on.

Another quick reversal struck Johnny Goodman, the young star who eliminated Bobby Jones at Pebble Beach last fall. Goodman started out at a pace that was hotter than the blazing day. He was out in 33 and he had a 3 on the hard tenth.

He was 4 under even 4's for ten holes. He had played ten holes in thirty-six strokes, and then apparently the effort of his offense against par beat upon his mind. For he suddenly slipped from the heights to the depths to come back in 41.

He used up two more strokes for the last eight holes than he had gathered for the first ten. These are only two of the many incidents that made a big gallery forget its clothes were clinging to the human frame after the manner of one who has dived into a lake.

This first day was one of the great days of golf, dating back to the misty morning King James blew

Gallant Fox Big Favorite

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—Gallant Fox, the super-horse of the year, probably will go to the post a 2-to-5 favorite in the $80,000 Arlington Classic at a mile and a quarter to be decided at Arlington Park Saturday.

a two-foot putt. Most of the amateurs broke before the pace.

Cyril Tolley and Jimmy Johnston had 80's. Chick Evans had an 81. Von Elm had an 80. But George Voigt came through with a steady 76 after one or two bad breaks that might have yielded better returns.

As they battle through the second round on Friday this is now a championship that any one of ten men can win. There are almost no false alarms fighting their way around the half turn into the stretch. When you watch Armour and Mac Smith lay those irons up around the pin, or watch Hagen battle his way through trouble and despair to keep on scoring, you can get a better idea of the picture.

JONES GREAT

And it might be mentioned here that Bobby Jones will still take a lot of beating. He was hitting the ball well up to a high standard most of the round. Here is just one example. The ninth hole here is 485 yards in length, with the second shot played over a lake. Jones drove as close to the water's edge as a frog can jump to safety, and then laid a No. 3 iron some twelve feet from the cup.

He started home raggedly with 5-5-5, where Hagen, Armour and Mac Smith were even fours, and these are the holes that usually find the Georgian at his best. It was this sinking spell, in comparison to the others, that kept him above par.

At the 194-yard thirteenth Mac Smith rammed an iron shot just eight inches from the cup. For a moment it looked as if the Lakeville veteran had his ace. The last nine holes that Armour, Mac Smith and Hagen turned in were classics that will not be forgotten, for they brought out every type of high-grade golf.

At the start of the second day's struggle there were twenty-three sterling golfers only four strokes apart. There were over thirty only five strokes apart, and if you have played golf or watched an open championship you can understand how quickly these margins can be lost and how suddenly these deficits can be made up.

It will be interesting to see how the leading field is bunched Friday night as they face the killing stretch of Saturday's play. But most of those now in the big hunt should remain there, for they are not the type that show and blow, flash and crash, that flame and then go lame.

DUNLAP OUT OF OPEN TOURNEY

yet while others wilted, Olin played beautifully. His brother, Mortie, of Brentwood, was away to an equally fine start, but misfortune overtook him on the little par 3 thirteenth hole. At this tee he was but two strokes behind Bobby Jones and Wiffy Cox, the early leaders, but when the hole was finished and a 4 had been chalked up against him, he had dropped back half a dozen strokes.

Charley Guest, former California professional champion and a graduate of Los Angeles High School, was at his best today, playing smooth, faultless golf. The killing heat bothered him, but did not materially affect his play any more than it affected his bride, who followed him through all the heat to see that he "came through." He was even par going out and was coming home in beautiful fashion till he hit the treacherous twelfth. This hole proved the undoing of many, though it was easy for Tommy Armour and Macdonald Smith, who led the field with 76, and Guest took a 7. He followed with a 3, but the handicap was too heavy for him to overcome and he finished with a 76, not among the leaders, but still in good position.

Strangely enough Fred Morrison, of Midwick, was more bothered by the heat than any of the others from the Coast. He was wringing wet as he came to the turn, and obviously was very tired. The ninth hole is a par 5, 490 yards in length. A good drive places one in position to hit a screaming brassie straight across a lake, 210 yards, to the fairway which leads up to the green. Here Fred got a lucky break. His second shot was half missed and struck in the lake. It skipped, like a stone on a mill pond across the water and into the deep grass bordering the fairway. He got his 5 and a 3S, giving him a good chance to finish among the leaders. But he was hardly well on his way coming home when misfortune started dogging his footsteps. Actually he was fortunate to finish with a 78, and he will have to go his best to qualify tomorrow.

Merrie Dutra, Virginia professional, sank a beautiful putt on the eighteenth green to finish with a 76 and tie with Willie Hunter of Montebello, and Charley Guest.

All told, the California boys acquitted themselves very well indeed today, and some of the regulars as well as those adopted sons—Mac Smith, Harry Cooper, etc.—were in a commanding position to lead the field.

Bobby Jones Changes Tee

BY SOL METZGER

It does the golfer no harm to study the various theories of the game. It does him good to experiment with them, too. I recall Bobby Jones when he first began playing in competition. It took him many years to reach the top. Golf was probably no more natural to him than to any one else. Joyce Wethered, for example, says it's about the most unnatural game in the world.

Anyhow, when Bobby first started in competition his tee shot was not what it is today. He used either a very low tee or else, when the grass was matted, merely placed his ball on it. Then he would hit down into it and through.

It's strange what happened. Ball would go a piece with low trajectory and then begin rising. Its force was entirely spent in the air and it dropped almost dead upon the turf. Bobby was using a shallow faced driver at that time, too. Tomorrow, "What He Did to Correct This."

Inability to make approach shots hold the green adds several strokes to one's score. Sol Metzger's leaflet, "The Art of Pitching" will enable you to cut down your score. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and secure a copy.

If such a situation had prevailed prior to Schmeling's duel with Sharkey the result might have been different. Jimmy Crowley, referee that night, admitted he did not see the finishing blow and called upon the judges for assistance. One said he saw Schmeling struck low and upon that opinion the German was awarded the heavyweight title.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

NEW PLANS FOR HISTORIC CRAFT

Move Afoot to Bring Cutter Bear to Harbor

Sponsors Would Provide for Permanent Home

Oakland Held Anxious to Get Rid of Vessel

BY WALDO DRAKE

The historic Coast Guard cutter Bear, for forty-five seasons the "angel" of the Bering Sea littoral, would be permanently located at Los Angeles Harbor as a combined marine museum, naval reserve base and patriotic gathering-place under a plan sponsored by the San Pedro American Legion. Congressman Joe Crail yesterday voiced his complete approval of the plan and promised active support.

Under plans evolved by Montgomery Phister, San Pedro admiralty lawyer and naval reserve officer, the Harbor Department would provide a wharf and moorings for the Bear at Cabrillo Beach and the Municipal Playgrounds Department would maintain the venerable craft. Congressman Crail said that, while the Bear has already been given to the city of Oakland as a museum, that city is anxious to dispose of the vessel because the canal leading into Lake Merritt was found too shallow to bring the Bear into the lake. He said he believes she could be secured for Los Angeles with minimum difficulty.

The Bear, built in 1873 as a British whaler, was bought by the Navy in 1874 for use in the Arctic by the Greeley relief expedition and in 1885 was transferred to the Coast Guard. Since then she had been in Alaskan patrol service until 1929, when she was relieved on the Bering Sea patrol by the new Diesel-electric cutter Northland.

SECOND SLIDE HITS DREDGING PROJECT

Construction of Long Beach's $5,000,000 outer harbor municipal terminal was further delayed yesterday morning, when a second slide of the fill being effected caused approximately 15,000 cubic yards of earth to fall into the dredged fairway.

The situation was further complicated for the beach city yesterday, when George A. Snyder, vice-president of the C. J. Kubach Company, the contractor, announced that the company would decline all responsibility for the slide, inasmuch as the specifications had been followed to the letter. Similar action will be taken on the first slide, which occurred several weeks ago, said Mr. Snyder. Dredging operations will be suspended until repairs can be effected to the broken bulkhead.

Commander John F. Shafroth, Jr., in charge of all navy legislative matters, was at the port from Washington yesterday for a conference with Lieutenant-Commander James E. Crutchfield, head of the local Navy Hydrographic Office, relative to expansion of the local naval establishment.

Accompanied by Capt. Alonzo H. Woodbine, supervisor-inspector of the Naval Reserve in this area, and Lieut. Estep B. Koger, commanding the Naval Reserve aviation base at Long Beach, Commander Shafroth also inspected the Troxa Field radio station and the Long Beach airport.

The Panama-Pacific electric liner Virginia will take out 450 cabin passengers to New York, via the Canal and Havana, next Monday morning, among them being E. H. Smyth, for forty years an engineer on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad. Although Mr. Smyth has traveled 2,500,000 miles over the rails during his career, he will embark at Los Angeles Harbor on his first sea voyage.

Also among her passengers will be Commander C. A. Pownall, veteran navy aviator, en route to New York with Mrs. Pownall and their daughter, Louise; Commander Douglas Fuller, United States Navy, en route to duty in the Canal Zone, with Mrs. Fuller and their daughter; Mrs. Charles H. Cunningham, wife of the United States Commercial attache at Lima, Peru, and her daughters, Helen, Frances and Mary, en route to join Mr. Cunningham; Mrs. Perry Wood and her daughter, Mary Jane, of this city, also going to Peru, and Capt. W. G. Melvin, an executive of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, who has just completed a shipping survey of the Pacific Coast.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Arrived in half-ton lots to furnish the cement contingent to Samoa, New Guinea, etc., the Matson liner Lurline, which sailed from here today for Honolulu.

The machinery was "knocked down" in half-ton lots to permit its transportation by the Lurline, which has accommodations for only 10 tons of freight.

PORTLAND, July 10.—Will accommodate 1,000 more passengers than originally planned, the Admiral liner President Grant, which sails from here July 18 for the Orient, will be the largest passenger liner ever to clear from this port, according to Frank Gilmore, vice president of the Admiral Oriental Line.

SEATTLE, July 10.—Still another record will be established when the Admiral liner President Grant sails from here July 18 for the Orient, it was announced today by Frank Gilmore, vice president of the Admiral Oriental Line. The Grant will carry 1,000 passengers, which will be the largest number ever to sail from this port, Gilmore said.

Goldie Hess Bout Winner

Goldie Hess, the pride of Beach cities, added another victory to his long string last night when he defeated Jimmy Fox in a ten-round bout at the Culver City Athletic Club. Hess won the nod in every round, while Fox made no effort to do anything but defend himself and stay within the limit. In the semi-wind-up Manuel Alvarado copped a six-round decision over Red Humphries. Jimmy Weaver was returned a winner over Otis Curry in the special event.

Herb Russell and Al De Chiaro fought four rounds to a draw in the second bout. Benny Sloan, from Mayfield Grove in the first.

FORTUNE GOES FOR TRIP

A Brittany peasant who found a ditch came upon a hoard which contained some francs. He took his find to the nearest bank, showed it to his neighbors and left there. All agreed that the coins bear the impression of Napoleon's head of the French republic. A visitor from Paris who heard of the said:

"Yes, they are old and valuable, there is no date, they are worthless, why not worth much? They would give you 100 francs ($4.20) for the lot." By accident the same visitor obtained one of the coins. He evidently attracted the attention of some numismatists, for the coin was soon waited upon by a person to whom the "find" was shown. He said: "It is rare, but, although it has the same problem as the one. It is a Roman Aureus probably 2000 years old. A bronze one and very rare. The others like this? If so, they have bartered a fortune for a few francs."

English postmen have to wear the government officials to be sure that they wouldn't allow the dignity of their uniforms to be compromised, and aft instead of safety pins a long been the custom.

DOCTOR MAKES PLEA FOR BLOOD

Fluid Needed for Producing Paralysis Serum

Must Come from Former Victims of Disease

Givers Paid $50 Per Pint; Supply Now Short

A plea to persons who have suffered attacks of infantile paralysis during the past fifteen years to sell small portions of their blood for serum-making purposes was made yesterday by Dr. H. D. Barnard, associate chief-of-staff of the Orthopedic Hospital, 2400 South Flower street. This institution, which now is the chief source of supply for the serum regarded as invaluable in the treatment of the disease, reports that the demand for it so far exceeds the supply as to make it vitally important that means be found immediately to increase the latter.

GOOD PRICE PAID

The serum is prepared from the blood of patients convalescing from the disease after the third week from onset and of persons who have had it any time within fifteen years. Most of the known active cases in the present epidemic period have been canvassed for the purpose, but only a small supply has thereby been procured. It is believed, however, that there are several hundred persons living hereabouts who have recovered from the ailment within the long time limit and who would be willing to sell a little blood at the good price offered, especially in view of the emergency in which such action may result in saving many lives. The operation is not painful nor dangerous.

The hospital offers $10 per 100 cubic centimeters of blood, which is roughly $50 a pint. Two-thirds of a pint is usually as much as is taken from an adult. From children the ordinary amount is usually a fifth of a pint, for which $10 is paid.

NO PROFITS MADE

Of course, no effort is made to make any profit on the sale of the serum so procured. Patients well able to pay are charged enough to cover the cost. Others, less well-to-do, pay what they can. Many pay nothing at all. So far the hospital has paid $2430 for blood, has distributed 8000 c.c. of serum and has received $706 in return.

It takes the blood from three "donors" to make enough serum for one adult patient. So far nearly all the serum used has come from patients in the hospital itself. Some of the more sturdy ones have given blood ten or twelve times. The importance of an adequate supply in the present situation is apparent from the declaration of specialists that its use has proved extraordinarily beneficial to victims of poliomyelitis.

PLAYGROUND POOLS CLOSED FOR PRESENT

Los Angeles playground pools, with the exception of the Griffith and Central pools, were ordered closed indefinitely by the playground and recreation department yesterday in order to co-operate with the health department's campaign against the spread of infantile paralysis.

Griffith pool will remain open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., while Central pool will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Those closed include Exposition, Arroyo Seco, Yosemite, North Broadway, North Hollywood, Pueblo de Los Angeles, Anderson Memorial and Evergreen.

Two more cases of the disease were reported to the city health department yesterday, making a total of sixty-six cases to date and six deaths, compared to eighty-four cases and five deaths in June.

Four new cases of the disease in county health department territory were reported today.

Lawyer Cited for Contempt Freed on Writ

Jason B. Grossman, associated with Edward Brand as counsel in a misdemeanor case before Municipal Judge Bogue, and cited along with Brand for contempt of court, was ordered released yesterday by Division Two, District Court of Appeal, on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Grossman was sentenced to pay a $100 fine or serve ten days in jail. He first sought release before Superior Judge Wood. A hearing in the case will be held before the Appellate Court Monday.

Brand paid a $300 fine after he had carried his case to the Superior Court and the Appellate Court.

PEG MODELS SHOW OIL FIELDS

U.S.C. Summer Students Study Geology

No, This Is Not a Birthday Cake

Prof. Jesse Perry Rowe (left) and Lenard Johnson, with peg model of oil field. Each peg is an oil well with colored strings showing levels of oil, sand and surface; combined they indicate structure with below-surface dips, domes, and antieline of the field. The section to the left is separated by a fault.

CALIFORNIA'S underworld is being reproduced in the form of peg models by summer students of the University of Southern California. Subterranean activities of the Southwest, however, are revealed as profit-producing oil fields as a result of trips to petroleum fields under the direction of Prof. Jesse Perry Rowe, visiting professor in the summer school of Southern California.

The class in petroleum geology studies theories in the classroom at Bridge Hall and then the lectures are followed up by inspection of oil fields of this section.

"Some of the deepest oil wells of the world are in the Southwest," states Prof. Rowe. "Tertiary formations produce about 50 per cent of the oils of the world, and Southern California is one of the biggest production areas in oil of this period."

Dr. Rowe is teaching three summer courses, one in historical geology, one in petrology and one in advanced petroleum geology. Stratigraphy in relation to oil prospecting is also being covered in the summer geology work.

Budget Committee Passes on Agencies' Applications for Financial Support

Financial need of Community Chest agencies for the coming year were considered last night at a meeting of the budget executive committee of the Community Chest under the chairmanship of M. W. Composed of prominent Los Angeles business men and agency executives, the committee passes on the applications of all Chest agencies for financial support. Its members head eight subcommittees which cover the following fields of social service: Family welfare, relief; child welfare—preadolescent, child welfare—adolescent and working age, sick and public health, social settlements and centers, veterans' agencies and preventive agencies.

The five members of each subcommittee visit each agency on their list, estimate its work and its needs and reduce its proposed budget wherever possible.

Chairmen and members of the eight budget subcommittees are as follows:

Family welfare: I. Irving Lipsitch, chairman; C. C. Canahl, C. E. Hutson, W. E. Dent and George O. Carlson.

Death Summons Pioneer Sports Goods Merchant

Max Harris, pioneer Los Angeles sporting-goods dealer and sponsor of old-time athletic events, died yesterday at his home, 901 South Catalina street, after a lingering illness. He was 79 years of age.

Born in Bremen, Germany, Mr. Harris came to the United States sixty-one years ago and settled in Los Angeles four years later. He established a sporting-goods store at First and Spring streets and became active in contests of all kinds, especially bicycle races. His brother Emil was the city's first Chief of Police.

Mr. Harris leaves his widow, Mrs. Minnie Harris; two sons, Leonard and Melville Harris, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles Sarlow.

Funeral services will be conducted at 9 a.m. Sunday at the Malinow & Simon chapel, Twelfth and Figueroa streets. Interment will be in Home of Peace Cemetery.

THIS TIME IT'S WIFE WHO PAYS

Invalid Husband of Woman With Large Income Granted Alimony

Mrs. Harriet Dearing, whose income is asserted to be $800 a month, must pay her husband, William M. Dearing, an invalid, $75 a month pending trial of their contested suit for divorce, Superior Judge Archbald ruled yesterday.

Mrs. Dearing at the hearing contended her husband was able to work. She charged in her complaint that he threw things at her and called her unpleasant names. In a cross-complaint Dearing asked for a community share of $200,000 worth of property, asserting that his wife was cruel to him and deserted him.

Rushmore, and a review by Mussolini of 5000 boys in mass calisthenics.

Lyle Womack Hopes to Wed Miss Bissett

When told yesterday that a news dispatch from Minneapolis had quoted Miss Ella Bissett of that city as saying reports that she was going to marry him were "a bit premature," Lyle Womack, former husband of Ruth Elder, agreed that perhaps "premature" is the right word.

Womack, who now is manager of the Gay Lion Farm at El Monte, pointed out that he had not made any formal announcement of an engagement, but had merely confided in a friend that he expects to marry Miss Bissett, that the friend had notified a newspaper and that when asked about it he had admitted that such was his intention.

"Of course I can't speak for Miss Bissett," he said yesterday. "And it is true enough that no definite wedding plans have been made. But it is certainly my intention to marry her and it is certain that she is coming here from Minneapolis within the next month, so you may deduce whatever you can from that."

Dwarfed Girl Found Prisoner in Tank House

Found confined in a small tank house on a ranch on Brea Canyon road in Walnut near Pomona Boulevard, Marguerita Lopez, 17 years of age, victim of a mental affliction, last night was temporarily held in Juvenile Hall. Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's homicide detail ordered an investigation into her plight.

A report by County Motorcycle Officer Nelson stated that from time to time she was released from the tank house, which is in the rear of the house of her elderly uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Estrada, and allowed to run about nearly nude.

The girl, dwarfed in stature, has been cared for by the Estradas for the last fourteen years, they told Deputy Sheriff Morrell.

According to the officer, the mother of the girl is dead and her father, Angelo Lopez, is believed to be in Mexico.

BENEDICT BODY RETURN SET

Widow and Daughter Plan to Sail from England Tomorrow With Remains of Former Official

The body of H. Stanley Benedict, one-time California State officer in various positions and prominent for many years in Los Angeles development, is expected here on about the 24th inst. from London, where he died suddenly Wednesday.

A cablegram from his daughter, Miss Margaret Benedict, who, with her mother, was with Mr. Benedict on a tour of Europe, carried only the brief message that Mr. Benedict died suddenly and that they will sail for New York on the Mauretania tomorrow. The message was received by Mrs. H. Gardner Narbonne of 2428 Juliet street, a sister of Mr. Benedict.

LONG TRIP PLANNED

The Benedicts left their home, 309 North Las Palmas street, on June 1, last, for a tour of England and intended to remain throughout the winter in Europe if Mr. Benedict's health were improved by the journey, which he was making on advice of his physician. He had been stricken with a serious heart malady in the fall of 1928 and had been in more or less ill health since. He was 54 years of age.

Mr. Benedict was elected to the State Assembly in 1910. He was reelected in 1912 and then to the Senate in 1914. He was elected to fill the unexpired term of Representative Stephens in 1917 and, afterward was appointed by Gov. Stephens to the State Board of Control and State Railroad Commission.

LEGISLATIVE EFFORTS

Among the legislation which he directed in whole or in part were laws facilitating the building of the Aqueduct, Los Angeles Harbor, roads and legislation favoring county charters, free county libraries and school district reapportionment. He once was prominent on a State commission having to do with immigration laws affecting California.

Mr. Benedict's last active business connection was as an officer in the California Building and Loan Association, now extinct. He had various financial and real estate development interests in the course of his life here, which began at 10 years of age. He was educated in the local schools, being graduated from Los Angeles High School and receiving a law degree from the University of Southern California. He was a Mason of high degree.

Mr. Benedict was born in Boonville, Mo. He leaves his widow, a daughter and a sister.

ARCHIBALD SELWYN'S REMAINS SENT EAST

The body of Archibald Selwyn, Jr., assistant director at the United studios, and son of Archie Selwyn, famous New York stage producer, was forwarded by Rupps Mortuary yesterday to New York City for services and interment. Selwyn died at the Hollywood Hospital Wednesday from injuries received in an automobile accident on the 4th inst. He was 19 years of age.

SQUATTERS' CASE TO BE DISCUSSED

Meeting of Authorities Involved in Rindge Ranch Dispute Called Today

At a meeting in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce at 12:15 p.m. today, attended by representatives of the United States Attorney, the United States Land-office, Dist.-Atty. Fitts and all others concerned, steps will be taken to check any further attempts at claim jumping by squatters such as recently caused disturbances at the Rindge Ranch on Malibu Beach, and which are said to be threatened at other points near the city.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by C. J. S. Williamson, manager of the civic development and real estate department of the chamber, who issued the call for today's meeting.

Mr. Williamson decided to call all parties concerned together for a full discussion of the situation, and for a complete understanding of the legal status of the lands upon which invasion either has been attempted by the squatters, or is reported to be attempted.

The contention was advanced last night that under provisions of the law the squatters have had no legal authority for their action, and one of the purposes of the meeting to be held today is to devise methods by which this fact can be impressed clearly on those who have in mind further attempts at claim jumping.

DRAMATIC SENSATION TO BE PRODUCED HERE

Edward Belasco and Homer Curran, local theatrical producers, announced last night they have procured for California production the rights of the Gilbert Seldes version of Aristophanes' "Lysistrata," declared to be the dramatic sensation of New York City. The comedy, though written in 421 B. C., is declared to be as "hilarious" and timely now as it was then. Belasco and Curran expect to go into immediate production and will present it exactly as shown in New York with a cast of eighty-five and a noted star still to be selected. The play was staged in Philadelphia before being taken to New York, and was received enthusiastically there, also.

PACT PLEA REJECTED

Hoover Refuses to Show Notes

Reservation to Navy Treaty Offered in Senate Due to Secrecy Policy

Johnson Assails President; Reed and Hale in Clash; Stimson Attacked

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP)—President Hoover refused today to give the Senate all the notes leading up to the London naval conference. His rejection of the Senate's request provoked the introduction of the first reservation to the treaty and drew a denunciation from Senator Johnson of California.

Around the reservation—offered by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska—there was gathering tonight considerable strength and upon this issue may be made either the main attempt to reject the treaty or to postpone its consideration until fall.

ACTION CALLED FOR

Senator Johnson, leader of the treaty opposition, assailed the Presidential message and called upon the Senate to take action against the "lobbying." He did not mention what action and it was understood he meant rejection of the treaty.

Mr. Hoover invited members of the Senate to scrutinize for themselves the London documents under pledge of secrecy, but he said their publication or use in debate would amount to a "breach of trust" by himself with the other nations.

He reiterated "with the utmost emphasis" that in the London negotiations "there were no secret or concealed understandings, promises or interpretations, nor any commitments whatever except as appear in the treaty itself."

NORRIS'S RESOLUTION

The Norris resolution which was offered after the Presidential message was read to the Senate, called attention to the failure of the Senate to get all the London data and concluded:

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Senate that in ratifying the said treaty the Senate does so with the distinct and explicit understanding that there are no secret files, documents, letters, understandings or agreements which in any way, directly or indirectly, modify, change, add to or take from any of the stipulations, agreements or statements in said treaty; and that the Senate ratifies said treaty with the distinct and explicit understanding there is no agreement, secret or otherwise, expressed or implied, between any of the parties to said treaty as to any construction that shall hereafter be given to any statement or provision contained therein."

While Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, one of the delegates to London, indicated his disapproval of the Norris resolution, Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee and other treaty proponents withheld judgment pending a study.

HOOVER'S MESSAGE

The text of President Hoover's message to the Senate follows:

"To the Senate:

"I have received Senate Resolution No. 329, asking me, if not incompatible with the public interest,
